Hardcover Picture Book
Juvenile Nonfiction / Biography &
Autobiography / Science &
Technology
10 in H | 10 in W

At nine years old, Eugenie Clark developed an unexpected passion for sharks after a visit to the Battery Park Aquarium in New York City. At the time, sharks were seen as mindless killing machines, but Eugenie knew better and set out to prove it. Despite many obstacles in her path, including trying to break into the scientific field as a woman, Eugenie was able to study the creatures she loved so much. From her many discoveries to the shark-related myths she dispelled, Eugenie's wide scientific contributions led to the well-earned nickname "Shark Lady," as she became a fixture in the world of ocean conservation and shark research.

Rae will do whatever it takes to win rodeo nationals, even if it means starving herself of friends, family...and food

Minus five / Will simply mean / Smaller / Leaner / Lighter

For Rae, winning rodeo nationals is about more than a love of riding her horse or the thrill of crushing the competition. It's a chance to feel close to her mother and honor her memory. But executing technical precision is mentally and physically demanding, and the weight of achieving—and maintaining—perfection is crushing her. She's not just terrified of losing her best friend and boyfriend...she's terrified to eat. And if she doesn't get help, Rae is going to lose more than just the people she loves. She's going to lose herself.

A gripping, emotional story of two brothers who must decide what's more important: family or their differences.

Oscar is misunderstood. Ever since his mother died, he's been disrespected and bullied by his family, and he seeks refuge in his art. Vance is a popular athlete and wishes his brother would just loosen up and be cool. It was hard enough to deal with their mother's death without Oscar getting all emotional. Vance just wants to throw himself into partying, to live.

But when their father's alcoholism sends him into liver failure, the two boys must come face-to-face with their demons—and each other—if they are going to survive an uncertain future.

All is fair in love and fandom in this debut from Wattpad superstar A.V. Geiger

Tessa Hart's agoraphobia means she doesn't interact with many people—except for the online fandom of pop sensation Eric Thorn. She knows it sounds crazy, but he's the only one who seems to understand her, even though they've never met...

Held prisoner by his contract and sick of his creepily obsessive fans, Eric creates a fake Twitter account to mess with one of his biggest followers, @TessaHeartsEric. Instead, they form a bond via Twitter that neither could have imagined. But when the two arrange to meet in real life, what should have made for the world's best episode of Catfish turns deadly.

There may only be one killer, but no one is innocent in this new thriller from Natasha Preston, author of The Cellar and Awake

When Mackenzie treks to a secluded cabin in the woods with six friends, she expects a fun weekend of partying, drinking, and hookups. But when they wake to find two of their own dead and covered in blood, it's clear there's a killer among them.

As the police try to unravel the case, Mackenzie launches her own investigation. Before long secrets start to emerge, revealing a sinister web of sins among the original seven friends. The killer is still free. Every one of them is a suspect. And Mackenzie starts to realize that no one is innocent...

In the captivating launch of this darkly lyrical fantasy series, Tea can raise the dead, but resurrection comes at a price...

When Tea accidentally resurrects her brother from the dead, she learns she is different from the other witches in her family. Her gift for necromancy means that she's a bone witch, a title that makes her feared and ostracized by her community. But Tea finds solace and guidance with an older, wiser bone witch, who takes Tea and her brother to another land for training.

In her new home, Tea puts all her energy into becoming an asha -- one who can wield elemental magic. But dark forces are approaching quickly, and in the face of danger, Tea will have to overcome her obstacles... and make a powerful choice.

The winning first book of a new fantasy duology perfect for fans of Sarah Maas and Leigh Bardugo

When gender fluid thief Sal steals a poster from a royal scribe advertising open auditions for The Left Hand, a powerful collection of the Queen's assassins named for the rings she wears—Ruby, Emerald, Amethyst, and Opal—their world changes.

But the audition is a fight to the death filled with shrewd circus acrobats, lethal apothecaries, and vicious ex-soldiers. A childhood as a common criminal hardly prepared Sal for this rigorous test, and especially not the etiquette-ruled world of the royal court.

