Andy Weir
November 2017
Rights: World

The bestselling author of The Martian returns with an irresistible new science-fiction thriller --a heist story set on the moon.

Jazz Bashara is a criminal.

Well, sort of. Life on Artemis, the first and only city on the moon, is tough if you're not a rich tourist or an eccentric billionaire. So smuggling in the occasional bit of harmless contraband barely counts, right? Not when you've got debts to pay and your job as a porter barely covers the rent.

Everything changes when Jazz sees the chance to commit the perfect crime, with a reward too lucrative to turn down. But pulling off the impossible is just the start of Jazz's problems, as she learns that she's stepped square into a conspiracy for control of Artemis itself--and that now, her only chance at survival lies in a gambit even more unlikely than the first.

Andy Weir built a career as a software engineer until the runaway success of his debut novel, The Martian, allowed him to write full-time. He is a lifelong space nerd and a devoted hobbyist of subjects such as relativistic physics, orbital mechanics, and the history of manned spaceflight.

THE LOST NIGHT

Andrea Bartz

February 2019

Rights: World

Journalist Andrea Bartz's psychological suspense novel The Lost Night, pitched as Luckiest Girl Alive meets HBO's GIRLS, revolves around a woman whose group of friends scatters after a tragic suicide at a labyrinthine "hipster" loft in Brooklyn in 2008.

Ten years later, a chance reunion between two of the surviving friends leads Lindsay, now 33 and well beyond the artistic, yearning hipster phase of her early 20s, to start questioning if there was more to her friend's death than the police concluded at time. This sets her off on a search through her old technology, her long-held assumptions, and the truth about her own past that she's been trying to outrun.

The Lost Night captures that incredibly singular time in a young person's life when she's on her own for the first time. Her new city is everything, and the world of friendship dramas and relationships feels so important and crucial and everlasting... and yet, of course, is impossible to sustain.

Andrea Bartz is a well-established freelance journalist and former editor at Glamour, Self, Martha Stewart, Fit Pregnancy, Psychology Today and Natural Health. She is the co-author of the 2010 nonfiction blog-to-book Stuff Hipsters Hate. <http://www.andreabartz.com/>

Ben Jones, protagonist of the glowingly reviewed Never-Open Desert Diner, returns in a devastatingly powerful literary crime novel about parenthood, loss, and the desert in the winter.

Winter has come to Highway 117, a remote road through the Utah desert trafficked only by oddballs, fugitives, and those looking to escape the world. With the help of his eccentric neighbors, Ben sets out to help the kid and learn the truth. ## THE GREY BASTARDS

Jonathan French

June 2018

Rights: World

The first of two books, a raucous, bawdy, blood-soaked adventure fantasy debut that's The Lord of the Rings reimagined by way of Sons of Anarchy--perfect for fans of Mark Lawrence, Joe Abercrombie, or Scott Lynch.

Jackal is proud to be a Grey Bastard, a member of a sworn brotherhood of half-orcs. Unloved and unwanted in civilized society, the Bastards eke out a hard life in the desolate no-man's-land called the Lots, protecting frail and noble human civilization from invading bands of vicious full-blooded orcs.

But as Jackal is soon to learn, his pride may be misplaced. Because a dark secret lies at the heart of the Bastards' existence--one that reveals a horrifying truth behind humanity's tenuous peace with the orcs, and exposes a grave danger on the horizon. On the heels of the ultimate betrayal, Jackal must scramble to stop a devastating invasion--even as he wonders where his true loyalties lie.

Publishers Weekly starred review:

★ “The hero and heroine of this lively, likeable tale cover a lot of territory and zigzag through a lot of history as they drive a Model A Ford through secret passages in time...a superior time-passer, a wonderfully amusing yarn.”

Nothing ever changes in Sanders. The town's still got a video store, for god's sake. So why doesn't Eli Teague want to leave?

Not that he'd ever admit it, but maybe he's been waiting—waiting for the traveler to come back. The one who's roared into his life twice before, pausing just long enough to drop tantalizing clues before disappearing in a cloud of gunfire and a squeal of tires. The one who's a walking anachronism, with her tricorne hat, flintlock rifle, and steampunked Model-A Ford. The one who's being pursued by...something.

So when the mysterious traveler finally reappears, Eli's determined that this time, he's going to get some answers. But his hunt soon yields far more than he bargained for, plunging him headlong into a dizzying world full of competing factions and figures straight out of legend.

THE DRAMA TEACHER

Koren Zailckas

April 2018

Rights: World

A twisty, compulsive new thriller featuring a deliciously devious unreliable narrator who will do anything to give her family a better life, by the New York Times bestselling author of Mother, Mother and Smashed. Gracie Mueller seems like an average person. Married, mother of two. Owns a house with her husband, Randy, in upstate New York. Life is balanced and (relatively) honest. But she has a lot to hide--she's not even a US citizen--and when Randy's failing career as a real estate agent makes finances tight, he leaves town for a better job, their home goes into foreclosure, and Gracie turns back to the creatively illegal lifestyle of her past to keep things afloat for her kids.

