A turbulent story of school humorously and tactfully told

Frauke Nahrgang Mia's First Day of School

cbj, hardcover
128 pages
Format 15,5 x 21,0 cm, 4c
May 2014

Frauke Nahrgang, an elementary school teacher by profession, began writing because of her children. When they were small, she gladly read to them and finally came to invent stories for them. Her children are now grown, and she has become a successful author of many children's books. Frauke Nahrgang is also a dedicated and knowledgeable soccer fan. Attending home and away games of her favourite team has been a standard weekend activity of hers for many years.

Mia is looking forward to school, but nothing has been going her way ever since her best friend moved away: she spills chocolate milk on her dress, forgets her bookbag and has a tummy ache – that's how the big day starts. But Mia hardly has any time to be annoyed because her new classmate, Ben, anxiously clutches her hand without letting go. Clearly – Mia can't let him down. After all, she is now one of the big kids. Furthermore attending school together is more fun anyway.

Frauke Nahrgang through first hand experience tells the story of a turbulent first day at school. An excellent preparation for school – for children and their parents. With delightfully coloured illustrations.

- Mia – a girl with a big heart. Makes kids look forward to school
- Humorously and tactfully told
- With an alphabet chart for learning to read and write
- Ideal present for children starting school
- Target group: 6+

A thoughtful story about the excitement of starting school

Gaby Scholz
The Treasure Map in the Schultüte

cbj, hardcover
128 pages
Format 14,0 x 18,7 cm, 4c
May 2014

Most of all, Gaby Scholz likes sitting on her patio, looking out at the water and making up stories that are published by several publishing houses. These children's books are always a little cheeky, sometimes reflective, but invariably humorous.

The big day is finally here – Moritz and Kathi are starting first grade! And for their introductory day a secret message for the incoming students was revealed: on the first day of school, the first graders would be going on a scavenger hunt! Nobody knows what it is all about, and Kathi and Moritz are so excited that they can hardly wait. Finally the big day has arrived and the children receive a treasure map as a present! It shows a blueprint of the school and the first clue to the unknown treasure. What could it possibly reveal?

- With cheerful illustrations by Iris Hardt
- A warm-hearted story about starting school, perfect for story time and with an exciting scavenger hunt!
- Target group: 6+

Svenja and her unusual chaotic family

Bettina Obrecht Twin Desperately Needed

cbj, hardcover
196 pages
Format 15,5 x 21,0 cm, 1c
February 2014

Bettina Obrecht, born in 1964, studied English and Spanish. She works as an author, translator and broadcasting editor and has received several awards for her short stories and poems. She has been writing books for children and young adults since 1994.

Svenja's family is a little unusual, because all of her six brothers and sisters are twins – Fabian and Finn (12), Jule and Jana (6) and Robin and Rasmus (1). Svenja seems to be the loner? The more she thinks about it the more convinced she is that she must have a twin sister too. But for some mysterious reason, she doesn't live in the family. It's pretty obvious that Svenja's best friend, Alisia, does all she can to help her solve this "dark secret". And in the process, the two of them get caught up in all sorts of turmoil...

- Amusing and turbulent but profound family story
- Fast-paced with surprising turns
- Characters that psychologically ring true
- Well known author

Guzzle-guts Oscar has been asked by his father to go to the Wild West to get hold of some buffalo meat. Coconut and Matilda go with him, of course! After all, they have always wanted to meet some real Indians! Right on the very first day, the three friends stumble across a huge buffalo that suddenly rushes about and tramples everything that gets under its hoofs. Luckily, however, Indian girl "Wild Hornet" is nearby and rescues the three of them in the nick of time. But that is not the only adventure the friends have to go through.

The Little Dragon Coconut, Matilda and Oscar are devastated: the end of the world has been forecast for the end of next week! It's pretty obvious that the three friends can't just hang around waiting for it to happen without doing anything. They want to find out what the prophecy is all about. Oraclekins, the expert on the future of Dragon Island, thinks the answer could be found in the forbidden temple of the Skyscraper Mountains. The friends set off on a dangerous journey...