Etler's intense, unforgettable memoir uncovers the lies behind Straight, Inc., a teen rehab facility that was supposed to give teens help. Instead, it gave them hell

All Cyndy wanted was to be loved and accepted. But by age fourteen, she had fought off her stepfather's sexual advances and escaped from her violent home, only to be reported as a runaway and sent to a drug rehab facility that changed her world.

To the public, Straight, Inc. was a place of recovery. But behind closed doors it was something else entirely, relying on bizarre and unethical methods to "treat" its patients. In her gritty and unflinching memoir, Cyndy recounts the horrific sixteen months she spent suffering sleep deprivation, physical abuse, and brainwashing as she was "healed" in this true account of a living nightmare.

Annie is running from her past and from grief, but is she ready to move on?

Annie hates running. No matter how far she jogs, she can't escape the guilt that if she hadn't broken up with her boyfriend, Kyle, he might still be alive. So to honor his memory, she starts preparing for the marathon he intended to run.

But the training is even more grueling than Annie could have imagined. Despite her coaching, she's at war with her body, her mind—and her heart. Her running partner, Jeremiah, cheers her on, but Annie grows more conflicted with every mile. For Annie, opening up to love again may be even more of a challenge than crossing the finish line.

Damaged. Deceptive. Dangerous. Darling. Are they labels or a warning? The answer could cost Sera everything.

Murder, justice, and revenge were so not a part of the plan when Sera set out on her senior camping trip. After all, hiking through the woods is supposed to be safe and uneventful.

Then one morning, the group wakes up groggy, confused, and with words scrawled on their wrists: Damaged. Deceptive. Dangerous. Darling. Their supplies? Destroyed. Half their group? Gone. Their chaperone? Unconscious. Worst of all, they find four dolls acting out a murder—dolls dressed just like them.

Suddenly it's clear ; they're being hunted. And with the only positive word on her wrist, Sera falls under suspicion...

Chloe's had the best six months of her entire life. It's too bad she can't remember anything about them...

Chloe didn't think about it much when she nodded off in study hall on that sleepy summer day. But when she wakes up, snow is on the ground and she can't remember the last six months of her life. Before, she'd been a mediocre student. Now, she's on track for valedictorian and being recruited by Ivy League schools. Before, she never had a chance with super jock Blake. Now he's her boyfriend. Before, she and Maggie were inseparable. Now her best friend won't speak to her.

What happened to her? And why can't she remember?

Keeping secrets ruined her life. But the truth might just kill her.

Piper Woods can't wait for the purgatory of senior year to end. She skirts the fringes of high school like a pro until the morning she finds a notebook with mutilated photographs and a list of student sins. She's sure the book is too gruesome to be true, until pretty, popular Stella dies after a sex-tape goes viral. Everyone's sure it's suicide, but Piper remembers Stella's name from the book and begins to suspect something much worse.

Drowning in secrets she doesn't want to keep, Piper's fears are confirmed when she receives an anonymous text message daring her to make things right. All she needs to do is choose a name, the name of someone who deserves to be punished...

A literary page-turner about a beloved college professor accused of murdering his entire family, and one small-town cop's dangerous search for answers

Thomas Huston, a beloved professor and bestselling author, is something of a local hero in the small Pennsylvania college town where he lives and teaches. So when Huston's wife and children are found brutally murdered in their home, the community reacts with shock and anger. Huston has also mysteriously disappeared, and suddenly, the town celebrity is suspect number one.

Sergeant Ryan DeMarco has secrets of his own, but he can't believe that a man he admired, a man he had considered a friend, could be capable of such a crime. Hoping to glean clues about Huston's mind-set, DeMarco delves into the professor's notes on his novel-in-progress. Soon, DeMarco doesn't know who to trust—and the more he uncovers about Huston's secret life, the more treacherous his search becomes.

In Depression-era Chicago, an aspiring radio star lands a role in a real-life murder mystery

It's October 1938, and radio is king. Vivian Witchell is determined to be a star, and with her new role in the popular detective serial The Darkness Knows, everything she's dreamed of is finally within her grasp. Until the night she steps into the employee lounge and stumbles upon the body of the station's most renowned—and most reviled—actress. Clutched in the dead woman's hand is a threatening letter indicating that Vivian could be the next victim. Suddenly, Vivian's biggest worry isn't remembering her lines—it's staying alive.