An expert in fake identities, she becomes Tracey Bueller, who later becomes Mariana DeFelice. She's an architect and designer, a musician and an actress. After a deadly stint upstate when a friend asks too many questions, she leaves town for New York City, finding her way into the best school in Manhattan for her kids, where she gets a job as the drama teacher. But as she struggles to keep her web of lies spun taut and her secrets hidden, more questions about her past are raised. She never intended to be a cheat, a liar, a thief, or a killer; she just can't afford for anyone to know what she's done.

Koren Zailckas is an internationally bestselling writer and has contributed to The Guardian, U.S. News & World Report, Glamour, Jane, and Seventeen magazine. She currently lives with her family in the Catskill Mountains of New York. The Drama Teacher is her second novel.

Rights: World English (Translation rights with Janklow & Nesbit)

Set in the 1950s, Lady Be Good is Amber Brock's mesmerizing return, sweeping readers into the life of the mischievous, status-obsessed daughter of a hotel magnate and into the charged cities of New York and Miami.

Kitty Tessler is the idle and mischievous only child of self-made hotel and nightclub magnate Nicolas Tessler. Like any good socialite, she spends her days shopping and her nights at one of her father's clubs. But the fun comes to an abrupt halt when her father issues an ultimatum: Kitty must marry his second-in-command, Andre, and take her place in his hotel empire. If she doesn't, her father will see to it that she makes her way up in the business the way he did-- cleaning rooms and doing laundry. Kitty is forced to come up with a wily and elaborate plan to protect her own ideas for the future, as well as to save her best friend, Henrietta Bancroft, from a doomed engagement: Kitty will steal Henrietta's fiancé, a fabulously wealthy but terribly unkind man of the Manhattan elite, securing her place on the social ladder and keeping her friend from a miserable marriage.

When Kitty meets Max, a member of a band visiting New York from her father's Miami club, her plans take a turn. Smitten, but still eager to convince her father of her commitment to Andre, Kitty and Hen follow Max, Andre, and the rest of the band back down to Miami. Though her feelings for Max deepen, her well-intended yet manipulative efforts backfire, and Kitty's forced to reconsider her choices and her future before she loses everyone she loves.

A FALSE REPORT

A True Story of Rape in America

T. Christian Miller and Ken Armstrong

February 2018

Rights: World

Two Pulitzer Prize-winning journalists tell the riveting true story of Marie, a teenager who was charged with lying about having been raped, and the detectives who followed a winding path to arrive at the truth.

On August 11, 2008, 18-year-old Marie reported that a masked man broke into her apartment near Seattle, Washington, and raped her. Confronted with inconsistencies in her story and the doubts of others, Marie broke down and said her story was a lie. Police charged Marie with false reporting.

More than two years later, Colorado detective Stacy Galbraith was assigned to investigate a case of sexual assault. Describing the attacker's calm and practiced demeanor to her husband that night, Galbraith learned that the case bore an eerie resemblance to a rape that had taken place months earlier in a nearby town.

She joined forces with the detective on that case, Edna Hendershot, and the two soon realize that they were dealing with a serial rapist: a man who photographed his victims, threatening to release the images online, and whose calculated steps to erase all physical evidence suggested he might be a soldier or a cop. Through meticulous police work the detectives would eventually connect the rapist to other attacks in Colorado- and beyond. A False Report is a serpentine tale of doubt, lies, and a hunt for justice, unveiling the disturbing reality of how sexual assault is investigated today--and the long history of skepticism toward rape victims.

T. Christian Miller joined ProPublica as a senior reporter in 2008. He worked for the Los Angeles Times, where he covered politics and wars, and was once kidnapped by leftist guerrillas in Colombia. Ken Armstrong also a reporter for ProPublica, previously wrote for The Marshall Project, the Seattle Times, and the Chicago Tribune. They have both been awarded numerous prizes, including the Pulitzer.

THE GIRL WHO SMILED BEADS

A Story of War and What Comes After

Clemantine Wamariya and Elizabeth Weil

April 2018

Rights: World

A riveting story of dislocation, survival, and the power of the imagination to save us.

Clemantine Wamariya was six years old when her mother and father began to speak in whispers, when neighbors began to disappear, and when she heard the loud, ugly sounds her brother said were 'thunder.' It was 1994, and in 100 days more than 800,000 people would be murdered in Rwanda and millions more displaced. Clemantine and her 15-year-old sister, Claire, ran and spent the next six years wandering through seven African countries searching for safety--hiding under beds, foraging for food, surviving and fleeing refugee camps, finding unexpected kindness, witnessing unimaginable cruelty. They did not know whether their parents were alive.

At age 12, Clemantine, along with Claire, was granted asylum in the United States--a chance to build a new life. Chicago was disorienting, filled with neon lights, antiseptic smells, endless concrete. Clemantine spoke five languages but almost no English, and had barely gone to school. Many people wanted to help--a family in the North Shore suburbs invited Clemantine to live with them as their daughter. Some saw her only as broken. They thought she needed, and wanted, to be saved. Meanwhile Claire, who had for so long protected and provided for Clemantine, found herself on a very different path, cleaning hotel rooms to support her three children.

