GENERAL FICTION

AN ANONYMOUS GIRL by Greer Hendricks and Sarah Pekkanen (St. Martin's Press, January 2019)

Comparison: Behind Closed Doors by B.A. Paris

Seeking women for a study on ethics and morality conducted by a preeminent psychiatrist. Generous compensation. Anonymity guaranteed. Desperate to earn money to cover her crush of bills, Jessica Farris sneaks into the study conducted by the mysterious Dr. Shields. It begins with words on a computer screen: Welcome, Subject 52. Then come the questions. But this is no ordinary survey. It's as if Dr. Shields is peering into Jess's mind and knows what she is thinking. And what she is hiding. Next comes an offer: Would you consider participating in real-life morality experiments? The compensation would be significantly higher... but significantly more would be asked of you. Soon Jess is being told what to wear and how to act as she is sent into bars and strangers' apartments to flirt with seemingly-random men and coax information out of specific women. As the assignments grow more menacing, Jess tries to quit—then she learns about a woman with whom she shares eerie similarities, and who was found dead on a park bench just a few months earlier: She was Subject 5.

SAVING MEGHAN by D. J. Palmer (St. Martin's Press, April 2019)

Comp: Lisa Gardner

Some would say Becky Gerard is a devoted mother and would do anything for her only child. Others claim she's obsessed and can't stop the vicious circle of finding a cure at her daughter's expense. Fifteen-year-old Meghan has been in and out of hospitals with a plague of unexplained illnesses. But when the ailments take a sharp turn, doctors intervene and immediately suspect Munchausen syndrome by proxy, a rare behavioral disorder where the primary caretaker, typically the mother, seeks medical help for made-up symptoms of a child. Is this what's going on? Or is there something even more sinister at hand?

SEVEN LETTERS by J.P. Monninger (St. Martin's Press, October 2019)

Comp: Nicholas Sparks

From the internationally bestselling author of The Map that Leads to You comes a sweeping romantic novel about love, family, and discovering the true meaning of home. The Blasket Islands are the heart of Ireland. Once populated with some of the most famous Irish writers, they are now abandoned, filled with nothing but wind and silence. Kate Moreton, a PhD student at Dartmouth, is in Ireland to research the history of the Blaskets, not to fall in love. She has a degree to finish and a life back in New Hampshire that she is reluctant to leave. But fall in love she does, with both the wild, windswept landscape and with Ozzie, an Irish-American fisherman with a troubled past who shares her deep, aching love for the land. Together, they begin to build a life on the rocky Irish coast. But when tragedy strikes, leading Kate on a desperate search through Europe, the limits of their love and faith in each other will be tested.

THE GIRL HE USED TO KNOW by Tracey Garvis Graves (St. Martin's Press, April 2019)Comp: Me Before You by Jojo Moyes

From the internationally bestselling author of On the Island comes a compelling, moving, and hopelessly romantic novel. Annika Rose has always been “different.” Sensory overload is a constant problem for her. She has a hard time reading people and feels lost in social situations. She’s a brilliant chess player but can’t pull together an outfit to save her life. In her last year of college, her only real friend is her roommate until Jonathan, a gorgeous transfer student, joins the chess club and is immediately captivated by the beautiful girl whose attention is completely transfixed on her game. Despite the challenges they face, the two fall in love and embark on a relationship. Jonathan is patient and understanding of Annika’s “quirks” and seems to like her just the way she is. Annika, in turn, finds the world less confusing and ominous when she’s with Jonathan. As graduation looms, they begin making plans for the future; but a tragic event forces them apart, shattering their connection and leaving them to navigate their lives alone. A decade later, a highly functioning Annika and a jaded Jonathan meet by accident and feel the tug of old feelings and the passionate attraction they once shared. Will they be able to pick up where they left off, or will time and old betrayals keep them from each other?

Praise: “No one does unexpected romance like Tracey Garvis Graves—and with her latest, Graves has bested even herself. Smart and sensitive, with wholly original characters you can’t help but root for, The Girl He Used to Know is unlike any book I’ve read. I loved every page.”—Camille Pagán, bestselling author of Life and Other Near-Death Experiences

THE SCENT KEEPER by Erica Bauermeister (St. Martin's Press, May 2019)Comp: The Snow Child by Eowyn Ivey

Emmeline lives with her father, John, on a remote, unpopulated island in the Pacific Northwest's middle passage. Brought there when she was a baby, Emmeline's past is a complete mystery to her, as is her father, who is obsessed with a collection of glass bottles that he keeps locked away. Each bottle holds a magical scent. With her father's help, Emmeline journeys into the scents and learns their stories. Day by day, month by month, John teaches her to use her keen sense of smell to survive. At night, he reads Emmeline fairy tales. Enchanted by both the magic of the scents as well as the fairy tale world her father's stories evoke, Emmeline dreams about the places she will one day travel. But then the idyllic world her father has created on the island begins to slip away. The scents in the bottles start to disappear, and her father's grasp on reality goes with them. The quest that follows will take Emmeline far from the island she knows, out into a world of love, betrayal, ambition, and revenge, each of which has its own smell. To understand her past, and figure out her future, Emmeline must put the missing pieces together and challenge the limits of her heart and imagination.

