UPCOMING NARRATIVE NONFICTION

HAND DRAWN JOKES FOR SMART ATTRACTIVE PEOPLE

By Matthew Diffiee

US Publisher: Scribner (NA rights)
To publish: May 2015

Material available: Final MS available

From award-winning New Yorker cartoonist Matthew Diffiee comes a hilarious mix of cartoons, visual riffs, and illustrated one-liners that will appeal to anyone who is beautiful and intelligent!

For almost fifteen years, Matthew Diffiee's uniquely funny single-panel cartoons have been featured the pages of The New Yorker, winning him countless fans, big-time friends, and a pile of hilarious material he's never used. Yet shockingly, a small sector of the population is not familiar (and enamored) with his work. Diffiee has met some of these people and reports that they are, without exception, dumb and ugly, whereas the people who enjoy his work are just the opposite. In fact, the smarter and more attractive people are, the more they tend to appreciate Diffiee's humor. This book is for them.

This collection contains Diffiee's funniest drawings and writings from the past decade as well as all-new cartoons and sketches organized into categories that will appeal to smart, attractive people in all walks of life, based on profession and circumstance. For instance, there are smart, attractive Medical Professionals, sharp and good-looking Old People; beautiful geniuses in Prison; brainy handsome Lumberjacks; and more. Are you an alluring well-read utensil user? Well, there's a chapter just for you!

Matthew Diffiee has been contributing cartoons to The New Yorker since 1999, and he edited the bestselling volumes of The Rejection Collection: Cartoons You Never Saw, and Never Will See, in The New Yorker. Diffiee was honored by the National Cartoonists Society with the Reuben Award for Best Gag Cartoonist of the Year in 2014. Originally from Texas, Diffiee now lives in Los Angeles.

Praise for HAND DRAWN JOKES FOR SMART ATTRACTIVE PEOPLE:

"One of the great pleasures of being alive today is that we are able to witness the genius of Matt Diffiee. What do I mean by that? Buy this book and see for yourself." – Andy Borowitz

"Though I prefer mechanically made, computer generated cartoons, this collection of hand-drawn ones, produced by human thought, is outstanding. Matt is truly one of the funniest people in the rarified world of first-rate cartooning." – Steve Martin

THE RICHEST MAN WHO EVER LIVED

The Life and Times of Jacob Fugger

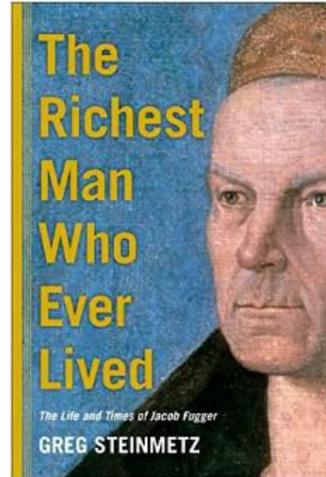

By Greg Steinmetz

US publisher: Simon & Schuster (North American rights)

To publish: August 2015

Material available: Full MS available

Rights sold: Brazil (Intrinseca), Bulgaria (Krogozor), China (Beijing Mediatime), Italy (Baldini & Castoldi), Russia (AST), and Turkey (Moda Ofset)

The life and times of the wealthiest man who ever lived—Jacob Fugger—the Renaissance banker who revolutionized the art of making money and established the radical idea of pursuing wealth for its own sake.

Jacob Fugger lived in Germany at the turn of the sixteenth century, the grandson of a peasant. By the time he died, his fortune amounted to nearly two percent of European GDP. Not even John D. Rockefeller had that kind of wealth.

Most people become rich by spotting opportunities, pioneering new technologies, or besting opponents in negotiations. Fugger did all that, but he had an extra quality that allowed him to rise even higher: nerve. In an era when kings had unlimited power, Fugger had the nerve to stare down heads of state and ask them to pay back their loans—with interest. It was this coolness and self-assurance, along with his inexhaustible ambition, that made him not only the richest man ever, but a force of history as well. Before Fugger came along it was illegal under church law to charge interest on loans, but he got the Pope to change that. He also helped trigger the Reformation and likely funded Magellan's circumnavigation of the globe. His creation of a news service, which gave him an information edge over his rivals and customers, earned Fugger a footnote in the history of journalism. And he took Austria's Habsburg family from being second-tier sovereigns to rulers of the first empire where the sun never set.

The ultimate untold story, THE RICHEST MAN WHO EVER LIVED is more than a tale about the richest and most influential businessman of all time. It is a story about palace intrigue, knights in battle, family tragedy and triumph, and a violent clash between the 1 percent and everybody else. To understand our financial system and how we got it, it pays to understand Jacob Fugger.

Greg Steinmetz currently works as a securities analyst for a money management firm in New York. He previously spent 15 years working as a reporter and editor for publications including the Wall Street Journal, where he served as German bureau chief and, later, London bureau chief.

Praise for THE RICHEST MAN WHO EVER LIVED:

"A must for anyone interested in history or wealth creation."

– Bryan Burrough, author of Days of Rage

"Greg Steinmetz has unearthed the improbable yet true story of the world's first modern capitalist...Fugger] emerges from this solidly researched and briskly narrated biography as surprisingly recognizable—a moneymaker from a distant time that, one suspects, would be thoroughly at home with the Midases of today."
– Roger Lowenstein, author of When Genius Failed

"Jacob Fugger was the Rockefeller of the Renaissance...Steinmetz's fast-moving tale—of money-making, religious tumult, political chicanery, and violent clashes between the disciples of capitalism and communism—is one for all time, but especially for our time." – James Grant, author of The Forgotten Depression

"[R]ead Greg Steinmetz's captivating, clear-eyed account. You'll be richer for it."

– Laurence Bergreen, author of Columbus: The Four

IT ENDED BADLY

Thirteen of the Worst Break-Ups in History

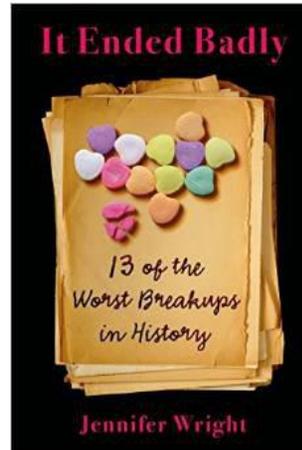

By Jennifer Wright

US Publisher: Henry Holt (World English rights)

To publish: November 2015

Material available: Full MS available

A humorous, well-researched pop-culture history of the disastrous love lives of historical figures, from Lord Byron to Elizabeth Taylor.

In IT ENDED BADLY, New York Observer columnist Jennifer Wright guides you through thirteen of the worst breakups of notable figures in history—from Emperor Nero (sadist and murderer several times over), to Viennese artist Oskar Kokoschka (owner of a sex doll), to Norman Mailer (accused of public stabbing). With her conversational tone and considerable wit, Wright digs deep into the archives to bring these terrible breakups to life. IT ENDED BADLY is fun pop-culture history that educates, entertains, and really puts your own bad breakup behavior into perspective. Above all, it's for anyone who's loved and lost and maybe sent one too many ill-considered, late-night emails to their ex—reminding us that no matter how badly we've behaved, no one is as bad as Henry VIII.

Jennifer Wright is a columnist for the New York Observer and the New York Post, covering sex and dating. She was one of the founding editors of TheGloss.com, and her writing regularly appears in such publications as Cosmopolitan, Glamour, and Maxim.

MAKING MONTE CARLO

A History of Spectacle & Speculation

By Mark Braude

US publisher: Simon & Schuster (World English Rights)

To publish: Spring 2016

Material available: Full MS available

The unique, remarkable history of one of the world's most storied playgrounds of the rich and famous.

The history of the city of Monte Carlo is in a class of its own. As MAKING MONTE CARLO memorably narrates, it rose from the ashes of World War I to become one of the world's first international resorts to cater to both the rich and down-on-their-luck, only to dramatically crash under its own weight in 1929. Populated with an international cast of raucous, colorful characters – from shady Greek arms dealers to Monegasque princes; from Elsa Maxwell and Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald to wealthy French bankers—the larger-than-life personalities in MAKING MONTE CARLO guide us through an entertaining look of the dizzying rise (and fall) of a city. More than that, they act as a lens through which we can examine ideas such as the modern conception of “the good life”; the birth of publicity and “branding” vis a vis travel and resorts; the selling of “luxury” to the middle class; a case study of social engineering involving wealth, class, business, and entertainment.

Mark Braude is a historian of modern Europe and currently a postdoctoral fellow and lecturer at Stanford University. MAKING MONTE CARLO is his first book.

DREAM CITIES

Seven Urban Ideas that Shape the World

By Wade Graham

US publisher: HarperCollins (North American rights)

To publish: Spring 2016

Material available: Full MS available

DREAM CITIES explores our cities in a fresh way—as expressions of ideas, along with telling the stories of the visionary architects whose creations embodied those ideas.

In DREAM CITIES, Wade Graham explores how our cities, far from being “natural” products of market forces, government policy, or changing aesthetic fashions, are instead best understood as shifting, unsettled battlegrounds of innovative, controversial, and often competing ideas. Wade effectively uses each chapter to focus on the life/work of a specific visionary, from Paolo Soleri to Frank Lloyd Wright to Le Corbusier.

DREAM CITIES is concerned with the new architectures of the modern world, as envisioned by their most influential dreamers. Tall towers and fast motorways intend to make us feel and act modern and efficient; monumental museum districts, parks, avenues, and plazas to make us feel orderly and civic; historically-themed suburbs carefully separated from the rest of the city to make us forget our present reality by transporting us to other time-realms; shopping malls to make us want to buy, and in doing so to make us happier; sprawling suburbia to make us feel independent and free of the city and its crowding; “eco-friendly” developments to make us feel in enlightened balance with nature.

Wade Graham is a PhD historian and practicing landscape architect based in Los Angeles. He is the previous author of American Eden.

THE SECRET LIFE OF THE BROADWAY MUSICAL How Broadway Shows Are Built

By Jack Viertel

US Publisher: Farrar, Straus, & Giroux (North American rights)

To Publish: Winter 2016

Material available: Proposal available
Full MS available in Summer 2015

THE SECRET LIFE OF THE BROADWAY MUSICAL takes you behind the curtain into the blueprint of musical theater!

In THE SECRET LIFE OF THE BROADWAY MUSICAL, veteran Broadway artistic director Jack Viertel introduces the concept of “song plots,” the number-by-number architecture that holds successful musicals together. Narrating both his personal experience and professional knowledge, Jack swings through American musical theater history, pulling apart shows we know and love, identifying their building blocks, and helping us understand what it takes to get an audience up on its feet at curtain call.

Theater enthusiasts will enjoy Jack’s inside scoop, but so will readers interested in cultural histories or books about the creative process. The book will also appeal to a new wave of musical-TV lovers.