Ute Krause
Minus Three Wants a Pet
Volume 1

cbj
80 pages
Format 17,0 x 24,0 cm, 4C
February 2014

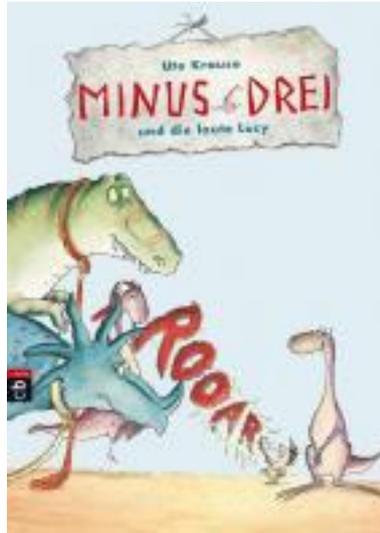

Ute Krause was born in 1960 and grew up in Turkey, Nigeria, India and the USA. She studied visual communication at the College of Art in Berlin and film and television play in Munich. She is successful as a writer, illustrator, screenplay writer and director. Her picture and children's books have been translated into several languages and adapted for television. Ute Krause has been awarded prizes by, for example, the Book Art Foundation and nominated for the German Children's Literature Award.

Dinosaur Minus would so love to have a pet. He'd even be happy with a prehistoric fish! However his parents don't believe he is responsible enough to take care of a pet. "I'll prove it to you both!" yells Minus and has a plan of action: He makes a poster advertising pet care. Very soon there are customers lining up at the door. T. Rex has to be bathed; triceratops "Topsy" has to be taken for a walk; and stegosaurus needs his claws trimmed. After the boisterous pets have all left again and he has tidied up the havoc left behind, worn out Minus collapses into bed. For the time being he's had his fill concerning pets! But then his parents appear with a surprise for him...

- Amusing story with a couple of absolutely adorable heroes
- For all children wishing for a pet... and for all parents wanting to discuss the matter with their children
- For reading aloud and for reading on your own

Format 17,0 x 24,0 cm
February 2014
Illustrated in colour

Dinosaur Minus finds his pet, prehistoric girl Lucy, super – especially as she can imitate noises so true to life. Unfortunately, however, Minus's parents don't like it one little bit when Lucy spends hours screeching like an archaeopteryx or howling like a hurricane. "That has to stop! Otherwise Lucy can't stay!" his parents say. In desperation Minus takes Lucy to a pet school. Here she learns to "sit" and "lie", but still here she makes an incredible amount of noise, driving everyone else insane. Will Minus be able to keep his Lucy?

I'm Nele* – The bestselling series now for kindergarten children

With a poster showing the seasons

Usch Luhn With Nele Through the Seasons

cbj, hardcover
12 pages
Format 23,0 cm x 27,0 cm, 4C
April 2014

Usch Luhn is a communications scientist, teaches at a film school and writes her own scripts as well as books for children and teenagers.

The series:

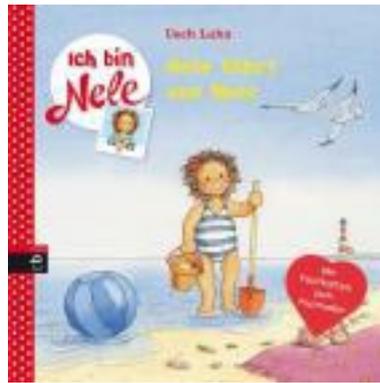

Nele is three years old. She is going to start kindergarten soon. She is discovering the world around her with lots of curiosity. There are plenty of things she's doing for the first time. Some of the things are fun, like going to the zoo; and others, like her first visit to the dentist, are alarming.

What Nele particularly likes doing with Daddy is building a snowman and most of all she likes going to the swimming pool with Mummy. But why can you never do these things at the same time? In this non-fiction book for kids, very young kindergarten children can find out with Nele how nature changes in the course of the year. Which plants flower in spring? How does a thunder storm in summer come about? Why do squirrels collect so many nuts in autumn? And which animals have made which tracks in the snow? Short texts, clear pictures and neat fold outs vividly illustrate how the seasons change from spring to summer to autumn to winter.

- Important aspects of a child's day
- Authentically discovering the world
- Age-appropriate information
- Stimulation to join in together to tell what has been happening and explain what's going on
- Nele – a powerful role model
- With warm-hearted illustrations by Carola Sturm
- Over 200,000 copies sold of the Nele series for children aged 8+

June 2014

Usch Luhn is a communications scientist, teaches at a film school and writes her own scripts as well as books for children and teenagers.