Praise: “Like the grand fairy tales it resembles, The Scent Keeper exists in a singular world, rich with redolent secrets, alluring landscapes, and most importantly, a steadfast heroine on a solitary quest. Erica Bauermeister’s Emmeline, facing the fleeting essence of identity, might also be kin to Jane Eyre. Heartbreaking, thrilling, and wonderfully instructive, this sensual novel is pure pleasure reading.”—Adrienne Harun, bestselling author of A Man Came Out of a Door in the Mountain

THINGS YOU SAVE IN A FIRE by Katherine Center (St. Martin's Press, August 2019)Comp: PS, I Love You by Cecelia Ahern

From the author of How to Walk Away comes a heartfelt, affecting new novel about life, love, and the true meaning of courage. Cassie Hanwell was born for emergencies. As one of the only female firefighters in her Texas firehouse, she's seen her fair share of them, and she's excellent at dealing with other people's tragedies. But when her estranged and ailing mother asks her to uproot her life and move to Boston, it's an emergency of a kind Cassie never anticipated. The tough, old-school Boston firehouse is as different from Cassie's old job as it could possibly be. Hazing, a lack of funding, and poor facilities mean that the firemen aren't exactly thrilled to have a woman on the crew, even one as competent and smart as Cassie. Except for the handsome rookie, who doesn't seem to mind having Cassie around. But she can't think about that. Because she doesn't fall in love. And because of the advice her old captain gave her: don't date firefighters. But as Cassie begins to feel her resolve slipping, she has to decide whether she is willing to jeopardize her place in a career where she's worked so hard to be taken seriously.

Praise: “Center’s characters . . . leap off the page with their unique voices, and their relationships evolve slowly and satisfyingly...A story about survival that is heartbreakingly honest and wryly funny, perfect for fans of Jojo Moyes and Elizabeth Berg.”—Kirkus Reviews (starred review) on How to Walk Away

SUNSET BEACH by Mary Kay Andrews (St. Martin's Press, May 2019)

Comp: Dorothea Benton Frank

A delightful new summer novel by the New York Times bestselling author of The High Tide Club. Drue Campbell's life and career have derailed. The only thing she has left is the house her mother left her: a ramshackle beach bungalow with a missing roof in the once-sleepy town of Sunset Beach. When Drue's larger-than-life father unexpectedly turns up at her mother's funeral and offers her a job at his law firm, Drue doesn't know whether to be grateful or resentful that he has suddenly reappeared. She grudgingly accepts the job sifting through cold callers and scam artists looking to get rich quick. But when her attention is caught by a suspicious murder case, Drue finds herself entangled in a decades-old mystery—one that may have dire consequences for Drue and the people she loves.

Praise: “Andrews creates a story that is at turns suspenseful, sad, and hopeful, with plenty of surprising twists. Her dialogue is natural and funny, and even her minor characters are fully drawn with unique voices...Another satisfying summer read from the queen of the beach.”—Kirkus Reviews on The High Tide Club

RED, WHITE, & ROYAL BLUE by Casey McQuiston (St. Martin's Griffin, June 2019)

Comp: The Royal We by Heather Cocks and Jessica Morgan

First Son Alex Claremont-Diaz is the closest thing to a prince this side of the Atlantic. With his intrepid sister and the vice president's genius granddaughter, they're the White House Trio, a beautiful millennial marketing strategy for his mother, President Ellen Claremont. International socialite duties do have downsides—namely, when photos of a confrontation with his longtime nemesis Prince Henry at a royal wedding leak to the tabloids and threaten American/British relations. The plan for damage control: staging a fake friendship between the First Son and the Prince. Alex is busy enough handling his mother's bloodthirsty opponents and his own political ambitions without an uptight royal slowing him down. But beneath Henry's Prince Charming veneer, there's a soft-hearted eccentric with a dry sense of humor and more than one ghost haunting him. As President Claremont kicks off her reelection bid, Alex finds himself hurtling into a secret relationship with Henry that could derail the campaign and upend two nations. And Henry throws everything into question for Alex, an impulsive, charming guy who thought he knew everything: What is worth the sacrifice? How do you do all the good you can do? And, most importantly, how will history remember you?

Praise: “By turns hilarious and angst-ridden, buoyant and strikingly real, this novel is a surefire bull's-eye for any devotee of classic romance, slow burn fanfiction, or heartfelt storytelling. A political love story too timely and too genuine to miss.”—Lyndsay Faye, internationally bestselling author of Jane Steele and The Gods of Gotham

CARNEGIE HILL by Jonathan Vatner (Thomas Dunne Books, August 2019)Comp: The Nest by Cynthia D'Aprix Sweeney

In this fresh debut about marriage, love, and fumbling one's way to honesty, thirty-three year old Penelope "Pepper" Bradford has no career, no passion and no children. Her intrusive parents still treat her like a child, and when they take a dislike to her fiancé Rick, an up-and-coming financier, it sends Pepper on a quest to figure out whether the marriage is really the right thing for her. She looks to her older neighbors in the building to help decide whether to stay with Rick, not realizing that their marriages are in crisis, too. To her surprise, Pepper's best model for love may be a clandestine romance between Caleb and Sergei, a porter and a doorman. Carnegie Hill is a belated-coming-of-age novel about sustaining a marriage—and knowing when to walk away.