Jack Viertel is the Senior Vice President and Creative Director of Jujamcyn Theaters, and Artistic Director of Encores!, Viertel has worked on such acclaimed Broadway shows as Jersey Boys, Fela!, and The Book Of Mormon. He also teaches at NYU’s Tisch School of the Arts.

THE UNSEEN CITY

By Nathanael Johnson

US Publisher: Rodale (North American rights)

To publish: June 2016

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in Summer 2015

A guidebook for city dwellers to the natural world that is hidden in plain sight all around us.

Resident food writer at Grist, Michael Pollan protégé, and author of All Natural, Nate Johnson explores urban wildlife in his second book. A guidebook for city dwellers to the natural world that is hidden in plain sight around us, THE UNSEEN CITY will cover everything from pigeons (and why there are so many of them with only one leg!) to weeds to insects, all in Nate's signature frank and playful voice, encouraging ourselves to "resensitize" to nature, in all its forms and presences.

Nathanael Johnson is a journalist who lives in San Francisco. He is the previous author of All Natural, also works as the food writer for Grist, and teaches at the University of California, Berkeley, Graduate School of Journalism.

EYE OF THE SIXTIES

The Life and Times of Richard Hu Bellamy

By Judith Stein

US Publisher: Farrar, Straus & Giroux (World English Rights)

To publish: Summer 2016

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in Summer 2015

The first-ever biography of one of the most influential and mysterious art dealers in the history of modern art, Richard Hu Bellamy.

Born to an American father and Chinese mother in the early 20th century, Richard Hu Bellamy became a legend in the art world in the 1960s. He was the first advocate of Pop Art, Minimalism, and Conceptual Art, and wherever Bellamy went, the art world followed—leading to his nickname, the "Eye of the Sixties."

Bellamy, however, was much more than an art dealer, and his story transcends the often closed-circuitry of the art world. Though a life-long prankster and wit, Bellamy's personal life was often consumed by chaos; he struggled with drugs, alcohol, and financial insolvency, and he carried out a number of intense love affairs with women in his circle. His passion for the avant-garde, as EYE OF THE SIXTIES shows, never diminished.

Judith E. Stein is a writer and independent curator who specializes in postwar art. For the past four decades her writings have appeared in Art in America, The New York Times Book Review, and numerous museum publications

HOW TO SEE

Collected Essays

By David Salle

US publisher: W.W. Norton (North American rights)

To publish: Summer 2016

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in Summer 2015

HOW TO SEE is famed artist David Salle's a highly personal record of the last 35 years of contemporary art and the people who made it.

A collection of essays about artists, art, and the contemporary art world in general, written by the acclaimed painter David Salle over the last twenty years. Written with insight, accessibility, humor, and grace about art and its role in the culture, and artists in general, the book will include 50+ photographs and illustrations, both black & white and color.

The book includes Salle's thoughts on art by many of his peers, along with reflections on dance, film, art criticism, literature, the politics of the art world, and the art market. Drawn from his writings of the last 37 years, the book has historical breadth – Salle's subject matter stretches from Piero to Andre Derain to Rosemary Trockel—How To See introduces a writer who has devoted more than three decades to honing a distinctive voice that's at turns surprisingly candid, funny, tender, and remarkably beautiful.

David Salle is an American painter, printmaker, and stage designer who helped define postmodern sensibility.

BEST LAID PLANS

The Perils of Political Image in the Age of Optics

By Josh King

US publisher: Palgrave/Macmillan (North American rights)

To publish: Summer 2016

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in Fall 2015

In politics the term “advance” is used to describe the meticulous orchestration of TV-and photo-ready moments involving public figures, especially presidents and presidential hopefuls on the campaign trail. Successfully executed, advance work can reverse a plummeting approval rating or redirect the monologues of the late-night hosts. Gone awry, however, bad stagecraft can shatter one's chances at office, or fuel a negative media firestorm so unstoppable that soon the candidate's name is synonymous with his gaffe. BEST LAID PLANS is entertaining and illuminating romp through ten of the most catastrophic examples of political theater of the last quarter century by PR executive, former consultant for Bill Clinton and Barack Obama, and host of the popular SiriusXM radio show PoliOptics, Josh King.

A former director of production for presidential events during the Clinton Administration, Josh King was formerly the host of the Sirius/XM radio show PoliOptics. He's contributed to The Washington Post, Men's Vogue, Brill's Content, and Politico and has appeared on the BBC, CNN, NPR, and elsewhere.

THE PROPHETS OF OAK RIDGE

Gods, Bombs, and a Story of Nuclear Reaction

By Dan Zak

US publisher: Blue Rider / Penguin (World English rights)
To publish: Fall 2016

Material available: Proposal available
Full MS available in Spring 2016

In the summer of 2012 an elderly nun, a housepainter, and a Vietnam veteran successfully (and peacefully) infiltrated the Y-12 National Security Complex in Oak Ridge, Tennessee, which stores enough weapons-grade uranium to power 10,000 nuclear bombs. Their actions not only caused a political and legal upheaval, but shined a spotlight on our tense relationship with nuclear weapons and forced many to ask: Are we safe?

THE PROPHETS OF OAK RIDGE is Washington Post reporter Dan Zak's attempt to answer that question and his quest to discover how the state of the U.S.'s nuclear armaments came to be so fragile and, for the most part, removed from the minds of its citizens. Deconstructing society's attitudes toward nuclear weaponry, he argues, will serve as a wake-up call to a generation who consider climate change our most pressing existential crisis-in-waiting, even though the threat of nuclear destruction is more fast acting and arguably more imminent.

Dan Zak has worked as a Washington Post reporter since 2005. He has covered subjects ranging from the Vanity Fair Oscar party to the Deepwater Horizon oil spill to the military drawdown in Iraq. He's previously written for Entertainment Weekly and for the Buffalo News in his hometown of Buffalo, New York.

BLOOD AND FREEDOM

A Renegade History of America Abroad

By Thaddeus Russell

US publisher: Grove/Atlantic
To publish: Fall 2016

Material available: Proposal available
Full MS available in Fall 2015

BLOOD AND FREEDOM is the thought-provoking follow-up to Thaddeus Russell's acclaimed first book, A Renegade History of the United States.

BLOOD AND FREEDOM reframes the history of American foreign policy and explores the enduring contradiction between "hard" military force and "soft" cultural influences. Russell's second installment of an already cult-classic argues that the "worst" of American culture actually means freedom for the Middle East and peace for the United States, presenting a radical, entirely new history of the modern Muslim world and a solution for Americans who fear Islamic terrorism but want the troops to come home.

Thaddeus Russell is the previous author of A Renegade History of the United States. His work has been published by The Daily Beast, New York Magazine, Los Angeles Times, The Boston Globe, and Salon.

HER AGAIN

Becoming Meryl Streep

By Michael Schulman

US publisher: HarperCollins (North American rights)

To publish: Fall 2016

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in Fall 2015

Meryl Streep is an undisputed god among actors. But who was she before she became the indomitable cultural icon that she is today?

HER AGAIN: Becoming Meryl Streep, written by Michael Schulman, will reconstruct Streep's formative years to trace her journey to her reigning status as "World's Best Living Actress." With curiosity and dedication, Michael begins his investigation with Streep's roots in Summit, New Jersey to Vassar's theater department, then from Yale University's famed MFA program to the legendary Public Theatre; and from a small role in the film Julia to an Oscar-winning performance in Sophie's Choice.

The narrative will capture the personal, professional, and artistic coming of age of the woman unanimously acknowledged to be the greatest actress of our time—a chameleon, a trailblazer, and a global celebrity, with fans spanning four generations. Yet in over thirty-five years of fame she's remained a scrupulously private and down to earth woman, shielding herself and her family from the spotlight while living in the public eye. By telling the story of how Meryl Streep the ingénue became "Meryl Streep: Our Greatest Living Actress," Michael captures—with a fan's respect and a critic's eye—the beating heart of a young girl on the precipice of greatness.

Michael Schulman is a culture and entertainment writer for The New Yorker and The New York Times.

THE MIRACLE FILES

Adventures at the Frontiers of Medicine

By Emily Eakin

US publisher: Penguin Press (North American rights)

To publish: Winter 2017

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in Winter 2016

Emily Eakin's investigative memoir is a balanced exploration of the often-polarized but increasingly intersecting worlds of health, wellness, and medicine.

Combining a personal story of illness and recovery with a rigorous analysis of the fraught relationship between the medical establishment and the world of alternative therapies, Emily Eakin's investigative memoir explores the often polarized but increasingly intersecting worlds of health, wellness, & medicine—traditional to homeopathic, Eastern to Western, and ancient to cutting-edge.

A writer and journalist by trade, Eakin takes a non-partisan, non-proselytizing approach to document how these two spheres of medicine, ostensibly incompatible and often mistrustful of one another, are now enmeshed, to identify the most and least promising results of this unlikely convergence, and to suggest how this development came to pass.

Emily Eakin is a former senior editor at The New Yorker and has worked as an ideas reporter for the New York Times and a fashion features writer at Vogue. She's written for Vanity Fair, The New York Review of Books, and The New Republic, among other publications

A DARK NIGHT IN ALASKA

The Hunt for the Perfect Serial Killer

By Maureen Callahan

US publisher: Viking / Penguin (North American rights)

To publish: Winter 2017

Material available: Proposal available
Full MS available in Winter 2016

A chilling and fascinating true crime story by veteran New York Post reporter Maureen Callahan.

A DARK NIGHT IN ALASKA is the story of Israel Keyes, a young, good-looking former military man and devoted single father who spent over a decade trawling for victims throughout the United States, eventually being arrested in connection with the disappearance of an 18-year-old barista in Anchorage, Alaska. After Keyes' jailhouse suicide, details began to emerge suggesting he had killed at least 11 people, and possibly more who would never be discovered now that Keyes was dead. Up until his most recent killing, Keyes had perfected a strategy ensuring he would never be caught, and once in prison, he was able to manipulate law enforcement, doling out small pieces of information in exchange for jailhouse perks and a continued assurance that nothing about his case, his interrogation, or his incarceration would be made public.

Told through the framework of the cat-and-mouse game that developed between Keyes and the beautiful female detective who would ultimately catch him, A DARK NIGHT IN ALASKA is a scary look at how easily a killer can walk among us.

Maureen Callahan has worked as an editor and writer at the New York Post. She has also written for Sassy, Spin, New York magazine, and Vanity Fair.

THE GLASS OF FASHION

A Lifetime of Lessons in Style

By Hamish Bowles

US publisher: Knopf (North American rights)

To publish: Spring 2017

Material available: Proposal available
Full MS available in Summer 2016

Rights sold: UK (Little, Brown UK)

Mixing encyclopedic knowledge and boundless curiosity, Hamish Bowles brings us into a world where fashion, style, and history collide.

