

The #1 bestselling author of the international Princess sensation returns with a fifth book in the series in 2015.

Jean Sasson

PRINCESS: MORE SECRETS TO SHARE JEAN SASSON

Readers continue to be transfixed by the Princess's family dramas with her daughters (one of whom is a fundamentalist who wears a complete burqa, while the other of whom is gay and lives in London). Meanwhile, the Princess works with women's rights advocates trying to change the terrible lot of women in the Middle East.

- In this time of particular turbulence for Saudi and Middle Eastern women, readers are hungry for more.
- PRINCESS: A True Story of Life Behind the Veil (Morrow, 1992; Avon, 1993) sold to thirty countries, a bestseller in nearly all of them, and was a NYT bestseller for 13 weeks. In 2014, it was #2 on the New York Times list and #1 on the Wall Street Journal list after a very successful promotion.
- PRINCESS SULTANA'S DAUGHTERS (Doubleday, 1994; Dell, 1995) followed, which was also an international bestseller, and has been published in fifty-seven foreign editions.
- In 2000, the third book in the trilogy, PRINCESS SULTANA'S CIRCLE (Windsor-Brook), was published and sold over one million copies.
- The fourth book in the series, MORE TEARS TO CRY, introduced Sasson to a new generation of readers. It was published in 2014 and was an immediate hit.

Carol Rossetti

WOMEN
CAROL ROSSETTI

Carol Rossetti’s inspiring pictures of women have gone viral several times now. They were all over Tumblr; then more than a million people viewed them on BuzzFeed. These images have been featured in Cosmopolitan, The Huffington Post, and even on CNN. They have inspired women (and men!) worldwide and have brought fresh insights into their discussions about feminism, racism and other issues that women – in particular – confront every day.

Now, these images are going to be in a book, along with dozens of new images never seen before. This is a collection of illustrated affirmations for every woman who has ever felt judged.

“From height, to body size, to career path, to sexuality; we think Carol’s empowering take on certain social attitudes is something every woman should try to adopt. Aside from that – her drawings are bloody good.”

—Cosmopolitan UK

Carol Rossetti is an illustrator and graphic designer from Belo Horizonte, Brazil. Besides engaging in personal projects, she also runs a graphic design studio along with three friends. Carol is also a frenetic reader, cinema enthusiast and chocolate lover. She thinks cats are nice, but she’s very allergic to them, so she calls them “predators” and considers herself much more a “dog person.”
