MARIE BENEDICT

THE ONLY WOMAN IN THE ROOM

Sourcebooks

January 2019

- She was beautiful. She was a genius. Could the world handle both?
- Page-turning historical fiction from the bestselling author of *The Other Einstein

Hedwig Kiesler possessed a stunning beauty.

This almost certainly saved her from the rising Nazi party and led to a marriage with an Austrian arms dealer.

She also possessed a stunning mind.

Underestimated, she overheard the Third Reich's plans while hosting dinners and parties for her husband, understanding more than anyone would guess. She devised a plan to flee Vienna in disguise from their castle, and the whirlwind escape landed her in Hollywood just days before the Nazis annexed Austria, where she became Hedy Lamarr, screen star.

But Hedy kept a secret even more shocking than her Jewish heritage or her marriage: she was a scientist. And she knew quite a bit about the enemy. She had an idea that might help the country in fighting the Nazis ...if anyone would listen to her.

Marie Benedict is a lawyer with more than ten years' experience as a litigator. She is also the bestselling author of The Other Einstein and Carnegie's Maid. She lives in Pittsburgh with her family.

ANNA BRIGHT

THE BEHOLDER

HarperTeen/HarperCollins
Summer 2019

- “Sparkles with beauty, intrigue, and romance. THE BEHOLDER will leave you clutching your poor heart and aching for the sequel.” – Kiera Cass, #1 New York Times bestselling author of The Selection series

As the Seneschal-elect or princess-to-be of Potomac, 18-year-old Selah's duty is to set an example for her people and marry young. Selah is happy to fulfill her responsibility—until her choice of consort turns her down at the very public Arbor Day ceremony.

Selah's rejection is the perfect excuse for her treacherous stepmother to send her away and seize power. With Selah's father too weak to step in, her stepmother forces her to set sail across the Atlantic on the Beholder with young, enigmatic Captain Andrew Lang in command, and an itinerary stacked with suitors. The message is clear: come home with a worthy husband or don't come home at all.

Throughout her journey, Selah finds much-needed camaraderie with the eclectic crew of the Beholder, though she often wonders if ferrying her across the sea is the ship's only mission. Selah soon realizes she's been set up to fail: her suitors all have thrones to inherit, too bound to their own countries to help lead hers. Marriage to any of them means abandoning Potomac—which Selah refuses to consider—until she meets Prince Torden of Norge. Fierce, disciplined, and unwaveringly faithful to his kingdom, Torden and his inseparable, unruly siblings help Selah discover confidence and courage she didn't know she possessed. And she can only hope that her newfound courage will help her make the hardest decision of her life.

Anna Bright lives in Washington, D.C., where she's an indie bookseller by day and an author by night. THE BEHOLDER is her first novel.

SEVENTH GRADE VS THE GALAXY

Carolrhoda Books/Lerner Publishing
February 2019

- The first book in a hilarious middle-grade trilogy sure to captivate kids who dream of a future in outer space, full of alien encounters, zero-gravity dodgeball, and everything in between
- Hitchhiker’s Guide to the Galaxy for Middle Graders!

The P.S.S. 118 is just your run-of-the-mill school. Except that it’s a rickety old public school spaceship in orbit around Jupiter. Which gets captured by aliens on the last day of school. And caught in the middle of a galaxy-spanning war. As thirteen-year-old Jack Graham puts it, “You know, usual summer vacation stuff.”

During the end-of-the-year assembly, the school is mysteriously attacked. Amidst the chaos, Jack receives a cryptic message from his father (the school’s recently-fired-for-tinkering-with-the-ship science teacher) and reluctantly follows it down to the engine room with his best friend, Ari, and his non-friend, Becka. There, Jack discovers that his dad has built humanity’s first light-speed engine—and given Jack voice control. To try and save the ship, Jack catapults the school hundreds of light-years away and right into the clutches of the first aliens humans have ever seen. School hasn’t just gotten out—it’s gone clear across the galaxy.

Over the course of the trilogy (with each seventh-grader serving as the hero of their own book), Jack, Ari, and Becka will have to use their brains, and (yes) brawn to dodge lasers, evil bureaucrats, and insubordinate robots as they whiz across the universe. They’ll quite literally have the fate of the entire human race on their awkward, adolescent shoulders. The trio has a lot to learn, namely that the galaxy is a pretty weird place—and that there are way worse things in the universe than going to school.

Joshua Levy is a lawyer and a former middle-school teacher. Josh lives near New York City with his wife and daughter, who he’s sure will get sorted into Gryffindor when the time comes. SEVENTH GRADE VS THE GALAXY is his debut novel.

Valerie Simons knows the gangs are dangerous—her little brother was shot and killed by the Boars two years ago. The depression that rocked her after he died has never fully left. But neither danger nor depression can sway Valerie from wanting to join the elite and beautiful Herons, and use their connections to find her brother’s killer. It doesn’t hurt that her best friend Matt is slated to become a leader within the Herons—and she’d follow Matt to the ends of the earth and back again.

But on her eighteenth birthday, Valerie is recruited by the mysterious Stags, not the Herons, throwing her into a world she can't predict. Her gang leader—the provocative and volatile Jax—promises to help her get revenge, and slowly Valerie’s wariness gives way to hope and determination.

That is until Matt breaks all the rules and asks her to help him end the Wars for good. Doing so means betraying the Stags—the Stags who have become her family.