Hamish Bowles began his storied fashion career by creating a makeshift fontange at age four. He then won a British Vogue talent contest at age fourteen, and went on to become the youngest fashion director ever at Harpers & Queen at age twenty-two. Now International Editor at Large at Vogue, THE GLASS OF FASHION is Hamish's collection of the equivalent of four PhDs in fashion, interior design, decorative arts, and architecture.

In THE GLASS OF FASHION, Hamish will take the reader on an international journey narrated through a pastiche of people, places, personal moments, and professional opinion. Wielding his erudite, yet playful writing, Hamish keenly explores the spaces between style, fashion, and culture. Not just for fashion insiders, this is a book aimed for the culturally curious, creatively ambitious, and style obsessed—from a man who has learned from the most significant tastemakers of the last several decades.

Born in England in 1963, Hamish Bowles has been the editor-at-large for Vogue since 1995.

THE TAO OF JACK

Alibaba, China's Digital Revolution, and What It Means for the World

By Clay Chandler

Korea (Sahoi Pyongron)
UK (Transworld)

A gripping investigation of the stratospheric rise of Alibaba, the Chinese e-commerce company led by the high-profile, enigmatic founder, Jack Ma.

Alibaba is China's—and by many accounts, the world's—biggest online commerce company. Its three websites serve hundreds of millions of users and host millions of merchants and businesses. In 2013, sales through those sites totaled $248 billion, more than those of eBay and Amazon combined. Alibaba's widely covered IPO on the NYSE last year catapulted the company into the ranks of the 10 most valuable companies in the world, and suddenly a Chinese company many business savvy Americans hadn't heard of a few years ago was on its way to becoming a household name in the U.S.

At the heart of Alibaba's success story is the enigmatic Jack Ma, who started the company a mere 15 years ago out of his cramped apartment in the city of Hangzhou. Today, Ma is the richest man in China, and he was recently named runner-up for TIME's Person of the Year for 2014. His rags-to-riches trajectory has been examined in various magazine profiles, but in THE TAO OF JACK, Clay Chandler will shed revealing new light on the man hailed around the world as a visionary. Clay has met and interviewed Ma several times, knows many people who are in his inner circle, and speaks fluent Chinese, a requirement to tell this story well.

In probing the remarkable success of Ma and Alibaba, Clay will also explore two of the most powerful forces of the modern age: the rise of China and the advent of the global digital revolution. As Clay puts it, "In writing about Jack and the company he built, I hope to give readers a clearer understanding of how the collision of these two megatrends will transform the world in which they and their children will live."

Fans of Brad Stone's The Everything Store: Jeff Bezos and the Age of Amazon will find their next illuminating and exhaustively reported business narrative in The Tao of Jack. Likewise, those who enjoyed Evan Osnos's Age of Ambition: Chasing Fortune, Truth, and Faith in the New China will appreciate Clay's exploration of modern-day China, its economic landscape, and the competition for its consumers between China and America's most powerful, successful, and dynamic companies and business leaders.

Clay Chandler has worked as Asia Editor for both Fortune magazine and McKinsey's Global Publishing division. He studied Asian history as an undergraduate and graduate student at Harvard under some of the most renowned scholars in the field. He now operates his own consulting business while still working part-time as a journalist.

UPCOMING MEMOIRS

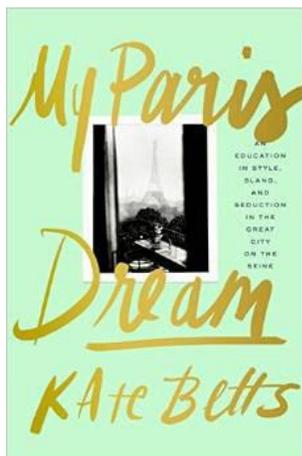

MY PARIS DREAM

An Education in Style, Slang, and Seduction in the Great City on the Seine

By Kate Betts

US publisher: Spiegel & Grau (World English rights)

To publish: May 2015

MY PARIS DREAM* is a charming and insightful memoir about coming of age as a fashion journalist in 1980s Paris, by former Vogue and Harper's Bazaar editor Kate Betts.

As a young woman, Kate Betts nursed a dream of striking out on her own in a faraway place and becoming a glamorous foreign correspondent. After college—and not without trepidation—she took off for Paris, renting a room in the apartment of a young BCBG (bon chic, bon genre) family and throwing herself into the local culture. She was determined to master French slang, style, and savoir faire, and to find a job that would give her a reason to stay.

After a series of dues-paying jobs that seemed only to reinforce her outsider status, Kate's hard work and willingness to take on any assignment paid off: Her writing and intrepid forays into la France Profonde—true France—caught the eye of John Fairchild, the mercurial fashion arbiter and publisher of Women's Wear Daily, the industry's bible. Kate's earliest assignments—investigating the mineral water preferred by high society, chasing after a costumed band of wild boar hunters through the forests of Brittany—were a rough apprenticeship, but she was rewarded for her efforts and was initiated into the elite ranks of Mr. Fairchild's trusted few who sat beside him in the front row and at private previews in the ateliers of the gods of French fashion. From a woozy yet mesmerizing Yves Saint Laurent and the mischievous and commanding Karl Lagerfeld to the riotous, brilliant young guns who were rewriting all the rules—Martin Margiela, Helmut Lang, John Galiano—Betts gives us a view of what it was like to be an American girl, learning about herself, falling in love, and finding her tribe.

MY PARIS DREAM* brings to life the enchantment of France—from the nightclubs of 1980s Paris where she learned to dance Le Rock, to the lavender fields of Provence and the grand spectacle of the Cour Carrée—and magically re-creates that moment in life when a young woman discovers who she's meant to be.

Kate Betts has been covering the world of style for 25 years, first as a reporter in the Paris bureau of Women's Wear Daily and then as an editor at Vogue, Harper's Bazaar, and Time magazine. She is also the author of the acclaimed book Everyday Icon: Michelle Obama and the Power of Style.

Praise for MY PARIS DREAM:

“A delight...one woman's passionate pursuit of fashion in the City of Light... In this lighthearted, appealing memoir, Betts takes readers back in time to when she was a young woman, still searching for her identity, a tribe, or a family of her own choosing, and a place to call home.” – Kirkus Reviews

“An amazing story of a young woman in Paris trying to break into the fashion business as a journalist...Kate Betts's trajectory of inventing herself is uniquely her own but incredibly universal as well.” – Sophia Amoruso, author of #GIRLBOSS

“With beauty, poignancy, and stirring precision, Kate Betts describes what it means to come into your own by going far from home. My Paris Dream is a valentine to a city, a language, and the thrills and confusions of young love and young ambition...Betts has all the elements—grace, humor, humanity, wisdom. What a gift that she has shared them in these delightful pages.”

– Meghan Daum, author of *The Unspeakable

“My Paris Dream is a coming-of-age story that crackles with brilliantly drawn, larger-than-life characters, fashion-world intrigue, and a hint of bittersweet nostalgia.” – Luke Barr, author of *Provence, 1970

ALWAYS PACK A PARTY DRESS And Other Lessons Learned in a (Half) Life of Fashion

By Amanda Brooks

US publisher: Penguin (NA rights)

To publish: June 2015

Material available: Final MS available

Author of I Love Your Style and former Barney's Fashion Director Amanda Brooks' memoir, looking back on her many years at the forefront of the fashion world.

In the past twenty years, Brooks has created a unique place for herself in the fashion world. She spent the early years of her career as a photo assistant for Patrick Demarchelier, a “gallerina” at the Gagosian Gallery, and at various fashion posts before finding her dream job as fashion director for Barney’s New York. Along the way—and wearing more than a few of the outfits we’ve all regretted at one point or another—Brooks discovered the key to creating her personal style, combining influences as wide-ranging as childhood prep school, Grateful Dead concerts, contemporary artists, pop culture, and her current home outside of the fashion bubble, a well-worn farmhouse she shares with her family in the English countryside.

In ALWAYS PACK A PARTY DRESS, Brooks recalls her early career aspirations and explores the evolution of her own personal style along with stories of successes and failures alike, as well as fashion and beauty tips and inspiring photographs. A must-read for high fashion or street style aficionados, and gorgeously produced gift book, Brooks’ shares her expertise and insider view with warm, candid, and witty prose.

Amanda Brooks is the author of I Love Your Style: How to Define and Refine Your Personal Style. She has written for the New York Times Magazine, The Wall Street Journal, Vogue, and Men's Vogue, where she wrote the popular online column "In Her Eyes."

Praise for ALWAYS PACK A PARTY DRESS:

“A fashion maven shares her secrets....[readers] will find much useful advice in this bright and breezy confection....Filled with tips on hair, makeup, nails, lips, shopping, packing, and smiling for photographs, this book will thrill readers for whom Christian Louboutin is a household god.” – Kirkus

“Amanda Brooks is one of those rare birds—perfectly imperfect, not overly considered, impossibly real and humble. While flipping through the pages of this book, I realized her style is just that: her style.”
– Jenna Lyons

“Amanda Brooks is innately chic. Her new book is as smart and original as she is.” – Tory Burch

“Amanda Brooks is one of the best-dressed women I know, and she maintains a wonderful sense of humor about style. She understands the ins and outs of the fashion and the industry, yet doesn’t let them dictate who she is. She’s inspiring and unique, and I’m so happy that she shares what she’s learned in this book!” – Garance Doré

“For young women who want to work in the world of fashion and beauty, or anyone who simply just loves it, Amanda’s book is the dream-come-true told with sweetness and honesty.” – Delia Ephron

“I relished every page of Always Pack a Party Dress. Amanda beautifully untangles and analyzes all aspects of her twenty years in fashion, an act as thoughtful and generous as it is inspiring.” – Laura Bailey

“Amanda Brooks is the true American glamour girl! In her must-read book she offers candid style and career advice and, just as important, shows readers that a sense of humor and self-discovery is much more gratifying than striving for perfection.” – Diane von Furstenberg

SHAKESPEARE TAUGHT ME HOW TO LOVE: A Romance in 38 Plays, 154 Sonnets, and 7 Countries

By Jillian Keenan

US Publisher: William Morrow / HarperCollins (NA rights)
To publish: Winter 2016

Material available: Proposal available
Full MS available in May 2015

Part memoir and part cultural history, Jillian Keenan weaves Shakespeare's plays into her own life story to create a spirited narrative that tackles the question of how to love.

Like most girls, Jillian grew up dreaming of love. But her Hollywood-manufactured models seemed unattainable and even ridiculous. After all, what love lessons could a girl learn from Titanic—a story in which the romantic leads know each other for a total of three days—and then die? Or from Twilight, in which intimacy is literally blood-sucking?