Raw, urgent, yet disarmingly beautiful, The Girl Who Smiled Beads captures the true costs and aftershocks of war: what is forever lost, what can be repaired, the fragility and importance of memory, the faith that one can learn, again, to love oneself, even with deep scars.

Clemantine Wamariya is a storyteller, public speaker, social entrepreneur, and human rights advocate. Born in Kigali, Rwanda, displaced by conflict, Clemantine migrated throughout seven African countries as a child. At age 12, she was granted asylum in the United States and went on to receive a BA in comparative literature from Yale University. Clemantine now uses stories drawn from her experiences to catalyze change and create community. Elizabeth Weil is a contributing writer to the New York Times Magazine.

The Great American Story of Sneakers

Nicholas Smith

May 2018

Rights: World

A cultural history of sneakers, tracing the footprint of one of our most iconic fashions across sports, business, pop culture, and identity.

When the athletic shoe graduated from the beaches and croquet courts of the wealthy elite to streetwear ubiquity, its journey through the heart of American life was just getting started. In this rollicking narrative, Nicholas K. Smith carries us through the long 20th century as sneakers became the totem of subcultures from California skateboarders to New York rappers, the cause of gang violence and riots, the heart of a global economic controversy, the linchpin in a quest to turn big sports into big business, and the muse of high fashion. Studded with larger-than-life mavericks and unexpected visionaries--from genius rubber inventor, Charles Goodyear, to road-warrior huckster Chuck Taylor, to the feuding brothers who founded Adidas and Puma, to the track coach who changed the sport by pouring rubber in his wife's waffle iron---Kicks introduces us to the sneaker's surprisingly influential, enduring, and evolving legacy.

Nicholas Smith has worked as a reporter for the past ten years, covering a range of topics including stolen WWII art, melting glaciers, Austrian indie gamers, and the New York City mayoral election. ## DR. RUSH

Blood, Revolution, and the Secret History of “the American Hippocrates”

Stephen Fried

October 2018

Rights: World

The dynamic and unexpected story of one of our nation's most radical and influential Founding Fathers--and the only doctor to sign the Declaration of Independence.

In July 1776, 56 of the most noted American men to ever live put their quills to a dangerous piece of paper they called a Declaration of Independence. Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson were among their number, but so was Dr. Benjamin Rush. Rush, an army doctor and medical advisor to George Washington, was one of the document's youngest signatories--and in a list with lots of competition, also one of its most idealistic.

Rush's true brilliance was as a physician and scientist, but his provocative medical discoveries are only part of his legacy. Over his lifetime, Dr. Rush managed to be both a progressive thorn in the side of the American political establishment (he was a vocal opponent of the American slave trade and campaigned against capital punishment) and close friends with its most prominent leaders. He was the protégée of Franklin and a favorite of the nation's first three presidents--although his brash, impulsive style sometimes put him in hot water with them.

Drawing on a trove of archival materials (including voluminous correspondence between Rush and his better-known counterparts, and the physician's detailed personal writings), Stephen Fried resurrects the most significant Founding Father we've never heard of, and installs Dr. Rush in the pantheon of great American leaders.

Stephen Fried is an award-winning journalist and a New York Times bestselling author, and an adjunct professor at Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism. He is co-author, with Congressman Patrick J. Kennedy, of A Common Struggle. His own books include Appetite for America, Bitter Pills, and the essay collection Husbandry. A two-time winner of the National Magazine Award, Fried has written frequently for Vanity Fair, GQ, the Washington Post Magazine, Rolling Stone, Glamour, and Philadelphia magazine.

KING CON

The Bizarre Adventures of the Jazz Age's Greatest Imposter

Paul Willetts

August 2018

Rights: World

For Edgar LaPlante, a charming and charismatic vaudeville performer, the summer of 1923 was the prelude to one of the 20th century's most extraordinary adventures--an adventure that would require all his theatrical flair to deliver what would turn out to be the most demanding and lucrative performance of his life. To raise money for his fraudulent campaign to help starving children on Native American Indian reservations, LaPlante reinvented himself as a Cherokee warlord named Chief White Elk, touring small towns yet addressing enormous crowds, before decamping to Europe. As he made his way across the Continent, still in the character of Chief White Elk, he joined the fast-living expatriate set, befriendng F. Scott Fitzgerald and his troubled wife, Zelda.

All that extravagance drained LaPlante's resources--he needed his next mark. At a casino in Nice, he found her: a beautiful, exceptionally wealthy Austrian countess. Before long, they became lovers, and LaPlante conned her out of a chauffeur-driven limousine, a troop of servants, and the equivalent of $101 million in today's currency. They took a tour of Italy, and LaPlante's habit of tossing crisp bank notes from the windows of their limousine ensured that they attracted thousands of people, who had to be marshaled by the police. LaPlante cultivated a friendship with the Pope and the recently installed Italian fascist dictator, Benito Mussolini. Il Duce treated him like royalty, staging banquets and even a military procession in his honor. Most improbably, LaPlante managed to install himself as a delegate to the League of Nations.