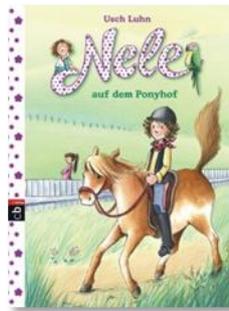

Nele is running with howls of joy through Cuckoo Stone Castle – a whole week camping with Lukas and Tanne. How great is that? The camp lies by a beautiful lake, and Nele even finds the motto, "Witches and Magicians", ideal. Hopefully she is even able to learn a few magic tricks. But the very first night in the tent turns out to be right out creepy. The children keep hearing strange groaning noises coming from the small wooded area. What on earth could that be about? Nele and her friends obviously must get to the bottom of this mystery.

Devil's Kickers Junior* – The best-selling series now for early readers aged 6+

The series:

Devil's Kickers – how everything got started. Finally available for young soccer fans age 6 and up. Here you find out which adventures the up and coming pros experienced while they were still in class 2a of the Devil's elementary school.

The best soccer club in the world? Blue-Yellow, of course. Niko, Alex, Mehmet and Catrina are convinced of it. And they ought to know, for that is the team they play for. And to make sure that everyone knows what a great club it is, they have called themselves the Blue-Yellow Devil's Kickers. That doesn't only sound pretty cool but also intimidates their opponents.

Frauke Nahrgang, an elementary school teacher by profession, began writing because of her children. Her children are now grown, and she has become a successful author of many children's books. Frauke Nahrgang is also a dedicated and knowledgeable soccer fan. Attending home and away games of her favourite team has been a standard weekend activity of hers for many years.

 80 pages
 Format 15,5 x 21,0 cm, 4C
 March 2014

Rüdiger Bertram was born in 1967 and after studying history, economics and German first worked freelance as a journalist. He now writes screenplays and has published several bestselling books for children.

Mika and Edda can hardly believe their eyes when, while on a journey to the Middle Ages, Squire Rick suddenly lands at their feet. Rick is not only in a rusty coat of armour, but also in a bit of a fix – after all, he has challenged the king's son, Hartmut to a tournament. It's a matter of honour for Mika and Edda to help their new friend out of this mess. But how can a little viking win against a king's son? Then Mika has an idea. Hopefully he can rely on Hardy and his magic tricks.

 Format 15,5 x 21,0 cm, 4c
 March 2014

Frauke Nahrgang, an elementary school teacher by profession, began writing because of her children. She has become a successful author of many children's books.

Knight Tobi is in trouble. And who is to blame? Hoppla, of course, the little dragon. He just cannot sit still, and so Tobi has to go instead of Knight Mops to fight a dragon – a really dangerous fire dragon. Before Tobi and Hoppla know what is happening, they are standing face to face with the horrible giant. But he turns out to be quite different to what they had expected and lets them into a secret...

Princess Fiorella and the Magic Crystal
Volume 1

cbj, hardcover
48 pages
Format 15,5 x 21,0 cm, 4C
March 2014

Princess Fiorella finds it so terribly boring to be a princess and having to go to receptions with her royal parents, to be careful of her clothes and to be on her best behaviour – how dreary! She would love to go to a proper school with normal children. When she tells her frog of her biggest wish, her magic crystal ball begins to glow and immediately frog and princess land on the school playground in a small town...

Most of all, Gaby Scholz likes sitting on her patio, looking out at the water and making up stories that are published by several publishing houses. These children's books are always a little cheeky, sometimes reflective, but invariably humorous.

Princess Fiorella wanted so much to go to school with normal children, but she doesn't have a clue how to behave in a normal classroom. The funny thing is that the children think her dress is a carnival costume and don't even feel honoured when Fiorella just grabs anything that tickles her fancy. Will the two children Henri and Lisa be able to teach the confused princess what "normal life" is?

Format 15,5 x 21,0 cm, 4C
March 2014

The only world Monya has ever known is the witch's wood. And so she is really very excited when she has to go and live alone in the empty house of her uncle, a notorious sorcerer, and deal with some mysterious tasks for him. The house is in the human world. And so Monya is really glad when she makes friends with some children called Marie and Leon. They, in turn, are fascinated by Monya Moonstone, who can create up the most remarkable things from empty cardboard packing cases and owns the weirdest of pets...