Finding only growing rates of divorce and dissatisfaction, Jillian turned to the only person she could always rely on: Shakespeare. Looking at Shakespeare's world through Millennial eyes, Jillian shows us how his plays can be relevant and even life-transforming. She also breaks down the four essential relationship “rules” that she learned from Shakespeare: friendship, communication, trust, and respect. From her first love (Caliban) to her life-long best friend (Helena), Jillian charts her life—and her romances—through his plays. And through her travels as a journalist from Muslim dictatorships to Buddhist republics to disputed territories, she proves that Shakespeare is truly universal.

Jillian Keenan is a freelance writer who has written for The New York Times, The New Yorker, Washington Post, Slate, The Atlantic, among many other publications.

How to Get Over a Breakup in Only 30 Women

By Matteson Perry
US publisher: Scribner (North American rights)
To publish: Winter 2016

Rights sold: Brazil (Rocco)

Material available: Full MS available

AVAILABLE is for readers looking for drama, laughs, a good time, and a new angle on dating.

When “The One” dumps serial monogamist and registered “Nice Guy” Matteson Perry, he decides to embark on a year of decidedly casual dating. With easy, self-deprecating charm, Matteson brings us into the inner sanctum of manhood as he navigates a break-up that’s left him reeling and throws himself into the modern world of courtship and digital dating, and the result is fresh, heartfelt, and hilarious. From his highs to his lows, Matteson relays his experiences with an unassuming candor that confounds assumptions, and an unexpected innocence that extends our sympathies to even the most groan inducing behavior. And when he finally hits rock bottom, pulls himself back up, and finds true love, it’s every bit as heart-warming as your favorite romantic comedy.

Matteson Perry spent the last thirty years preparing for this book. A Colorado native now living in Los Angeles, his pieces have been published in The New York Times, McSweeney's, and College Humor, among other publications.

ROAD DOG

Confessions of a Comedian In Search of His Soul

By Dov Davidoff

US publisher: St. Martin's Press (North American rights)
To publish: Spring 2016

Material available: Full MS available

An irreverent, hilarious, and ultimately heartfelt memoir by one of the most respected comedians today!

In ROAD DOG, Dov looks back unflinchingly on one tumultuous year of his life, using each chapter as a portal through which he takes the reader deeply inside the comedy world, and also looks back on his roller coaster childhood and youth. Dov shines a light on the underbelly of the American comedy scene, exposing the hits, the misses, and the hard-to-swallow truths that constitute a life on the road, crisscrossing the country performing at clubs that range from the storied to the seedy.

It's a vagabond's existence populated with a cast of both lovable and unsavory characters that takes us to a slew of colorful and unexpected places. In ROAD DOG, Dov poignantly and intelligently exposes and articulates the insecurity, competition, and loneliness that characterize the world's funniest profession.

Dov Davidoff is a stand-up comedian who has been featured on Chelsea Lately, Jimmy Kimmel Live, The Tonight Show with Jay Leno, along with his own specials on Comedy Central. ROAD DOG is his first book.

JOAN RIVERS

A Life

By Leslie Bennetts

US publisher: Little, Brown (North American rights)
To publish: Fall 2016

Material available: Proposal available
Full MS available in Fall 2015

An intimate portrait of the late Joan Rivers, the godmother of stand-up comedy.

When news first surfaced that Joan Rivers had stopped breathing during an outpatient vocal chord procedure, the world paused. Joan Rivers, the godmother of stand-up comedy, the queen of barbed one-liners, and the relentless cultural trailblazer had seemed immortal. All too suddenly, the 81-year-old was on the verge of the very thing it seemed she might elude forever.

This biography of Joan Rivers will be the first to situate the legendary entertainer within a significant cultural framework. Though Rivers wrote twelve books herself, this biography by journalist Leslie Bennetts to delve into the inner workings of a woman who managed to both reflect and redefine the world around her. By following the highs and lows of her fight to the top, this story will illuminate generations of comedic and entertainment history. It will take us through decades of media lore, gender stereotyping, and changing social standards. It will use the journey of a pioneer to understand the makings of present day comedy and stardom. And it will explore the shifts in societal values as well as the eternal themes of female friendship, loyalty, betrayal, competition, sacrifice, marriage, and family.

Leslie Bennetts is a long-time contributor to Vanity Fair and has previously worked at The New York Times and Newsweek.

I.M.

To publish: Fall 2017

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in November 2016

A memoir from the multitalented and omnipresent Isaac Mizrahi, a household name in the fashion world for over two decades.

Famed fashion designer Isaac Mizrahi's memoir I.M. will weave together recollections, pronouncements, opinion, and anecdotes that at once entertain and enlighten. From Isaac's tortuous childhood in an Orthodox community of Brooklyn to his adolescence spent on the dance floor at Studio 54, his time at Parsons School of Design to the heady 1990s, when his friends and muses, supermodels such as Kate Moss, Christy Turlington, and Naomi Campbell ruled the runway, Isaac tells the story of coming into his own and becoming a fashion celebrity, all with his beloved wit and voice.

Isaac Mizrahi is an American fashion designer, TV presenter, and creative director of Xcel Brands. He is best known for his eponymous fashion lines.

BACK TO REALITY

A Memoir

By Pat Cleveland

US publisher: Atria / Simon & Schuster (North American rights)

To publish: Fall 2017

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in Fall 2016

The memoir from the legendary and groundbreaking supermodel, Pat Cleveland.

Andre Leon Talley calls her “the all-time superstar model” and “the most extraordinary black model of the century.” Janice Dickinson calls her “one of the greatest runway models ever...a veritable riot of living color.” And the New York Times has over the years variously called her “iconic,” “a catwalk wonder,” a “legendary ’70s supermodel,” a “’70s superstar,” “a perennial wild child,” “lovable, and lovably off-kilter,” and the “woman who put the word ‘super’ in front of ‘model.’”

BACK TO REALITY is a vibrant and eye-opening memoir by the larger than life, trend-setting, groundbreaking model, Pat Cleveland, covering her unusual and often fraught upbringing, her discovery in New York City at age 14, her modeling heyday in the 70s and 80s, and her marriage and family. Pat's story is one of possibility, imagination, and glamour, and her memoir won't just be a book for lovers of fashion and celebrity—it's a story about choices: sticking out or fitting in, finding your place or creating a new one, giving in to adversity or pushing through it, blaming the world or bettering it.

Pat Cleveland worked as one of the world's most in-demand models in the 1970s and was the muse to Halston, Yves Saint Laurent, and Stephen Burrows.

MASTER OF CEREMONIES

A Memoir

By Joel Grey

US publisher: Flatiron Books (North American rights)

To publish: Spring 2016

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in Summer 2015

A memoir from the Oscar and Tony-winning actor Joey Grey, the iconic star of film and stage!

Joel Grey is best known for his star turns in Cabaret, Wicked, Anything Goes, Chicago, and George M, but his personal story may prove to be even more exciting. In his memoir, MASTER OF CEREMONIES, readers will find transcendent and universal appeal in the dark corners of his childhood and adolescence, in the contrasting stories of his relationship with a nurturing father and narcissistic mother, and in his lifelong search for self-acceptance and happiness.

Joel's perpetual discomfort with being the outside trying to fit in; his ambition to be taken seriously as an actor after becoming a star as a song and dance nightclub performer; his struggles coming to terms with his sexuality during a long and complex marriage that included affairs with men; his role as a father to his daughter Jennifer Grey and son James; his ultimate slaying of personal demons to find his greatest contentment in his seventh decade—these are the themes that will make the whole of Joel's story greater than the sum of its parts. This is the story of a man trying to find himself, and then, coming to accept what he's found.

Joel Grey is American actor, singer, dancer, and photographer. He has won an Academy Award, a Tony Award, and a Golden Globe award for his portrayal of the emcee in the musical Cabaret.

TRUFFLE BOY

A Memoir

By Ian Purkayastha and Kevin West

US publisher: Hachette Books (North American rights)

To publish: October 2016

Material available: Proposal available

Full MS available in October 2015

A memoir by Ian Purkayastha, a 22-year-old “Prince of Truffles”, who supplies truffles to some of the finest restaurants in the world!

Ian Purkayastha's occupation is a far cry from that of your average 22-year-old man—he makes a unique living selling truffles, wild edibles, and other rare foods to the world-famous chefs—including Jean-Georges Vongerichten, Sean Brock, Marc Forgione, Daniel Boulud, and David Chang—who run some of the finest restaurants in the world!

Ian's personal story—how an oddball kid from Fayetteville, Arkansas became a powerful player in New York's cutthroat underground food economy—combines a classic coming-of-age tale with the education of an entrepreneurial prodigy. Readers will share in the thrill of his success—being offered a job when he graduated high school as the sole North American sales representative for a big Italian truffle producer—but also feel the gut-churning emotion of his adolescent self-doubt and the horrible anxiety that came with his extreme financial risks and genuine physical danger—on his third day working in New York City (at age 17), he was beaten up by thugs and robbed of $10,000 worth of truffles.

Ian Purkayastha is the owner of Regalis Foods, a Brooklyn-based purveyor of exotic foods with an extensive client list of Michelin star restaurants, Purkayastha founded his first truffle company in his home state of Arkansas when he was 15 years old.

Marina Abramovic, one of the 21st century's most iconic artists, is ready to tell her remarkable life story.

Marina Abramovic, popularly known as “The Godmother of Performance Art”, has been pushing the limits of art and influencing other artists for decades, ever since her groundbreaking work in Yugoslavia in the 1970s, when she began using her body as subject and medium. For her performances, she has withstood pain, exhaustion, and danger in the quest for emotional and spiritual transformation. As a vital member of the generation of performance artists that includes Bruce Nauman, Vito Acconci, and Chris Burden, Abramović created some of the most historic early performance pieces and continues to make important durational works.

In the past five years, Marina’s visibility and renown have exploded in the popular culture, leading to collaborations with a diverse list of artists and luminaries including Robert Wilson, Matthew Barney, Willem Dafoe, Antony Hegarty of “Antony and the Johnsons,” James Franco,

Jay-Z, and Lady Gaga. In fact, last year at the Glamour “Women of the Year Awards,” Lady Gaga introduced Marina by saying that she was the single most important influence in her life, aside from her own mother. In 2014, TIME magazine named her of the “100 Most Influential People,” alongside Vladimir Putin, Pope Francis, Barack Obama, and Beyoncé.

Marina’s memoir traces her journey back to post-World War II Yugoslavia, where she spent nearly the first three decades of her life trying to break free of her mother’s tyrannical control over her. It was only when she was an art student at Belgrade that she broke free, with her 1974 performance Rhythm 0, where she stood passively among an array of weapons and instructed onlookers to use the weapons on her as they liked.