But the whole charade reached an embarrassing conclusion in 1925 when the countess's stepson hired a private detective to investigate Chief White Elk. Eventually, after years of extreme luxury, the jig was up; LaPlante was imprisoned in the harshest jail in Rome. Yet he maintained the charade, even upon his release, refusing to remove the mask he had worn for so long, in spite of all the damning evidence. Meticulously researched yet imbued with novelistic verve, King Con is the bizarre story of a man whose life became his best performance.

London-based Paul Willetts has written several books to high acclaim in the U.K., and writes frequently for The Independent, The Guardian, The Daily Telegraph, and The Times Literary Supplement. King Con is his American debut.

THE RADICALS

Ryan McIlvain

February 2018

Rights: World English (Translation rights with Janklow & Nesbit)

An intimate, suspenseful, and provocative portrait of male friendship and its limits, and a timely exploration of class tensions and corporate exploitation in America.

When Eli first meets Sam Westergard, he is dazzled by his new friend's charisma, energy, and determined passion. Both graduate students at a university in New York City, the two young men bond over their idealism, their love of poetry, and their commitment to socialism, both in theory and in practice—this last taking the form of an organized protest against Soline, a giant energy company that is swindling innocent homeowners out of their savings. As an Occupy-like group begins to coalesce around them, Eli realizes that some of his fellow intellectuals are more deeply--and dangerously--devoted to the cause than others.

Meanwhile, as Sam begins a romantic relationship with Eli's ex-girlfriend (and fellow protester) Alex, their friendship gets complicated, as does Sam's engagement to Jen, a music student who is skeptical of their radicalism. As Eli and Sam begin to pursue the CEO of Soline personally, what started out as an academic debate becomes violently real

A fiercely intelligent, wonderfully human illustration of friendship, empathy, and compassion in the midst of political upheaval, Ryan McIlvain's new novel confirms him as one of our most talented and distinctive writers at work today.

Ryan McIlvain grew up in the Mormon Church and resigned his membership in his mid-20s. His writing has appeared in many journals, including The Paris Review. A former Stegner Fellow at Stanford, he currently lives with his wife in Los Angeles.

BEAUTIFUL ANIMALS

Lawrence Osborne

July 2017

Rights: World

"[A] startlingly good observer of privilege, noting the rites and rituals of the upper classes with unerring precision and an undercurrent of malice... Osborne has been described as an heir to Graham Greene, and he shares with Greene an interest in what might be called the moral thriller." – Katie Kitamura, *New York Times Book Review

"Let's not mince words. This is a great book. Truly difficult to put down, the novel exerts a sickening pull. Its climax and resolution will not disappoint. The social perspective is sophisticated, smart and uncomfortable, and the story is cracking."

– Lionel Shriver, *Washington Post

"A seductively menacing new thriller by Lawrence Osborne... who unites Graham Greene's fondness for foreign soil with Patricia Highsmith's fascination with the nastier coils of the human psyche... What makes Osborne's work so compelling is that it's ruthlessly unpredictable. This is one writer who knows that life, even on a rapturously lovely Greek island, is no day at the beach." – NPR's *Fresh Air

"Beautiful Animals is terrifically well constructed, written with mean authority, brilliantly evocative about place, successfully engaging us with its characters without ever requiring us to like them. A masterpiece of disaffection, all round." – Evening Standard (London)

BLACK-THROATED WIND

My Life and Crazy Times

John Perry Barlow

June 2018

Rights: World

John Perry Barlow wrote thirty songs for the Grateful Dead -- and that's just the start to a Zelig-like life that took him from a childhood as Wyoming ranching royalty to friendships with Neal Cassady, Steve Jobs, and JFK, Jr.

By any standard imaginable, John Perry Barlow has led a truly remarkable life. Black Throated Wind is the heartrendingly sad, hysterically funny, and often unbelievable yet always completely true story of a singular individual who has always pushed the edge of every envelope just as far as it would go while living his life to the fullest in the company of some of the most extraordinary public figures of our time. Referred to by more than one publication as "The Most Interesting Man In The World," Barlow has throughout his Zelig-like life maintained close and long-lasting relationships with such diverse cultural figures as Bob Weir, Jerry Garcia, Timothy Leary, John F. Kennedy, Jr., Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, Steve Jobs, and Gilberto Gil, the renowned Brazilian musician who also served as that country's minister of culture.

During his long and varied career, Barlow has written the lyrics to thirty songs by the Grateful Dead while also running his family's 22,000 acre cattle ranch in Cora, Wyoming. Despite being a freely self-confessed acidhead, he served as a campaign manager for Dick Cheney during his successful run for Congress from that state in 1978--the same year he hosted an 18-year-old JFK, Jr. at his ranch for some summer seasoning. Plunging into the world of computers when he was 42 years old, Barlow became a renowned internet guru who first defined the unique nature of cyberspace and then began vigorously defending the right for all to use it freely by cofounding the Electronic Freedom Foundation in 1990.