Contributor Bio: Cheryl Honigford has always loved old-time radio (and classic movies) and claims to have the nagging suspicion that she was born at least fifty years too late. She has a degree in journalism from Ohio State University and lives in northern Illinois with her husband and six-year-old daughter.

Book 2, Disturb Not the Dead, available October 2017!

In the second book in the well-received Viv & Charlie Mystery series, rising radio star Vivian Witchell once again stumbles upon a broadcast-worthy drama when she discovers a family secret that could tie her late father to the most notorious mob boss of the 1930s--and put Vivian and her family at risk.

The story of a mother and daughter following their dreams to fight cancer and change lives, one cookie at a time

When twenty-two-year-old Susan Stachler was diagnosed with cancer, her mother, Laura, was struck by déjà vu—the same illness that took her sister's life was now attacking her daughter.

Heartbroken but steadfast, Laura pledged to help Susan through the worst of her treatments, and when Laura's homemade ginger cookies soothed the side effects of Susan's chemo, both mother and daughter were inspired to start a business. Now, with Susansnaps, the duo sells their cancer-fighting cookies across the country.

Told with admirable grace and infinite hope, The Cookie Cure is about more than baked goods and cancer—it's about fighting for your life and for your dreams.

Contributor Bio: Susan and Laura Stachler are the founders of Susansnaps, a nationally recognized cookie company, and the founders of the Susan Carver Foundation, which donates gifts to patients in metro-Atlanta hospitals and treatment centers. A revealing study on the impact of humans' most primal behavior and the unexpected ways society affects our sex lives

Why do political leaders become entangled in so many sex scandals? How did the US military inadvertently help make San Francisco a mecca of gay culture? And what was the original purpose of vibrators? In this well-researched exploration of human sexuality, journalist Ross Benes bares all about the role of sex in shaping the seemingly innocuous and non-sexual aspects of our lives, from religion to politics to technology.

With hilarious wit, sharp insights, and a foreword by New York Times bestselling author A.J. Jacobs, The Sex Effect draws on all aspects of the social sciences, including history, psychology, religion, economics, and sociology, combining innovative research and analyses with captivating anecdotes to reveal just how much sex affects the world around us.

Contributor Bio: ROSS BENES has worked for Esquire and Deadspin. He's a journalist and researcher whose work has also appeared in the Wall Street Journal, New York Magazine, Rolling Stone, and Slate. A native of Brainard, Nebraska, he splits time between his home state and New York.

How to Make a French Family

A Memoir of Love, Food, and Faux Pas

Samantha Vérand

Summary:

When Samantha is given a second chance at love at the age of forty, she moves to southwestern France, thinking she's prepared for her new role in life as an instant American wife and stepmom. It turns out, though, that making a French family takes more than just good intentions and a quick lesson in croissant-baking.

Even while suffering from culture shock and struggling to communicate with and parent her ten-year-old stepson and thirteen-year-old stepdaughter in a culture drastically different from her own, Samantha is determined to adapt to her adopted homeland—because when love and a new life is on the line, giving up isn't an option.

Seven Letters from Paris

A Memoir

Samantha Vérand

Summary:

Twenty years, seven letters, and one long-lost love of a lifetime

At age 40, Samantha Vérand's life is falling apart—she's jobless, in debt, and feeling stuck...until she stumbles upon seven old love letters from Jean-Luc, the sexy Frenchman she'd met in Paris when she was 19. With a quick Google search, she finds him, and both are quick to realize that the passion they felt 20 years prior hasn't faded with time and distance.

Samantha knows that jetting off to France to reconnect with a man that she knew for only one sun-drenched, passion-filled day is crazy—but it's the kind of crazy she's been waiting for her whole life.

A group of friends learn life lessons through their love of the world's most popular sport—soccer!

As part of the Brookville Breakers soccer team, Makena James is used to winning big. Makena and her teammates have rocketed to the top of the league by playing fair, but when Skylar joins the team, everything changes. Skylar will do anything to win. And she's not afraid to break the rules, on and off the field, to make that happen.

Desperate for Skylar's approval, Makena finds herself getting into trouble just to be her friend. With a huge tournament ahead, will Makena be able to keep both Skylar and her soccer sisters happy without losing sight of what made soccer so great to begin with?