From that unforgettable debut, Marina narrates her other performances that took her around the world, her love-at-first-sight meeting with fellow performance artist Ulay in 1976, and all the way to her modern collaborations and performances—culminating with her now-legendary 2010 performance—“The Arist Is Present”—at the Museum of Modern Art.

THE PAINTED LADY

By William Kuhn

US Publisher: Harper (World English rights)
To publish: Fall 2015

Material available: Full MS available in Summer 2015

A second novel from Mrs. Queen Takes the Train author William Kuhn, centering on the love, sex, and scandal between several turn-of-the-century artists and aristocrats.

A nearly life-sized portrait, with the figure of a woman painted against an oriental rug, sweeps that woman and the man who depicted her into a life neither one of them could ever have imagined. The woman, Isabelle Gardner, is Madame X, John Singer Sargent's most famous painting.

Based on exhaustive research, THE PAINTED LADY is about the creation of one portrait that launched the international career of one man, the social ambitions of one woman, and transformed the art of portraiture.

LOTUS

By Lijia Zhang

US Publisher: Holt (North American rights)
To publish: Fall 2016

Set in Shenzhen, China, the "city of sins," LOTUS is the story of a young sex worker and a photojournalist torn, like the city itself, between past traditions and modern desires.

Lotus arrives as a teenager in the seaside city of Shenzhen—known as the most successful “Special Economic Zone” in China, which permits free-market style business—as one of thousands of migrant workers from rural China. She begins work as a factory worker, only to quickly realize she won't make nearly enough money to live on. So she turns to the only profession that could prove lucrative—prostitution.

Bing began his career as a businessman, but turns to his passion for photography after his divorce. Through his work as a photojournalist, his and Lotus' lives collide when he begins an award-winning series of photos featuring Lotus' day-to-day life as a prostitute. Bing falls in love with Lotus and offers himself as her exclusive patron, but Lotus is torn between her conflicting desires for security and to finally escape prostitution.

Lijia Zhang is a writer and social commentator who lives in Beijing and focuses on human stories set in China. She is a regular speaker on BBC Radio and NPR, and is the author of the memoir Socialism Is Great!.

To publish: September 2015; Fall 2016

Material available: Full PDF

A hilarious middle-grade story in which an average boy becomes pen pals with a legendary statesman: Benjamin Franklin!

This is the start to a most unlikely pen pal relationship between 13-year-old Franklin Isaac Saturday (Ike) and Benjamin Franklin. Before the fateful extra credit assignment that started it all, Ike's life was pretty normal. He was avoiding the popularity contests of middle school, crushing hard on Claire Wanzandae and trying not roll his eyes at his stepfather, Dirk-the-Jerk's lame jokes.

But all that changes when, in a successful effort to make Claire Wanzandae laugh, Ike mails his homework assignment to Ben Franklin and he writes back. Soon, things go awry. After Ike has an embarrassing moment of epic proportions in front of Claire involving a playground, non-alcoholic beer, and a lot of kettle corn, Ike decides he needs to find a way to win Claire back. With some help from his new friend, B-Fizzle, can Ike get the girl and make his mark in history?

Adam Mansbach is the author of the New York Times bestselling picture book Go the F to Sleep. Alan Zweibel has worked as a producer for Saturday Night Live and PBS.

NO MAN'S LAND

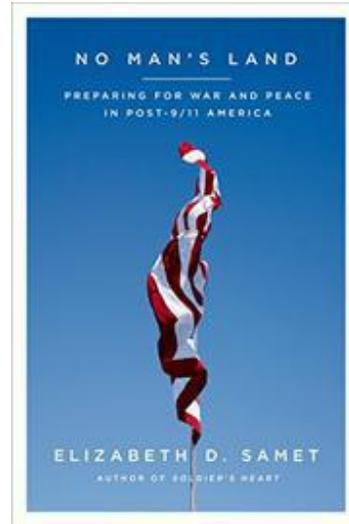

Preparing for War and Peace in Post 9/11 America

By Elizabeth D. Samet

US publisher: Farrar, Straus & Giroux
(NA rights)

Published: November 2014

As the post-9/11 wars wind down, a literature professor at West Point explores what it means for soldiers, and our country, to be caught between war and peace.

Elizabeth D. Samet, a professor of English at West Point and the author of the critically acclaimed Soldier's Heart, came to question her settled understanding of post-9/11 America as a clear arc from peace to war. Over time, as she reckoned with her experiences—from a visit to a ward of wounded combat veterans to her correspondence with former cadets—Samet was led to profoundly rethink the last decade, an ambiguous passage that has left deep but difficult-to-read traces on our national psyche, our culture, our politics, and, most especially, an entire generation of military professionals. How will a nation that has refused to grapple honestly with these wars imagine its postwar responsibilities?

Samet calls the moment in which we live, lying as it does somewhere between war and peace, a "no man's land." She takes the reader on a vivid tour of that landscape, populated as much by the scars of war as by the everyday realities of life on the home front. Grounded in Samet's experience as a teacher of future army officers, No Man's Land is a moving, urgent examination of what it means to negotiate the tensions between soldier and civilian, between "over here" and "over there."

Elizabeth D. Samet is the author of Soldier's Heart, which won the Los Angeles Times Book Prize for Current Interest and was named one of the 100 Notable Books of 2007 by The New York Times. Her essays and reviews have been published in The New York Times Book Review, The New Republic, and Bloomberg View.

Praise for NO MAN'S LAND:

"Both the incisiveness and the perspective—of a civilian professor and the military students she loves and mourns—enrich readers' appreciation for the psychological complexities of war and its aftermath."

— Kirkus, STARRED REVIEW

"Vivid, insightful, and timely, Samet sums up what this country must do for its returning troops." — Publishers Weekly

"As a civilian professor at West Point—a state of not quite military, not quite civilian—Samet is uniquely positioned to ponder and probe the intellectual and emotional challenges confronting the modern officer corps. Her smooth flowing essay delivers penetrating observations and criticisms...of what it means for the United States and its soldiery to be 'adrift between war and peace.'" — The Washington Post

ALL THE TIME IN THE WORLD

A Book of Hours

By Jessica Kerwin Jenkins
US publisher: Nan A. Talese Books (NA rights)
Published: October 2013

Rights sold: Infodar (Bulgaria)

Entertaining, unexpected, and full of charm, ALL THE TIME IN THE WORLD presents a miscellany of engaging stories, detailing the intriguing customs, traditions, and guilty pleasures pursued throughout the ages.

ALL THE TIME IN THE WORLD takes its cue from an iconic component of medieval life, the book of hours, which prescribed certain readings and contemplations for certain parts of the day throughout the year. Divided into more than seventy-five entries, ALL THE TIME IN THE WORLD is brimming with witty bons mots, interesting etymologies, and arresting anecdotes encompassing an array of cultures and eras. Subjects covered include the daylong ceremony of laying a royal Elizabethan tablecloth; the radicalization of sartorial chic in 1890s Paris; Nostradamus's belief in the aphrodisiac power of jam; the sensuous practice of sniffing incense in fifteenth-century Japan; the American fascination with flaming desserts; the short-lived artistic discipline of “lunia,” or visual music; the evolution of coffee from a religious ritual to a forbidden delight in the Middle East; Henriette d'Angeville's fearless and wine-fueled ascent of Mont Blanc; the elaborate treasure hunts concocted by London's Bright Young Things; and the musical revolution known as bebop. An antidote to the contemporary cult of “getting things done,” ALL THE TIME IN THE WORLD revives forgotten treasures of the past while inspiring a passion for good living in the present.

Jessica Kerwin Jenkins began her career writing for Women's Wear Daily and for W. Her first book, Encyclopedia of the Exquisite, was listed as one of the top 100 books of 2010 by both Amazon and Barnes & Noble.

Praise for ALL THE TIME IN THE WORLD:

“There is much to contemplate and marvel over in Jenkins’ scholarly and highly entertaining book of exuberance.”

– Booklist, STARRED REVIEW

“The book's charm lies in its breadth and scope ... [A]n insightful and contemplative study in culture and all its frivolous progress.”

– Publishers Weekly

“The perfect conversation-starter...[A] sensualist’s miscellany of Gilded Age dinner dressing customs and Edwardian treasure hunts.” – Vogue

“[T]he book punches above its weight—introducing readers to an engaging array of events, individuals and issues, many of them all but neglected in serious works of history. Ms. Jenkins's spirited and insightful volume, unlike a jar of raspberry jam, comes with a long shelf life.” –

– Wall Street Journal

“Jessica Kerwin Jenkins shows us how abundant a source of wisdom the history of civilization can be for constructing our days—month by month, minute by minute—into an artful and mindful cosmos of activity and repose...The secret to living a full life is to embrace our capacity for loving beauty, which is ridiculously obvious, everywhere, here by definition. Just look.” – Bookpage

THE FIRM
The Story of McKinsey and Its Secret
Influence on American Business

By Duff McDonald

US publisher: Simon & Schuster (WE rights)

Published: September 2013

Rights sold: Brazil (Saraiva), China (CITIC), Holland (Prometheus), Japan (Diamond), Russia (Atticus), Taiwan (Commonwealth), & Turkey (Moda Ofset),

The New York Times Bestselling story of McKinsey & Co., America's most influential and controversial consulting firm.

If you want to be taken seriously, you hire McKinsey & Company. Founded in 1926, McKinsey can lay claim to the following partial list of accomplishments: its consultants have ushered in waves of structural, financial, and technological change to the nation's best organizations; they remapped the power structure within the White House; they even revolutionized business schools. In THE FIRM, star financial journalist Duff McDonald shows just how, in becoming an indispensable part of decision making at the highest levels, McKinsey has done nothing less than set the course of American capitalism.

But he also answers the question that's on the mind of anyone who has ever heard the word McKinsey: Are they worth it? After all, just as McKinsey can be shown to have helped invent most of the tools of modern management, the company was also involved with a number of striking failures. Its consultants were on the scene when General Motors drove itself into the ground, and they were K-Mart's advisers when the retailer tumbled into disarray. They played a critical role in building the bomb known as Enron.

McDonald is one of the few journalists to have not only parsed the record but also penetrated the culture of McKinsey itself. His access puts him in a unique position to demonstrate when it is worth hiring these gurus—and when they're full of smoke.

Duff McDonald is a New York-based journalist. A contributing editor at The New York Observer, he has also written for The New Yorker, Vanity Fair, New York Magazine, Esquire, Fortune, Business Week, Conde Nast

Portfolio, GQ, WIRED, Time, Newsweek, and others.

Praise for THE FIRM:

“[T]hought-provoking...a fascinating look behind the company's success.” – The New York Times

“There have been other books about this American icon, but The Firm is an up-to-date, full-blown history, told with wit and clarity.”