A brilliant thinker and writer, he has over the course of the past half century somehow managed to always be at the cutting edge of popular culture in both America and the world. And as impressive as his public accomplishments have been, the saga of Barlow's dramatic personal life reads like the story of a generation writ large. Blessed with an incredible sense of humor and a unique voice that comes right off the page, Barlow is a born storyteller in the great American tradition of Mark Twain and Will Rogers.

Lessons for an Uncertain Age

Richard Stengel; Preface by Nelson Mandela

March 2010

Now in paperback and with a new introduction by the author--a compact, profoundly inspiring book that captures the spirit of Nelson Mandela, distilling the South African leader's wisdom into fifteen vital life lessons.

Now more than ever, we long for heroes and have too few. Nelson Mandela, who died in 2013 at the age of ninety-five, is the closest thing the world has to a secular saint. He liberated a country from a system of violent prejudice and united oppressor and oppressed in a way that had never been done before. In these pages, Stengel recounts the moments when Mandela was tested and shares the wisdom he learned: why courage is more than the absence of fear, why we should keep our rivals close, why the answer is not always either/or but often "both," and more.

BIG POTENTIAL

How Transforming the Pursuit of Success Raises Our Achievement, Happiness, and Well-Being

Shawn Achor

February 2018

Rights: World

The bestselling author of The Happiness Advantage reveals why our potential is not limited by what we on our own can achieve; rather, our success is amplified by the successes of those around us. He offers five strategies for exponentially raising our achievement and performance by helping others – colleagues, teams, and employees – be better.

For decades, we have thought about potential as a being a constellation of individual traits: your creativity, your abilities, your intelligence. But new research shows that this version of potential – what Achor calls Small Potential – is deeply flawed, and places a ceiling on the level of success we can achieve. To lift this ceiling and reach new vistas in our careers, we must strive for Big Potential.

Big Potential works not in isolation, but rather as parts of an ecosystem: so that when we help those around us succeed, we not only raise the performance of the group, we also make ourselves better. Drawing on cutting-edge original research, as well as his work with executives, educators, and leaders around the globe, Achor shows how we all have the power to amplify our own potential by helping others realize theirs.

Shawn Achor has become one of the world's leading experts on the connection between happiness, success, and potential. His research on mindset made the cover of Harvard Business Review, and his TED Talk is one of the most popular of all time with almost 14 million views. He has lectured or worked with over a third of the Fortune 100 companies, as well as the Pentagon and the White House. He has now lectured in more than 50 countries; speaking to everyone from CEOs in China, to doctors in Dubai, to schoolchildren in South Africa. His Happiness Advantage training is one of the most successful corporate training programs in the world. His research has been published in the New York Times, WSJ, Harvard Business Review, Forbes, Fortune and more. He is the author of The Happiness Advantage and Before Happiness.

BLITZSCALING

The Lightning-Fast Path to Building Multi-Billion-Dollar Scaleups

Reid Hoffman and Chris Yeh

September 2018

Rights: World

For most of the world, "Silicon Valley" and "startup" might as well be synonymous. Yet explaining Silicon Valley's success at producing a disproportionate number of iconic companies by saying that the region's entrepreneurs are good at starting companies is deceptively incomplete. Simply starting a company is necessary but insufficient for creating massive value. To reap the full benefits, a region has to allow those startups to grow up into "scaleups." Silicon Valley accounts for only a small portion of the world's startups, and yet 46 percent of the world's most dominant technology companies come from Silicon Valley.

What truly sets Silicon Valley apart in its ability to support the growth of scaleups is not its fruitful research labs, or its supply of smart entrepreneurs and savvy venture capitalists (though technological innovation and human and financial capital are indeed necessary). It's the specific techniques those entrepreneurs and investors have learned to build dominant companies from those key ingredients. These techniques, while historically easiest to apply in Silicon Valley, are universal, and can work in any geography, and for any industry. The core secret is Blitzscaling: scaling up at such relentless and dizzying speed that knocks the competition right out of the water. Inspired by their popular class of the same name at Stanford Business School, Hoffman and Yeh offer companies and entrepreneurs a framework for Blitzscaling their way to massive value. Readers will learn how to design business models for igniting lightning-fast growth, strategies for hiring and managing at each stage at the company's life cycle, and how to weather the challenges that arise from the breakneck growth of their organization.

THE CREATIVE CURVE

How the Intersection of the Familiar and the Unknown Leads to Breakout Success

Allen Gannett

June 2018

Rights: World English (Translation rights with Levine Greenberg)

Marketing guru Allen Gannett overturns the mythology around creative genius, and reveals the real secret behind achieving commercial success -- striking the right balance between the unique and new, and the familiar.