Hawthorn Creely is searching for the missing Lizzie Lovett, but she might just end up finding herself

Hawthorn Creely doesn't fit in, and that was before she inserted herself into a missing persons investigation. She doesn't mean to interfere, but Lizzie's disappearance is the most fascinating mystery their town has ever had. So Hawthorn comes up with her own theory for Lizzie's disappearance. To prove she's right, Hawthorn hunts for evidence by immersing herself in Lizzie's life. Taking the job and boyfriend of a missing person might seem kind of dangerous, but it may just be the push Hawthorn needs to find her own place in the world.

A vivid and mesmerizing novel about the extraordinary woman who married and worked with one of the greatest scientists in history

What secrets may have lurked in the shadows of Albert Einstein's fame? His first wife, Mileva "Mitza" Marić was more than the devoted mother of their three children—she was also a brilliant physicist in her own right, and her contributions to the special theory of relativity have been hotly debated for more than a century.

In 1896, the extraordinarily gifted Mileva is the only woman studying physics at an elite school in Zürich. There, she falls for charismatic fellow student Albert Einstein, who promises to treat her as an equal in both love and science. But as Albert's fame grows, so too does Mileva's worry that her light will be lost in her husband's shadow forever. A literary historical in the tradition of The Paris Wife and Mrs. Poe, The Other Einstein reveals a complicated partnership that is as fascinating as it is troubling.

For the first female Pinkerton detective, respect is hard to come by. Danger, however, is not.

In the tumultuous years of the Civil War, the streets of Chicago offer a woman mostly danger and ruin—unless that woman is Kate Warne. Descending into undercover operations, Kate is able to infiltrate the seedy side of the city in ways her fellow detectives can't. She's a seductress, an exotic foreign medium, a rich train passenger—all depending on the day and the robber, thief, or murderer she's been assigned to nab.

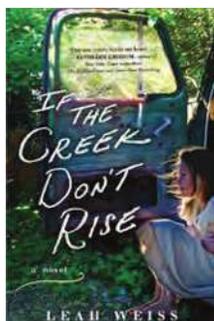

Inspired by the real story of Kate Warne, this spirited novel follows the detective's rise during one of the nation's greatest times of crisis, bringing to life a fiercely independent woman whose forgotten triumphs helped sway the fate of the country.

A strikingly sincere portrait of a town and its buried secrets from an outstanding new voice in southern fiction

In a North Carolina mountain town filled with moonshine and rotten husbands, Sadie Blue is only the latest girl to face a dead-end future at the mercy of a dangerous drunk. She's been married to Roy Tupkin for fifteen days, and she knows now that she should have listened to the folks who said he was trouble. But when a stranger sweeps in and knocks the world off-kilter for everyone in town, Sadie begins to think there might be more to life than being Roy's wife.

As stark and magnificent as Appalachia itself, If the Creek Don't Rise is a bold and beautifully layered debut about a dusty, desperate town finding the inner strength it needs to outrun its demons. The folks of Baines Creek will take you deep into the mountains with heart, honesty and homegrown grit.

In 1907 New York, a psychiatrist must prove her patient's innocence—or risk being implicated in a shocking murder

As one of the first women practicing in an advanced new field of psychiatry, Dr. Genevieve Summerford is used to forging her own path. But when one of her patients is arrested for murder—a murder Genevieve fears she may have unwittingly provoked—she is forced to seek help from an old acquaintance.

Desperate to clear her patient's name and relieve her own guilty conscience, Genevieve finds herself breaking all the rules she's tried so hard to live by. In her search for answers, Genevieve uncovers an astonishing secret that, should she reveal it, could spell disaster for those she cares about most. But if she lets her discovery remain hidden, she will almost certainly condemn her patient to the electric chair.

To stop the trafficking ring plaguing her city, Dr. Genevieve Summerford must dive deeper into New York's underworld than she's ever dared

In early 1900s New York, the formidable crime syndicate known as the Black Hand has been terrorizing the city's Italian colonies with bombings and kidnappings. When yet another Italian girl is found drowned and sexually defiled by members of Simon Shaw's boys' club, Dr. Genevieve Summerford suspects the organization has expanded into forced prostitution.