– The Wall Street Journal

“Timely...A fast-paced account of a key business institution, its deeds and misdeeds.” – Kirkus

“McDonald's reporting reveals how and why this Teflon firm has continued to thrive through the years.” – Booklist

“Revealing...McDonald combines a lucid chronicle of McKinsey's growth and boardroom melodramas.” – Publishers Weekly

“[An] admiring book that nevertheless asks hard questions about the organization's future.” – The Economist

“[T]hrough an expert accretion of damning detail, McDonald builds a convincing case that, for better and (mostly) worse, McKinsey became the quintessential American business of the 20th century.”

– Bloomberg Businessweek

PAIN, PARTIES, WORK: Sylvia Plath in New York, Summer 1953

By Elizabeth Winder

US Publisher: Harper (NA rights)

Published: April 2013

Rights sold: Italy (Guanda/Gruppo Editoriale Mauri Spagnol)
Poland (Marginesy)

PAIN, PARTIES, WORK has been optioned by Sony Pictures Television!*

PAIN, PARTIES, WORK by Elizabeth Winder is a compelling look at a young Sylvia Plath and the life-changing month that would lay the groundwork for her seminal novel, The Bell Jar.*

On May 31, 1953, twenty-year-old Sylvia Plath arrived in New York City for a one-month stint at "the intellectual fashion magazine" Mademoiselle to be a guest editor for its prestigious annual college issue. Over the next twenty-six days, the bright, blond New England collegian lived at the Barbizon Hotel, attended Balanchine ballets, watched a game at Yankee Stadium, and danced at the West Side Tennis Club. She typed rejection letters to writers from The New Yorker and ate an entire bowl of caviar at an advertising luncheon. She stalked Dylan Thomas and fought off an aggressive diamond-wielding delegate from the United Nations. She took hot baths, had her hair done, and discovered her signature drink (vodka, no ice). Young, beautiful, and on the cusp of an advantageous career, she was supposed to be having the time of her life.

Drawing on in-depth interviews with fellow guest editors whose memories infuse these pages, Elizabeth Winder reveals how these twenty-six days indelibly altered how Plath saw herself, her mother, her friendships, and her romantic relationships, and how this period shaped her emerging identity as a woman and as a writer. PAIN, PARTIES, WORK—the three words Plath used to describe that time—shows how Manhattan's alien atmosphere unleashed an anxiety that would stay with her for the rest of her all-too-short life.

Elizabeth Winder has written for the Chicago Review, the Antioch Review, American Letters, and other publications. She is a graduate of the College of William and Mary and earned an MFA in creative writing from George Mason University.

Praise FOR PAIN, PARTIES, WORK:

"An illuminating biography...which floods clarifying light on a chapter of the poet's early life that Plath painted in jaundiced tones in The Bell Jar." – The New York Times

"A lovingly detailed inventory, as Technicolor-vivid as a Douglas Sirk film, of the fashions and foods that filled Plath's summer. Winder convincingly shows that Plath should be recognized as much for her enjoyment of life and her enduring works as for her tragic death."

– Publishers Weekly

"Winder poignantly captures a snapshot of a time that directly inspired one of Plath's most famous works." – Library Journal

"[An] accessible, eye-opening new biography." – O Magazine

"Winder resuscitates a young woman who, while sick, is electrically alive to her first real adventure...Captivating...[Winder] makes a compelling argument that in New York...Plath moved closer to finding the voice that would define her writing." – Slate

"Winder has painstakingly sketched a fully fleshed-out portrait of Plath's life during that hot, seminal summer, offering...Winder goes into the dizzying, delightful detail." – USA Today

"The world of '50s NYC, in all its glamour, is irresistible reading."

Russia (Gayatri/Livebook)
Taiwan (Sun Color Culture)
UK (Silvertail)

HOW TO BE A FRIEND TO A FRIEND WHO'S SICK is an invaluable guidebook for anyone hoping to rise to the challenges of this most important and demanding passage of friendship.

Everyone knows someone who's sick or suffering. Yet when a friend or relative is under duress many of us feel uncertain about how to cope. Throughout her recent bout with breast cancer, Letty Cottin Pogrebin became fascinated by her friends' and family's diverse reactions to her and her illness: how awkwardly some of them behaved, how some misspoke or misinterpreted her needs, and how wonderful it was when people read her right. She began talking to her fellow patients and dozens of other veterans of serious illness, seeking to discover what sick people wished their friends knew about how best to comfort, help, and even simply talk to them.

Now Pogrebin has distilled their collective stories and opinions into this wide-ranging compendium of pragmatic guidance and usable wisdom. Her advice is always infused with sensitivity, warmth, and humor. It is embedded in candid stories from her own and others' journeys, and their sometimes imperfect interactions with well-meaning friends.

Letty Cottin Pogrebin is an award-winning journalist, widely published opinion writer, acclaimed public speaker, admired political activist, and author of several nonfiction bestsellers, including Growing Up Free, Getting Over Getting Older, and Deborah, Golda, and Me. Her most recent book was a novel titled Three Daughters.

Praise for HOW TO BE A FRIEND TO A FRIEND WHO'S SICK:

"The author's sharp advice illuminates many of the more common gray areas governing what to say to an ailing friend, appropriate visitation frequencies and durations, and proper gifting. She also provides tips for good behavior when a friend's parent or child is gravely ill...A useful refresher course on navigating the complicated territory of compassionate companionship." – Kirkus

"[I]t's the bravery and wisdom Pogrebin brought to her own battle that lifts this guide from a mere list of sickroom rules to invaluable lessons for sickness and health." – Publishers Weekly

"[A] kind of communication chasm, the one between the ill and those who care about them, is addressed with sympathy and humor in Letty Cottin Pogrebin's How to Be a Friend to a Friend Who's Sick, a guide to what might be called "compassion etiquette." – Wall Street Journal

"How to Be a Friend to a Friend Who's Sick offers sensible, specific advice about being a true friend to a pal facing hard times, be it disease, permanent disability, Alzheimer's, a child's suicide, or the death of a partner, parent or child." – USA Today

"Pogrebin offers healthy doses of advice interspersed with a memoir of her own cancer sojourn. She promises a primer on empathy, and she delivers. She pens a call to action, and the stories—and truths—gathered in these pages will leave the reader fully equipped to become that life-affirming wonder, a Most Compassionate Friend." – Chicago Tribune

In ALL NATURAL—a sparkingly intelligent, wry, and scrupulously reported narrative—Johnson teases fact from faith and offers a rousing and original vision for a middle ground between natural and technological solutions that will assuage frustrated environmentalists, perplexed parents, and confused consumers alike.

In this age of climate change, killer germs, and obesity, it's easy to feel as if we've fallen out of synch with the global ecosystem. This ecological anxiety has polarized a new generation of Americans: many are drawn to natural solutions and organic lifestyles, while others rally around high-tech development and industrial efficiencies. Johnson argues that both views, when taken to extremes, can be harmful, even deadly.

Johnson, raised in the crunchy-granola epicenter of Nevada City, California, lovingly and rigorously scrutinizes his family's all-natural mindset, a quest that brings him into the worlds of an outlaw midwife, radical doctors, renegade farmers, and one hermit forester. Along the way, he uncovers paradoxes at the heart of our ecological condition: Why, even as medicine improves, are we becoming less healthy? Why do we grow fatter the more we diet? Why have so many attempts to save the environment backfired?

Nathanael Johnson is an NPR producer and has written for Harper's, New York, Outside, and San Francisco magazines.

Praise for ALL NATURAL:

"Johnson's investigation is both horrifying and amusing, and readers will relish the colorful, witty writing and find much food for thought."

"[Johnson] presents a refreshing optimism that neither extols the organic to the point of supporting pseudoscience nor negates the value of scientific advancements...The book strikes at the heart of hot-button issues with an Everyman appeal." – Kirkus

"What's really welcome about his deeply reported book, ALL NATURAL, is that [Johnson's] upbringing makes the investigation of nature vs. technology fun as well as thought-provoking...All Natural brings the arguments to life through a cast of wonderful farmers, neighbors, doctors, midwives and Johnson's own parents." – Los Angeles Times

"It's hard not to smile when [Johnson] writes tenderly about growing up as a naked back-to-nature kid raised on zucchini in a world of space-pod juice packets like Capri Sun and spreadable cheese food."

– Spirituality & Health Magazine

"[Johnson's] book is not only a fascinating read for those who want to get to the bottom of issues such as raw milk and home birth, but it is also a call for more sensible decision-making...Johnson's personal journey through the book, which he recounts with sparkling humor, begins with him shopping for the best ideology and ends with him trying to operate without any ideology—seeing 'the world both ways at once, with both eyes open.'"

THE DISASTER DIARIES One Man's Quest to Learn Everything Necessary to Survive the Apocalypse

By Sam Sheridan

US Publisher: Penguin Press (North American rights)

Published: January 2013

Rights sold: Complex Chinese (Business Today)

A rollicking narrative with each chapter framed by a hypothetical catastrophic scenario, THE DISASTER DIARIES is irresistible adventure reading for everyone curious about what it might take to survive a cataclysmic event.

Sam Sheridan has traveled the world as an amateur boxer and mixed martial arts fighter; he has worked as an EMT, a wilderness firefighter, a sailor, a cowboy at the largest ranch in Montana, and in construction under brutal conditions at the South Pole. If he isn't ready for the Apocalypse and the fractured world that will likely ensue, we are all in a lot of trouble.

Despite an arsenal of skills that puts many to shame, when Sam became a father he was beset with nightmares about being unable to protect his son. With disaster images from movies, books, and the nightly news filling his head, he was slowly being driven to distraction. If a rogue wave hit his beach community, would he be able to get out? If the power grid went down and he was forced outside the city limits, could he survive in the wilderness? And let's not even talk about plagues, zombie hordes, and attacking aliens. Unable to quiet his mind, Sam decides to face his fears head-on and gain as many skills as possible.

The problem is each doomsday situation requires something unique. Trying to navigate the clogged highway out of town? Head to the best stunt driving school in the country. Need to protect your family, but out of ammunition? Learn how to handle a knife. Is your child hurt or showing signs of mental strain? Better brush upon emergency medicine and the psychological effects of trauma. From training with an Olympic weight lifter to a down and dirty apprenticeship in stealing cars with an ex-gang member, from a gun course in the hundred-degree heat of Alabama to agonizing lessons in arctic wilderness survival, Sam leaves no stone unturned.

Sam Sheridan is a Harvard graduate and the author of the books, The Disaster Diaries, A Fighter's Heart, and A Fighter's Mind. He's been a boxer, mixed martial arts fighter, sailor, cowboy, South Pole construction worker, and Merchant Marine.