We have been lied to about the source of creative genius. Most of us have been spoon-fed throughout our lives the notion that creativity is the province of a favored, brilliant few. And that moments of insight come to us in unpredictable fashion, in flashes of genius -- through our dreams, or in the shower, or in a sudden instant of divine inspiration. We are told about the young Mozart, whose genius effortlessly trumps the methodical and hardworking Salieri; or the inspiration for Paul McCartney's Yesterday, perhaps the most popular single in music history, which came to him full-blown upon waking up one morning; or R.K. Rowling's inspiration for the Harry Potter books, which came to her unbidden, while sitting on a delayed train bound for London.

In fact, recent research has shown there is a real science behind increasing the odds of commercial success, both in music, in writing that first breakout novel, in starting up a company or creating an effective marketing campaign. Psychologically, we are enticed by the novel and unfamiliar, which attracts us like honey to a bee; but when a song or idea is too novel, too strange, too far outside of our experience, instead of enticing us, we are held at bay. Because the other equally powerful drive in us in an uncertain world is for the safe and familiar. The key to achieving commercial success is to find that sweet spot between the novel and the familiar -- and that is what Allen, shows us how to do.

Only 24 years old, Allen Gannett is the founder and CEO of Trackmaven, a software analytics firm that helps marketers prove return on investment in advertising, and improve results. Its clients include Conde Nast, the New York Times, Martha Stewart Living, Microsoft, Honda, Marriott and many others. In addition, he is the CMO of Employ Insight, a company culture analytics platform. He was listed in Forbes magazine as one of the 30 under 30 in marketing for 2016.

THE MEANING REVOLUTION

The Power of Transcendent Leadership

Fred Kofman

May 2018

Rights: World

The vice president of leadership at LinkedIn claims that the biggest driver of motivation is the chance to serve a larger purpose beyond our careers and ourselves, rather than salary, benefits, bonuses, or other material incentives; companies that are able to successfully focus their people, their teams, and their culture around meaning outperform their competition.

Fred Kofman's approach to leadership has little to do with the standard practices taught in business school and traditional books. Bringing together economics and business theory, communications and conflict resolution, family counseling and mindfulness meditation, Kofman argues in The Meaning Revolution that our most deep-seated, unspoken, and universal anxiety stems from our fear that our life is being wasted--that the end of life will overtake us when our song is still unsung. Material incentives--salary and benefits--account for perhaps 15 percent of employees' motivation at work. The other 85 percent is driven by a need to belong, a feeling that what we do day in and day out makes a difference.

Kofman claims that transcendental leaders, wherever they are in the hierarchy, are able to put aside their self-interests and help others to feel connected with others on a team or in an organization on a great mission and part of an ennobling purpose. He argues that every organization involved in work that is nonviolent and non addictive has what he calls an "immortality project" at its core. And the challenge for leaders is to identify and expand on that core, to inspire all stakeholders to take part.

Fred Kofman is the vice president of executive development and leadership philosopher at LinkedIn, where he works with the top CEO's and executives around the world. He has taught management accounting and finance at MIT before forming his own consulting company, Axialent, and teaching leadership workshops for corporations such as General Motors, Chrysler, Shell, Microsoft, and Citibank. Sheryl Sandberg writes about him in her book Lean In, claiming Kofman "will transform the way you live and work." His first book, Conscious Business, published by a small press in 2006, has sold more than 100,000 copies, and has been lauded by Peter Senge and Ken Wilber.

ALPHA GIRLS

Julian Guthrie

March 2019

Rights: World (Polish rights sold by The Gersh Agency)

*Film and television rights were picked up by Welle Entertainment in an intense bidding war!

The treatment, promotion, and salaries of women in Silicon Valley is a hot topic, and with the political climate of our day, it is only bound to get hotter. How is it possible that this community with such forward looking technology, could have such backward gender relations?

Alpha Girls will dive into this mysterious, male-dominated world, going behind the scenes to reveal the history of Silicon Valley, from the women's point of view – something that has never been done in a narrative, novelistic style. To tell this inspiring, groundbreaking, true story, Julian will focus on a small group of self-made women who - outnumbered and underestimated - helped launch the modern computer industry, and are today renowned figures in the VC world of the Valley.

Alpha Girls will show these women taking enormous risks, playing by the men's rules, juggling work and family, all the while refusing to be limited by the expectations of others. These alpha girls – as well as men in the industry – are granting Julian incredible access to an otherwise closed community. Full of juicy details, big personalities, and a wonderful sense of place and time, Julian Guthrie will go behind the scenes at Facebook, Microsoft, McAfee, Google, Tesla, Trulia, Salesforce.com, Oracle, and more. Like Liar's Poker – which brought readers inside Wall Street during the 1980s – Alpha Girls will be the most intimate and revealing look yet at the inner workings of Silicon Valley, with enough big names, titillating details, rivalries, and deals won and lost to create a ton of buzz and lasting interest.

Julian Guthrie is a New York Times best-selling author. Her most recent book – How to Build a Spaceship (Penguin Press) – drew rave reviews, making several “best of” lists, and was a shortlist finalist for a PEN award. She spent 20 years at the San Francisco Chronicle, where she also won numerous awards and was nominated multiple times for a Pulitzer Prize. In addition to Spaceship, she is the author of two other nonfiction books: The Grace of Everyday Saints and The Billionaire and The Mechanic.