With help from Simon and the police department's Italian Squad, Genna follows the missing woman's trail into the foreign world of Italian Harlem, walking straight into the midst of a white slavery sex trafficking ring. But Genna never expected she would become so personally involved in the case...

Returning to beloved Scumble River, Skye Denison must crack the case to save her husband once more

Skye Denison-Boyd wishes she could click her ruby red high tops, chant "There's no place like home," and go back to life pre-tornado. With her house destroyed, her husband missing, and her baby on the way, the last thing she needs is a dead body among the rubble.

But that's exactly what she finds. Zeke Lyon, the mild-mannered bookkeeper, appears to have been a victim of the tornado--or was his death an accident at all? When Skye's husband goes missing, Skye is sure that his kidnapping is somehow connected to Zeke's murder, but will she be able to solve the case and find her husband before it's too late?

The first book in the new Scumble River series by New York Times bestselling author Denise Swanson reintroduces dedicated readers to their favorite characters, as well as providing an entry point for readers new to Swanson's work.

A beautiful and inspiring memoir about finding love and a home in a war zone

In this gripping and gorgeously lyrical memoir of marriage and motherhood, Stephanie Saldaña and her new husband, Frederic, set out to find a home in the most unlikely of places: Nablus Road, where the fractious sides of Palestinian and Israeli Jerusalem collide.

As the couple struggles with the decision to raise their sons in a neighborhood where violence is a daily occurrence, Frederic embarks on a spiritual journey that forces the family to redefine their lives, their love, and the place they call home. Refreshingly honest and inspirational, A Country Between shows us how love can pick up the broken pieces of our lives and make us feel whole.

Contributor Bio: STEPHANIE SALDAÑA received a B.A. from Middlebury College and has won several awards for her poetry. She lives in Jerusalem with her husband and children, and teaches at the Honors College for Liberal Arts and Sciences, a partnership of Bard College and Al-Quds University. She is the author of The Bread of Angels.

The Joy Plan : How I Took 30 Days to Stop Worrying, Quit Complaining, and Find Ridiculous Happiness

A thirty day guide to the science and spirituality of fostering joy

Kaia Roman has always been a high achiever, making plans to get what she wanted. But when the start-up company she co-founded crashed, she became a statistic—part of the 30% of entrepreneurs who are depressed, and even worse—she didn't have a plan for what to do next.

The first book to look at the concept of joy from a scientific perspective, The Joy Plan grew out of Kaia's sense of crushing failure and gave her a way to move forward with a 30-day plan to get her life back on track. This inspiring and highly relatable story shows us that the universal search for joy is much more attainable than many people think.

Contributor Bio: KAIA ROMAN has a twenty-year background in public relations and marketing. She is currently a Mindfulness Teacher for elementary schools students and a regular contributor to numerous mindfulness, happiness, and wellbeing blogs.

A gripping story of family and growing up in the vein of The Glass Castle and The Liars' Club

In 1976, three-week-old Kelly Carlisle's mother was strangled in downtown Los Angeles, leaving Kelly with her eccentric grandfather to grow up amongst the city's forgotten, living in the harbor with the drunks and downtrodden. Soon enough, Kelly begins to learn the thornier truths of her mother's story and her own family history. Now an adult, Kelly decides to return to where she came from, contacting the LAPD Cold Case division and discovering a possible connection to two of LA's most notorious killers.

We Are All Shipwrecks is a memoir of an unconventional childhood and a journey to understand that where you come from is not always who you are.

Contributor Bio: Kelly Carlisle's personal essays have appeared in the New England Review, Salon.com, Ploughshares, and more. She has a PhD in English from the University of Nebraska and lives with her family in Texas, where she is an assistant professor at Trinity University. Visit her on Twitter @ProfKGC.

Will she be strong enough to fight for what she wants?

CONTEMPORARY ROMANCE

A darkly possessive relationship has left Uma alone, afraid, and covered in the tattoos her abuser left on her skin. Now she's on the run, desperate to scour herself clear of his mark and escape before he can find her again.

Ex-convict Ivan Shifflett is a sucker for strays. So when Uma comes into town, Ivan can't help but be drawn to her obvious plight. Uma may not want to rely on anyone, but Ivan's gruff kindness and incredible strength could be exactly what she needs to let go of her dark past and find herself again.