Praise for THE DISASTER DIARIES:

"Sheridan is a charming storyteller, and his prose is both thoughtful and playful...An upbeat and entertaining survival guide for the end of the world." – Kirkus, STARRED REVIEW

"A clever and very useful guide to getting ready to face the unknown."
– Booklist

"With a funky sense of humor blended with straight-faced common sense, [Sheridan] not only addresses the long-term psychological trauma of disaster but adds the importance of learning basic first-aid techniques, firearms training, knife skills, hunting and living in the wild, and expertise behind the wheel for a real world escape and survival. As a quirky survivalist primer, Sheridan's work spells out how to stay alive when the world goes topsy-turvy." – Publishers Weekly

"Sheridan understands exactly what he is doing. He is giving readers a fantasy ride...And clearly, he enjoys the ride himself, savoring every moment, both physically and intellectually...Postapocalyptic heroism, in the hands of Sam Sheridan, is just plain fun." – San Francisco Chronicle

FIRE SHUT UP IN MY BONES A Memoir

By Charles Blow

US Publisher: Harcourt (World English rights)

Published: September 2014

The gorgeous, New York Times Bestselling memoir of how one of America's most innovative and respected journalists found his voice by coming to terms with a painful past.

New York Times columnist Charles M. Blow mines the compelling poetry of the out-of-time African-American Louisiana town where he grew up—a place where slavery's legacy felt astonishingly close, reverberating in the elders' stories and in the near-constant wash of violence.

Blow's attachment to his mother—a fiercely driven woman with five sons, brass knuckles in her glove box, a job plucking poultry at a nearby factory, a soon-to-be-ex husband, and a love of newspapers and learning—cannot protect him from secret abuse at the hands of an older cousin. It's damage that triggers years of anger and searing self-questioning.

Finally, Blow escapes to a nearby state university, where he joins a black fraternity after a passage of brutal hazing, and then enters a world of racial and sexual privilege that feels like everything he's ever needed and wanted, until he's called upon, to become the one perpetuating the shocking abuse.

Charles Blow has been a columnist at The New York Times since 2008, and he appears regularly on MSNBC, CNN, Fox News, the BBC, Al Jazeera, and HBO.

Praise for FIRE SHUT UP IN MY BONES:

"[A] well-written, often poetic memoir" – Kirkus

"[An] Exquisite memoir...Delicately wrought and arresting in its language, this slender volume covers a great deal of emotional terrain -- much of it fraught, most of it arduous and all of it worth the trip."

– The New York Times

"Searing and unforgettable." – People Magazine

"Blow tells his story with searing honesty and probing self-reflection..."

– Boston Globe

"Searing...A raw, intense and often powerful book" – Salon

"Honest and artful...Fire Shut Up in My Bones is an honest reflection of a life. Blow has taken the time to describe -- often in loving detail -- what people and places look like, giving the reader's visual imagination plenty to work with as he contemplates crucial life questions that this story so eloquently articulates." – Chicago Tribune

LET THE TORNADO COME A Memoir

By Rita Zoey Chin

US Publisher: Simon & Schuster (North American rights)

Published: June 2014

From an award-winning poet comes this riveting, gorgeous memoir about a young runaway, the trauma that haunted her as an adult, and the friendship with a horse that finally set her free.

When she was eleven years old, Rita began to run away. Her father's violence and her mother's hostility drove her out of the house and into the streets in search of a better life. This soon led her into a dangerous world of drugs, predatory older men, and the occasional kindness of strangers, but despite the dangers, Rita kept running. One day she came upon a field of horses galloping along a roadside fence, and the sight of them gave her hope. The memory of their hoofbeats stayed with her.

Rita survives her harrowing childhood to become a prize-winning writer and the wife of a promising surgeon. But when she is suddenly besieged by terrifying panic attacks, her past trauma threatens her hard-won happiness and the stable, comfortable life she's built with her husband. Within weeks, she is incapacitated with fear—literally afraid of her own shadow. Realizing that she is facing a life of psychological imprisonment, Rita undertakes a journey to find help through a variety of treatments. It is ultimately through chasing her childhood passion for horses that she meets a spirited, endearing horse named Claret—with his own troubled history—and together they surmount daunting odds as they move toward fear and learn to trust, and ultimately save, each other.

Rita Zoey Chin is has appeared in Tin House, Guernica, The Rumpus, Freerange Nonfiction, and elsewhere. She received her MFA from the University of Maryland.

Praise for LET THE TORNADO COME:

“Unbearably beautiful and unflinching, Rita Zoey Chin's LET THE TORNADO COME is a brilliant portrait of a life skirting the precipice. She has captured masterfully the maelstrom of her years as a runaway, a wife, a sister, a rider, a searcher. But what shines, page after page, is her resilience, in how every day is built. This is a story full of lightning--sudden, intimate, radiant.” – Paul Yoon, bestselling author of *Snow Hunters

“At the heart of this brave, beautiful memoir is an extraordinary tale of hard-earned compassion and love. Despite all odds, some of the most broken down souls, human and animal alike, can not only heal but can take wing and soar. Rita Zoey Chin offers us her unforgettable story with richly textured, luminous prose—I fell in love with her book from the very first line.” – Mira Bartók, bestselling author of *The Memory

Palace

“This lyrical debut memoir reveals the indelible consequences of childhood abuse.... Chin deftly creates the palimpsest of those stories, past and present, in this candid, graceful testimony to remarkable resilience.” – Kirkus

"A near euphoric ode to the human spirit... It is one thing to have lived a life worth writing about, but it is a talent to search that undeniably particular life for the moments that can ring true to those who will never know even a second of the darkness that fell so insistently and relentlessly upon her, first as a child, and later as a young adult." – Huffington Post

“[An] intense, disturbing memoir.... As [Chin] finally connects with those who understand her pain and, in the process, figures out how to save her horse, [she] emerges triumphant. Her message: never give up until you find the help you need, and don't be afraid to keep looking. Book clubs will find hours of discussion here.” – Booklist

“Luminous... A haunting yet hopeful saga that shows how trauma and fear can transform themselves into enduring strength.” – Publishers Weekly

STAND UP STRAIGHT AND SING! A Memoir

By Jessye Norman

US Publisher: Harcourt (North American rights)

Published: May 2014

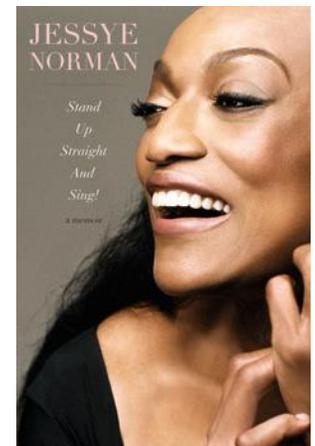

Rights sold:

France (Fayard)

Germany (dTV)

Holland (Kosmos)

UK (Jeremy Robson Press)

One of America's most admired and decorated artists tells her amazing story, from her childhood in the South to the world's greatest stages.

Jessye Norman is not only one of the world's most admired and beloved singers, she is an American icon whose life story is as moving and dramatic as the great operatic roles she has performed on stage. Born and raised in Augusta, Georgia, nurtured in a close family and tight-knit community centered around the church, she studied the piano and sang the songs of her childhood, not dreaming that this passion for music might lead to her life's profession.

In STAND UP STRAIGHT AND SING!, Jessye Norman recalls in rich detail the strong women who were her role models, from her ancestors to family friends, relatives, and teachers. She hails the importance of her parents in her early learning and experiences in the arts. And she describes coming face-to-face with racism, not just as a child living in the segregated South, but also as an adult out and about in the world. She speaks of the many who have inspired her and taught her essential life lessons. A special interlude on her key relationship with the pioneering African American singer Marian Anderson reveals the lifelong support that this great predecessor provided through her example of dignity and grace at all times.

The story of one woman's astonishing life, STAND UP STRAIGHT AND SING! is not just for lovers of music, but for everyone.

Jessye Norman is one of America's greatest and most accomplished singers, with five Grammy Awards, dozens of international prizes, and a Kennedy Center Honor among her countless awards.

Praise for STAND UP STRAIGHT AND SING!:

"Norman recalls memorable performances and makes observations on the power of beautiful music to enter the spirit and simply live there. Her inspiring memoir includes lyrics of her favorite songs." – Booklist

"Soprano Jessye Norman has written a memoir that captures her crusading spirit." – Daily Telegraph

"For anyone who has heard Norman sing or been inspired by the programs with which she has been involved, this book will be essential. It should also appeal to those interested in vocal performance and those exploring the black experience in contemporary life." – Library Journal

"The best parts of Ms. Norman's book are her lyrical evocations of her early life in Augusta, Ga. She builds a rich portrait of a childhood firmly grounded by family, church and community." – Wall Street Journal

The moving memoir of one brave woman who, along with her daughters, has kept 90,000 of her fellow citizens safe, healthy, and educated for over 20 years in Somalia.

Dr. Hawa Abdi, "the Mother Teresa of Somalia" and Nobel Peace Prize nominee, is the founder of a massive camp for internally displaced people located a few miles from war-torn Mogadishu, Somalia. Since 1991, when the Somali government collapsed, famine struck, and aid groups fled, she has dedicated herself to providing help for people whose lives have been shattered by violence and poverty. She turned her 1300 acres of farmland into a camp that has numbered up to 90,000 displaced people, ignoring the clan lines that have often served to divide the country. She inspired her daughters, Deqo and Amina, to become doctors. Together, they have saved tens of thousands of lives in her hospital, while providing an education to hundreds of displaced children.

In 2010, Dr. Abdi was kidnapped by radical insurgents, who also destroyed much of her hospital, simply because she was a woman. She, along with media pressure, convinced the rebels to let her go, and she demanded and received a written apology. Dr. Abdi's story of incomprehensible bravery and perseverance will inspire readers everywhere.

Dr. Hawa Abdi is a Somalian human rights activist, lawyer, and doctor, who founded the Doctor Hawa Abdi Foundation, which offers sanctuary to nearly 90,000 people.

Praise for KEEPING HOPE ALIVE:

"Compelling does not begin to define this story; it is simply, sadly, impossible to put down." – Booklist, STARRED REVIEW

"A poignant account of personal bravery, love, and loss and a chronicle of the tragedy of our times." – Kirkus

"One of the great heroes of our time, Dr. Hawa Abdi, has written a beautiful, heart-gladdening book about what she created against a tide of violence and destruction. Everyone should read this book to find the hope within themselves."

– Tina Brown, Editor, Newsweek and The Daily Beast

"KEEPING HOPE ALIVE is the inspiring story of how one woman educated, fed and healed thousands of the world's vulnerable in one of the most dangerous places on earth." – Angelina Jolie, Actress & Activist

From the New York Times bestselling author of The Manny—a vibrant novel of love, life lessons, and learning to trust yourself

Allie Crawford has the life she always dreamed of—she's number two at a high-profile P.R. firm; she has two kids she adores; and her husband is a blend of handsome and heroic. Wade is everything she thought a man was supposed to be—he's running a successful newsmagazine and, best of all, he provides the stable yet exciting New York City life Allie believes she needs in order to feel secure and happy.