THE DISRUPTIVE POWER OF DE-COUPLING

Thales Teixeira

February 2019

Rights: World

A “big think” business/management book that presents general readers with a breathtaking interpretation of the strange new companies, products, and behaviors we see popping up all around us. It isn’t only technological breakthroughs that are causing disruption, as most people assume. Nor is it some new wave of entrepreneurial talent. It’s consumers. The secret logic underlying today’s business model innovations is actually the logic of us—our changing needs, our desires, our behavior.

Many people presume that only entrepreneurial, tech-savvy geniuses can master innovation, but that’s misguided. We, the non-technical society, can also build pioneering businesses or help the large, established companies we work for save their businesses against upstarts—if we know the recipes and how to apply them.

Thales Teixeira holds a Ph.D. in marketing from the University of Michigan. He earned a bachelor’s degree in business administration and master’s degree in statistics at the University of São Paulo, Brazil. Before joining Harvard Business School, Professor Teixeira was an independent quantitative marketing consultant to technology and financial services companies.

Now, after over two decades of practice as a naturopathic physician, Dr. Kellyann has perfected a powerful belly-slimming plan. With The 10-Day Belly Slimdown, you're going to blast your belly fat with a 10-day diet of shakes, smoothies, bone broth, and mini-meals. As you load up with fat-melting, detoxifying nutrients that cleanse and de-age your cells, you'll shift your metabolism into high gear, slashing insulin levels and becoming a fat-burning machine.

Each day you'll enjoy one protein shake; one green drink or a satisfying greens-and-bone-broth soup; one small meal composed of protein, fat, and non-starchy veggies; and three to four cups of nourishing bone broth. Dr. Kellyann will share 100 delicious new recipes, so you can succeed without sacrificing the foods you love.

Simultaneously, you're going to slim and sculpt your abs with exercises that will make that "pooch" disappear, and lower your levels of cortisol with meditation and journaling--because this stress hormone is one of the biggest reasons why you have that belly. At the end of the ten days, you'll be up to ten pounds lighter and a size smaller around your waist--and you will have dropped that belly fat for good, without ever feeling hungry or deprived.

Kellyann Petrucci, MS, ND, is a board-certified naturopathic physician and certified nutrition consultant. She did postgraduate work in Europe, studying naturopathic medicine in England and Switzerland. She is one of the few practitioners in the United States certified in biological medicine by the esteemed Dr. Thomas Rau of the Paracelsus Klinik Lustmuhle in Switzerland. Her previous books have been licensed to Narayana in Germany and Shueisha in Japan.

THE FAST FIX PLAN

Alan Christianson

January 2019

Rights: World

A new book from the author of The Adrenal Reset Diet. The Fast Fix Plan will be based around Dr. Alan Christianson's four-week plan, a fasting process that resets and cleanses the liver, which in turn can help readers lose weight, increase immune function and cognition, and even reverse diabetes. High blood sugar is caused by damage to the pancreas and liver, which is why some people still struggle with weight loss and lowering blood sugar, even if they cut out sugar and carbs.

Christianson uses intermittent fasting over a four-week period of time to cleanse the liver and reboot health and weight loss. His fasting is less extreme than many calorie restriction plans and produces the same overall health results. The program has been clinically proven to reverse diabetes and help people drop 15 pounds in as few as four weeks. Cleansing the liver two or three times a year using this fast will help readers reboot their system and result in improved long-term health. The book will include recipes, meal plans, a four-week exercise plan, and a maintenance chapter.

THE HEALING SELF

A Revolutionary Plan to Supercharge Your Immune System and Stay Well for Life

Deepak Chopra and Rudolph E. Tanzi

January 2018

Rights: World

Combining the best current medical knowledge with a new approach grounded in integrative medicine, Chopra and Tanzi offer a groundbreaking new model of healing and the healing system, one of the main mysteries in the mind-body connection. The Healing Self is a breakthrough book in self-care for a wide audience. Immunity—the body's ability to ward off disease—can no longer be taken for granted. From increased jet travel, allowing new mutated bacteria and viruses to have a worldwide reach, to MERSA and other antibiotic-resistant strains of bacteria that are outstripping new drugs to fight them, to an increase in deaths from hospital-acquired infections, to an aging population whose childhood vaccinations are losing their effectiveness, our well-being is at a dangerous crossroads.

Yet, Chopra and Tanzi, see hope and offer news ways of increasing the body's immune system by stimulating the brain and our genes, helping to reduce inflammation in the body and increasing our capacities to fight off illness and disease. In the brain, it has long believed that only the innate immune system is at work. However, the recent exciting discovery that the brain possesses a lymphatic system means that it is also tied into adaptive immune system (antibodies, T- and B-cells, etc). This knowledge can be used together with new facts about the gut microbiome to help reduce neuro-inflammation with changes in lifestyle, diet, and stress reduction.