After leaving school, Ingrid Uebe worked as a cultural affairs editor for a newspaper, as a press officer and as a freelance journalist. 1977 saw the publication of her first children's book. She now freelances as an author and has written many best-selling children's books that have been translated into several languages and received various awards.

 128 pages
 Format 13,5 x 19,0 cm, 1C
 June 2014

The Series:

“Open only if you can fight” This is what the label on the mysterious box given to Connor by his missing Uncle Leslie says. He bravely lifts up the lid and suddenly finds himself right in the middle of the land of Dino Riders.

In the land of the Dino Riders Connor immediately finds himself facing a fully grown T-Rex! But something else is even stranger: there is a boy sitting on the back of the T-Rex! He is being pursued by wild warriors riding on gigantic Allosaurus dinos. Can Connor help the boy, Fox, to escape his hunters?

Leslie Hunter was born in a little town in north-west England and even as a child was an enthusiastic adventurer. The idea of the Dino Riders came to him when his little son climbed up onto a stegosaurus figure and tried to aim it at a T-Rex.

March 2014

Patricia Schröder was born in the Weserland region of northern Germany in 1960 but grew up in Düsseldorf. She studied textile design and then went on to spend several years working in this field. When her children were born she moved back up to the very north of Germany and, with her family and a handful of animals, settled on a small artificial dwelling hill where she started to think up stories. Patricia Schröder is particularly committed to the promotion of reading skills among children, and to this end she developed the "Let's read together" series, which is aimed at helping children to discover the fun of books and stories by reading.

Eleven-year-old Lilly has a big heart and is bursting with crazy ideas. She has got a box in which she keeps little pieces of paper containing all sorts of amusing sayings. Whenever she doesn't know what to do next, she gives the box a good shake and pulls out one of the papers. To begin with the saying never seems to match her problem, but in some wonderful way it always helps Lilly find a unique and brilliant solution. For example, when her best friend Blümchen and herself are being teased by the troublesome neighbourhood boys. But when Yassi is new in the class, the fun turns serious. Yassi gets made fun of by everyone and there is somebody playing nasty jokes on her, so Lilly takes her under her wing. To begin with, Blümchen doesn't like this one little bit. What's the chance that Lilly's box of wonderful sayings saves the day?

Brigitte Melzer was born in 1971. Her magnificent debut novel, Whisper – Queen of Thieves, was one of the three best manuscripts submitted for the 2003 Wolfgang Hohlbein Prize. Since then she has delighted her readers with numerous highly successful novels.

Riley is working at the "Witches' Cauldron", a magic shop. The back room is used by shop-owner Madame Veritas for séances. Riley believes that's all nonsense. At least she does until she agrees to take part in one of Madame's rituals and is visited by a genuine ghost. Still suffering from shock, she eavesdrops on a telephone conversation and realises that Madame is keeping something from her – and from him. The attractive but arrogant fellow takes part in one of the séances as part of the search for his brother. Nick may have behaved improperly, but Riley nevertheless agrees to help him. She suspects that there is a connection between the disappearance of Nick's brother and Madame's secret...

Welcome to Hollyhill, the village that travels through time

Alexandra Pilz
In Love With Hollyhill
Novel

Heyne, hardcover
350 pages
Format 13,5 x 21,5 cm
March 2014

Journalist Alexandra Pilz loves England, has a weak spot for complicated love stories, lives with her husband and cat in Munich and dreams of owning a cottage in Cornwall. In Love with Hollyhill is her second novel.

Emily's roots are in Hollyhill. All she really wants to do is get to the bottom of the secret of her ancestry, and she suddenly finds herself back in the year 1811. Emily hardly has time to get used to her weird clothes and Jane Austen hairstyle before an adventure awaits. She is to help a mysterious young lady whose fortunes somehow seem to be intertwined with Emily's. Always at Emily's side is Matt, who Emily has fallen in love with. But then he starts making himself unavailable... Will Matt and Emily find a way to be together forever?

- An absolutely magnificent heroine, a village that is delightfully nuts and a pinch of Jane Austen flair – Hollyhill gets you hooked
- The absolute favourite of both press and public
- Alexandra Pilz is the greatest discovery on the German young-adult book market since Kerstin Gier and Cornelia Funke

Christian Bieniek (1956-2005) was one of the most successful and popular writers of children's and young-adult books in Germany. He wrote audio plays, TV sketches and radio series. 1993 saw the publication of Always Stay Cool, his first book for young people. After that he published more than ninety books for children and teenagers, which have been translated into several languages.