But when Allie finds Wade locked in their laundry room with a stunning blonde in snakeskin sandals, a scandal ensues that flips her life on its head. And when the woman wants to befriend Allie, an old flame calls, and a new guy gets a little too close for comfort, she starts to think her marriage is more of a facade than something real. Maybe she's fallen in love not with Wade—but with the idea of him.

Captivating and seductive, THE IDEA OF HIM is a novel of conspiracy, intrigue, and intense passion—and discovering your greatest strength through your deepest fears.

Holly Peterson is the bestselling author of The Manny. She worked as a producer for ABC News, and a writer and contributing editor for Newsweek. She contributes to Town & Country and the New York Times, among other publications.

Praise for THE IDEA OF HIM:

“THE IDEA OF HIM is a coming-of-age book for grown ups. It's fast-paced and intriguing, glamorous and real -- not only a great, great read but a tutorial in how to be your own best friend.”

– Elin Hilderbrand, author of Beautiful Day

“Holly Peterson has written a gripping, sophisticated story of high life suspense that kept me riveted till I'd finished. The Idea of Him is hugely enjoyable and vividly satisfying.” – Tina Brown

“Holly Peterson's THE IDEA OF HIM is the perfect novel if you want to plunge into great dialogue, a twisting and unexpected plot, shady Wall Street schemes, betrayal, girl friends. and sex. It is unputdownable.”

Published: January 2013

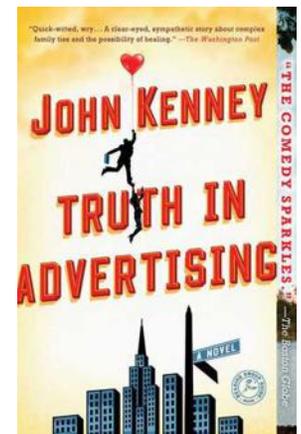

Rights sold:

Germany (Goldmann)

Holland (Link)

Film rights under option with Lynn Hendece and Bob Chartoff!

A wickedly funny, honest, and poignant debut novel in the spirit of Then We Came to the End and This Is Where I Leave You about the absurdity of corporate life, the complications of love, and the meaning of family.

Finbar Dolan is lost and lonely. Except he doesn't know it. Despite escaping his blue-collar Boston upbringing to carve out a mildly successful career at a Madison Avenue ad agency, he's a bit of a mess and closing in on forty. He's recently called off a wedding, and has just learned that his long-estranged and once-abusive father has fallen ill. It's a wake-up call for Fin to re-evaluate the choices he's made and finally tell the truth about his life and his past. First-time novelist John Kenney, regular humor contributor to The New Yorker, The New York Times, and The Los Angeles Times, mines his own advertising background to weave spot-on, compelling insider detail into a hilarious, insightful, at times sardonic, and ultimately moving debut.

John Kenney is has worked as a copywriter in New York City for seventeen years. He has also been a contributor to The New Yorker magazine since 1999.

Praise for TRUTH IN ADVERTISING:

"An honest and insightful novel about a business and a life that have both been anything but...Wonderfully entertaining and elegantly written."
– O Magazine

"A masterful blend of wit and seriousness, stunning in its honesty. A novel sure to appeal to fans of Nick Hornby."

– Booklist, STARRED REVIEW

"The protagonist, Finbar Dolan, is Don Draper stripped of all his glamour, success and pomade. What Fin, a midlevel copywriter, does have on Don is a sense of humor...Framed around a surprisingly sweet romance, as well as Fin's eventual confrontation with his painful family history, this debut offers a pleasing lightness-to-heart ratio."

– The New York Times

"Peppered with colorful impressions of New York City life, TRUTH IN ADVERTISING is a quick-witted, wry sendup of the advertising industry and corporate culture...Delivers a clear-eyed, sympathetic story about complex family ties and the possibility of healing." – Washington Post

"We're sold on Kenney's trenchant, quick-witted debut."

Film rights to MRS. QUEEN TAKES THE TRAIN have been optioned by The Weinstein Company!

Comic and poignant, fast-paced and clever, MRS. QUEEN TAKES THE TRAIN tweaks the pomp of the monarchy, going beneath its rigid formality to reveal the human heart of the woman at its center.

After decades of service and years of watching her family's troubles splashed across the tabloids, Britain's Queen is beginning to feel her age. An unexpected opportunity offers her relief: an impromptu visit to a place that holds happy memories—the former royal yacht, Britannia, now moored near Edinburgh. Hidden beneath a skull-emblazoned hoodie, the limber Elizabeth (thank goodness for yoga) walks out of Buckingham Palace and heads for King's Cross to catch a train to Scotland. But a colorful cast of royal attendants has discovered her missing.

In uneasy alliance, a lady-in-waiting, a butler, an equerry, a girl from the stables, a dresser, and a clerk from the shop that supplies Her Majesty's cheese set out to bring her back before her absence becomes a national scandal.

Praise for MRS. QUEEN TAKES THE TRAIN:

"[A] charmer of a first novel...This Elizabeth is delightful, slyly funny company. You'll never look at the real one the same way again." – People

"An affectionate, sympathetic but also unstinting look at the woman inside the sovereign." – Kirkus

"You'll come away thinking Her Majesty, at least this fictional one, charming, caring, thoughtful and brave...A delightful escape. We can only hope there are more train rides in Her Majesty's future." – USA Today

"This book is the perfect cup of tea for the year of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee. Give it to lovers of all things British. It's also a good bet for fans of Alexander McCall Smith." – Booklist

"A witty, contemporary story of the Downton Abbey-esque tensions between servants and employers, the young and the old, and tradition and modernity." – Glamour

Tucked away in an old barn, a wonderful secret waits to be discovered.

Adah and Ilse love visiting their grandmother's farm. There are baby chicks to tend to, dogs to play with, and tadpoles to catch! But best of all, there is a barn full of forgotten treasures to explore.

One rainy afternoon, Adah and Ilse find a beautiful golden birdcage hidden in the barn. Who did it belong to, they wonder? And what happened to the bird who loved inside?

Join Adah and Ilse on an adventure as they learn the story of a little bird named Uccellino.

Jessica Lange is an actress who has won two Oscars, three Emmys, five Golden Globes, and one SAG award. IT'S ABOUT A LITTLE BIRD is her first book.

Praise for IT'S ABOUT A LITTLE BIRD:

"[Jessica Lange] has produced a uniquely entertaining children's book called IT'S ABOUT A LITTLE BIRD. This book sat in my pile to review, and I loved it even before I noticed the byline that reads, 'Story and pictures by Jessica Lange.' The artwork and story are bright, fresh and different. Even my 7-year-old twins fell hard for this book—the girls, the grandma, the farm and the bird. They ask for it every night."

– Parents.com

"[T]he perfect bedtime story for little kids." – E! Online

"[A] lovely tale that's also beautiful to look at" – Huffington Post

"The artwork in this singularly beautiful children's book, featuring photos hand-tinted by the American Horror Story star, will captivate kids as will the tale of two girls who learn the family story behind an old birdcage."

GORGEOUS

By Paul Rudnick

US Publisher: Scholastic (World English rights)

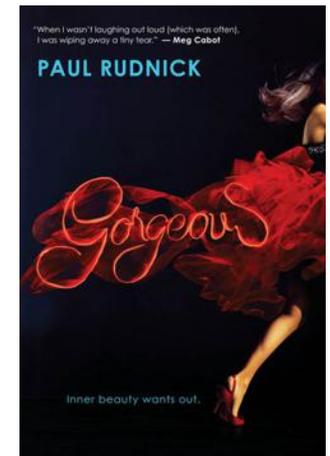

Published: May 2013

Rights sold:

Korea (Munhakdongne)

A screamingly defiant, hugely naughty, and impossibly fun free fall past catwalks, red carpets, and even the halls of Buckingham Palace!

Eighteen-year-old Becky Randle is an ordinary girl who receives an impossible offer. She meets Tom Kelly, the world's top designer, and he promises to create three dresses to transform her from a nothing-special girl into the Most Beautiful Woman Who Ever Lived.

Becky thinks Tom is a lunatic, or that he's producing a hidden camera show called World's Most Gullible Poor People. But she accepts, and she's remade as Rebecca. When Becky looks in the mirror, she sees herself -- an awkward mess of split ends and cankles. But when anyone else looks at Becky, they see pure five-alarm hotness.

Soon Rebecca is on the cover of Vogue and the new Hollywood darling. Then she meets Prince Gregory, heir to the British throne, and everything starts to crumble. Because Rebecca aside, Becky loves him. But to love her back, Gregory would have to look past the blinding Rebecca to see the real girl inside. And for that, there's not enough magic in the world.

Paul Rudnick is a frequent contributor to The New Yorker and Entertainment Weekly, as well as an Obie Award-winning playwright. GORGEOUS is his first young adult novel.

Praise for GORGEOUS:

"When I wasn't laughing out loud (which was often), I was wiping away a tiny tear." – Meg Cabot, bestselling author of *The Princess Diaries

"Paul Rudnick is a champion of truth and love and great wicked humor, whom we ignore at our peril." – David Sedaris, bestselling author of *Me Talk Pretty One Day

"Rudnick's first Y.A. novel is full of magic, snark, style, heart, and hilarity." – The Atlantic Wire

"[G]leefully wacky and irreverent...readers are treated to Rudnick's considerable talents as a satirist as he uproariously eviscerates our celebrity-mad, class-conscious, appearance-obsessed, reality-TV-vapid culture with puckish delight...a wicked good time, with moments both outlandish and touching. And as a summer beach read? Well, it's perfect."

– The New York Times Book Review

"Paul Rudnick's generous, open heart, scathing wit, encyclopedic knowledge of pop culture and droll humor are all in force in his latest creation, GORGEOUS, which is aptly named. I absolutely adored this book and snort-laughed through the entire thing. You will too."

– Melissa de la Cruz, bestselling author of the Blue Bloods series

"With writing that's hilarious, profane, and profound (often within a single sentence), Rudnick casts a knowing eye on our obsession with fame, brand names, and royalty to create a feel-good story about getting what you want without letting beauty blind you to what's real."

– Publishers Weekly, STARRED REVIEW

"Acute, wickedly funny observations on appearance and identity punctuate this sprawling, caustic fairy tale that cheerfully skewers the fashion and film worlds and their celebrity-culture spawn...A Cinderella story with a difference, Becky's journey to reconcile her inner household drudge and outer princess starts where most fairy tales end." – Kirkus