SWEET POTATO SOUL

100 Easy, Healthy, Delicious Recipes for Vegan Soul Food

Jenne Claiborne

February 2018

Rights: World

Trade Paperback

Trim: 7-3/8 x 9-1/4

Illustrations: Recipes, 20-25 4-Color photos

Jenne Claiborne is an exciting young food and lifestyle blogger bringing a whole foods-oriented, healthy focus to vegan soul food--a shelf with only a few cookbooks available, all with uniformly solid sales.

Some people wonder how you can have soul food without the chitlins, fried chicken, and pork-stewed collard greens. Though Southern cooking and soul food are thought of as unhealthy, fattening and decadent, they actually have deep roots in fresh, local, plant-based lifestyles. And in her first cookbook, Sweet Potato Soul, Jenne Claiborne shows how to celebrate the cuisine's important roots while offering new ways to prepare 100 classic (and new!) dishes for optimal nutrition—and peace of mind.

Jenne explores the soul food narratives surrounding iconic and beloved recipes, as well as their nutritional benefits, and also brings to the table a meaningful personal story and mission as she shares her family's history with food and health. These recipes are delicious, familiar, and easy to make--thanks to Jenne's years of tweaking and experimentation—without sacrificing flavor, tradition, or soul: from decadent pound cakes and fluffy biscuits to smokey collard greens, deceptive “crab” cakes and the most comforting sweet potato pie you'll ever taste.

Jenne Claiborne is an NYC-based vegan personal chef, cooking instructor and the blogger behind Sweet Potato Soul. She studied at the Institute for Integrative Nutrition and founded the personal chef company, The Nourishing Vegan, whose clients include India Arie, Lucy Liu, Lululemon, Soho House, Whole Foods and many more. She has been featured in the Vegetarian Times, Shape.com, the Huffington Post, and Refinery29. She is also mediagenic and appears regularly on network television programs and she is particularly strong on Youtube, with 93,000 highly engaged subscribers. ## REAL MAGIC

Ancient Wisdom, Modern Science, and a Guide to the Secret Power of the Universe

Dean Radin

April 2018

Rights: World

The senior scientist at the Institute of Noetic Sciences (IONS) unlocks the secrets to developing supernormal mental powers, such as telepathy, clairvoyance, and precognition. Are such things possible? Science says yes!

According to Dean Radin, noted scientist and New York Times bestselling author, each of us possesses a secret power to create real magic in our lives. And we can do this through the development of certain psychic abilities. Radin has spent the last 30 years of his life conducting controlled experiments that prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that thoughts are things, that we can reach each other's minds, that intuition is more power than we ever suspected and that we can tap into the power of intention (think the Secret only on a more honest, effective, and scientific level). Tapping into these dormant powers can help us lead more interesting and fulfilling lives.

Beginning with a brief history of magic over the centuries (what was one person's magic 2,000 years ago is turning out to be scientific fact today), Radin offers a series of attention-training exercises (that's the key—developing, focus something elite athletes know a lot about) backed with top-notch research that helps readers to become more physically of themselves and the world around them.

Dean Radin is the author of Supernormal, which was licensed to the following publishers:

THE HAVING

Joo Yun (Joanne) Hong with Jung Il Lee

April 2019

Rights: World (Korean rights sold by the author)

When Wharton MBA Joanne Hong went seeking the true secret of creating wealth, she found herself studying under Suh Yoon Lee, a mysterious and famed Korean wealth guru. Here, Joanne shares the lessons she learned in this life-changing narrative that shows readers how to become truly wealthy, in the financial and spiritual sense by employing the "mentality of the rich," a practice refined over three decades of experience and classical teachings.

Suh Yoon Lee was identified as a wealth guru at the age of six by her grandmother, and set off on a course of study -- ranging from Asian classical texts to economics to an analysis of 100,000 case studies -- to learn the methods for how to become truly rich. Although a bestselling author in South Korea and famed advisor to the 1%, Suh Yoon Lee had retreated into seclusion, troubled by the impact her guidance to the wealthy may have had on income disparity around the world.

Joanne Hong, a journalist, Wharton MBA, and former McKinsey consultant, has devoted her adult life to understanding how to build personal wealth without an inheritance in an era of increasing inequality. She wrote to the guru for an interview, never expecting a response. Instead, the guru invited her to Lake Como, Italy, for a conversation. This invitation set off a life-changing lesson about how anyone can apply the true secret of wealth to their life.

In spectacular destinations ranging from Paris to Tokyo, this intimate narrative traces the growing friendship between these two women in a series of conversations that create a framework for the everyday person to experience the ease and comfort of wealth. A beautiful, empathetic woman, Suh Yoon Lee's counterintuitive guidance is premised on the notion that almost all people have the capacity to attain 1-3 million dollars--and some have a capacity for much more. And that journey begins with feeling what you already have.

As Joanne applies the guru's practical lessons in her everyday life, she experiences a transformation of her mood, fulfillment and, ultimately, her net worth--a transformation available to anyone who practices the system of Having.