The ravishingly beautiful Tabea Sunshine lives with her parents in a luxurious villa, goes on wonderful holidays and falls in love with an incredibly cute guy called David... Or is that not the case? Perhaps Tabea's real name is Gabriele, and she has to spend the holidays with her parents in some tiny place out on the North Sea. Has a boyfriend at home but still flirts with that smart Sven. And realises that every day it gets more and more difficult to keep up with all the lies. Who knows?

- A refreshing, crazy story about the search for love and one's self
- Typical Christian Bieniek: easy-going and amusing narrative tone
- Perfect for the summer holidays or hammock

Revealing the lives of young adults during World War I

Jürgen Seidel The War and the Girl

cbj, hardcover
480 pages
Format 13,5 x 21,5 cm
February 2014

Jürgen Seidel was born in Berlin in 1948. He studied German and English language and literature and did a PhD. Jürgen Seidel has published short stories, audio plays and contributed to radio and literary journals, and he has also written numerous prize-winning novels for young adults. He is regarded as one of the most versatile, interesting and literary authors writing for children and teenagers.

August 1914. The Great War, the war everyone felt was coming, has really begun. The young couple Fritz and Mila are, like so many others, caught up in a frenzy of enthusiasm for war and the atmosphere of hostility. In addition emotions between the two of them are arising: Fritz hopes that the war will cleanse him of all his sinful feelings that he can't even trust Mila with, and therefore volunteers to be in the war's frontlines. And Mila suddenly finds herself facing animosity because her father was French and France is now supposed to be the archenemy. When a teacher known as a French hater dies, Mila is arrested. Treason is the charge...

- Psychologically dense and multi-layered: Jürgen Seidel has excellently captured this explosive atmosphere

Alexa Hennig von Lange Oh How Good That No One Knows

cbl, hardcover
400 pages
Format 13,5 x 21,5 cm
April 2014

Alexa Hennig von Lange was born in 1973 and began writing when she was only eight years old. Her debut novel Relax was published in 1997, and overnight it made her into one of today's most successful writers and the voice of her generation. For I'm Just Lucky, her first novel about her young protagonist Lelle, she was awarded the German Youth Literature Prize in 2002. This was followed by many novels for both adults and children, as well as short stories and plays.

www.alexahennigvonlange.de

Trouble-free and smooth – that is how the life of Mella, a judge's daughter, is to be. But then Mella's whole life changes in one single evening: when she and her friends are attacked by the boys from a gang of thieves, it is one of the bunch who rescues Mella. Joseph, as the boy is called, is determined to see Mella again and even breaks into her parents' villa just to talk to her. In spite of everything that stands between them, they fall head over heels in love. But nobody must know of their secret meetings – neither Mella's father nor Joseph's gang. Thus begins the game with fire, and it is a game in which nothing is as it seems any longer...

A book about violence, humanity and the endless power of remembering

Friedrich Ani The Underground Sun

cbl, hardcover
336 pages
Format 13,5 x 21,5 cm
February 2014

Friedrich Ani was born in 1959 and used to work as a reporter before turning entirely to writing. He authors books for both adults and children and teenagers – poems, audio plays, screenplays and short stories. His books have been translated into several languages and have received several awards, including the German Crime Prize, the Adolf Grimme Prize and the Bavarian Television Prize.

An island. A house. A basement. Five teenagers who are being kept there by force. No daylight. And each day, one of them is taken upstairs. But nobody speaks about what is happening there. For anyone who does, they are told, will die. Their position seems hopeless. Fear, anger, pain, desperation and longing almost make the young people go insane. Yet nothing can save them from the terrible things that are going on. Until a new boy joins them who is not prepared to accept the violence.

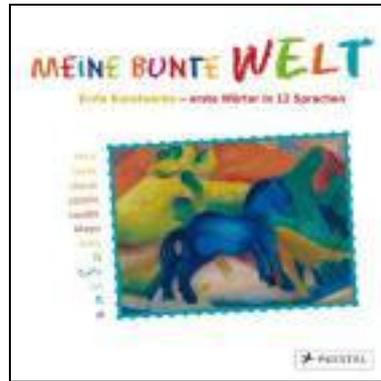

- A disturbing psychodrama written with masterly skill by bestselling author Friedrich Ani
- Ruthless and provocative
- Award-winning author: German Crime Prize, Grimme Prize, nominated for the Golden Camera
- For all readers of Jane Teller's Nothing
- Target group: 16+

Press

"Unique in the German-speaking part of the world. Anyone reading his stories will learn to think differently." Hamburger Abendblatt

"Friedrich Ani pulls the ground from beneath the feet of his characters and makes them painfully aware of their own powerlessness. He writes of them in a language which in its seductive mixture of poetry and sobriety is probably without equal in our country." Literarische Welt

Art is spoken all over the world

Doris Kutschbach
My Colourful World

First works of art – first words
 in 12 languages

Prestel Junior, hardcover
 160 pages
 80Format 22 x 22 cm, 4c
 March 2014

Doris Kutschbach, art historian, editor, and mother of two children, is the author of numerous art books for children and adults alike. Her previous books with Prestel include The Blue Rider: The Yellow Cow Sees the World in Blue, The Art Treasure Hunt, and Living Monet: The Artist's Gardens.

What is that? Looking at pictures together with young children and naming the objects seen can lead to a child's first spoken words. In this book, a proven educational concept has been taken up and extended in a unique way. Each of the pictures are from a famous work of art and a pleasure to look at. In addition, each word is named in 12 languages. Not only multilingual families and day-care centres gain from this idea; monolingual children also find it fun to hear the sound of the words in different languages. Phonetic transcriptions make it easier to read the words aloud to the children.

With words in German, English, French, Spanish, Italian, Turkish, Greek, Russian, Japanese, Arabic, Chinese, Hebrew.

- Art and language combined to make a unique book
- 80 works of art, 80 words from the day-to-day life of children, 12 languages
- Lovingly made, with a padded cover and other extras

Make your own mobile inspired by Emil Nolde

Prestel Junior, hardcover
16 pages
Format 24,0 x 28,0 cm, 4c
March 2014

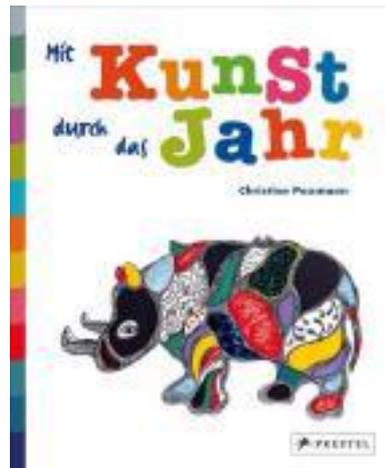

Felicitas Horstschäfer works as an illustrator and graphic designer for several publishing houses and companies.

As a form of sculpture, few objects rival mobiles for their versatility and enjoyment. Whether dangled over a child's crib or artfully hung in a living room, mobiles are one of the most popular forms of home decoration. But they are also an ideal example of equilibrium and kinetic movement that can mesmerize and inspire. Aimed at children six years and older, this unique book provides the basic materials for making a beautiful and colorful mobile that celebrates flowers' endless varieties and hues.

Paper artist Felicitas Horstschäfer has based her patterns on the art of expressionist artist Emil Nolde, considered to be one of the great watercolourists of the 20th century.

- Provides basic materials for making a beautiful and colourful mobile
- Children can create a unique mobile of their very own

A wealth of knowledge and inspiration for the whole family

Christine Paxmann With Art Throughout the Year

Prestel Junior, hardcover
192 pages
Format 21 x 25 cm, 4C
April 2010

The life of author Christine Paxmann, born in 1961, revolves around books: she writes, illustrates, and conceptualizes anything that piques her interest and might fit between two covers, and has done so for over twenty-five years. Children, cooking, and art – and books for and about them – are her main passions. She has augmented these with the occasional novel and gift book as well as many reviews. But the menu is only completed by her son and four-legged friend, with whom she commutes between Munich and the foothills of the Alps.

In lively and well-portioned units With Art Throughout the Year presents knowledge about art, its creators, and artistic techniques to children and adults alike.

The book's recurring motifs and its organization into each of the twelve months give readers the encouraging feeling of being accompanied throughout the year. As a companion through the seasons, With Art Throughout the Year will prove to be a source of both information and inspiration as well as a nicely structured calendar; it will soon become a frequently used favorite, in which there is always something new to discover.

- Knowledge about art, its creators, and artistic techniques