Praise: “In Carnegie Hill, Jonathan Vatner’s array of terrifically drawn residents of a New York City co-op tackles race, homophobia, income disparity, and romance old and new. Readers of Cynthia Ozick and Amor Towles will love this witty and heartrending chronicle of modern manners. Through Vatner’s sharp evocation of present-day Manhattan, we pity the rich, admire the struggling, and root for them all.”—Bethany Ball, New York Times Editor’s Choice author of What to Do About the Solomans

A STRANGER ON THE BEACH by Michele Campbell (St. Martin’s Press, July 2019)Comp: The Woman in Cabin 10 by Ruth Ware

From the bestselling author of It’s Always the Husband comes an edge-of-your-seat story of passion and intrigue. Maggie’s spectacular new beach house was built for hosting expensive parties and vacationing with the family she thought she’d have; but her husband is lying to her and everything in her life is upside down. When Maggie sees a stranger outside of her house, and then when that same stranger shows up as a bartender at a party where Maggie and her husband have a very public fight, it doesn’t seem like anything out of the ordinary. As her marriage collapses around her and the lavish lifestyle she’s built for herself starts to crumble, Maggie turns to the stranger, Aiden, for comfort...and revenge. But after a brief and desperate fling, Aiden’s obsession with Maggie, her family, and her house grows more and more disturbing. And when Maggie’s husband goes missing, her life descends into a nightmare that leaves her accused of her own husband’s murder.

Praise: “Campbell’s skillful characterization and her shocking final twist make this follow-up to It’s Always the Husband well worthwhile.”—Booklist on She Was the Quiet One

BECAUSE YOU'RE MINE by Rea Frey (St. Martin's Griffin, August 2019)

Comp: Chevy Stevens

A child needs a mother most of all. But what happens if that mother disappears? Single mother Lee has the daily routine down to a science: shower in six minutes; cut food into perfect squares; never leave her autistic son, Mason, in someone else's care. She'll do anything—anything—to keep his carefully constructed world from falling apart. Do anything to keep him safe. But when her best friend Grace convinces her she needs a small break from motherhood to recharge her batteries, Lee gives in to a weekend trip. Surely forty-eight hours away from home won't hurt anyone? And Noah, Mason's handsome, bright, charismatic tutor—the first man in ages Lee's even noticed—is more than happy to stay with him. Forty-eight hours later, Lee is dead—leaving Grace as his guardian. But not all is as it seems. Noah may be more than who he claims to be. Grace has a secret—one that destroyed Lee the night of her fatal accident. And as the dominoes begin to fall and the past comes to light, perhaps it's a good thing Lee is gone after all.

FORGET YOU KNOW ME by Jessica Strawser (St. Martin's Press, February 2019)

Comp: Big Little Lies by Liane Moriarty

In her third novel, Jessica Strawser takes readers deep into the intimate friendship of two women and the distance, secrets, and lies that threaten to break them apart. Liza and Molly are life-long best friends—or at least they used to be. Ever since Liza moved to Chicago to pursue her career, leaving Molly behind in Cincinnati with a husband and two kids, the distance between their two lives has grown more and more insurmountable. In a last-ditch effort to save their friendship, they arrange a “girls night” over webcam, wine in hand, catching up like they used to. But when Molly runs upstairs to check on a crying toddler, Liza watches, horror-struck, as a masked man enters the home of her best friend. After calling the police, Liza frantically tries to reach Molly; but when she finally responds, her message is icy and terse, insisting that everything is fine. Liza is still convinced something is wrong—that her friend is in danger. But after an all-night drive to rescue her ends in a brutal confrontation, Liza is sure their friendship is over. Meanwhile Molly finds herself wondering whether she's dodged one ruinous mistake only to make another in its place. Did she sacrifice her oldest friendship to save her marriage? Or has she inadvertently sacrificed both? Liza and Molly can't avoid each other forever, and soon, they'll face a reckoning that will force them to decide just how much weight a shared history can carry.

HARNESSED LIGHTNING by Diana Biller (St. Martin's Griffin, October 2019)

Comp: Fiona Davis

It's 1875, and Alva Webster returns to New York to make a fresh start restoring Liefdehuis, a dilapidated Hyde Park mansion, and hopefully her reputation at the same time. Soon, though, stories of hauntings at Liefdehuis reach her, and an eccentric and brilliant professor, Samuel Moore, is begging her to let him investigate her ghost. Alva doesn't need any more complications in her life—especially not a handsome, convention-flouting, scandal-raising one like Sam, but though she is loath to admit it, he might be the only one who can help. Together, the two delve into the tragic secrets wreathing Alva's new home while Sam attempts to unlock Alva's history—and her heart. With a darkly Victorian Gothic flair and an intrepid and resilient heroine, this gorgeous debut is sure to delight readers.

Praise: “Take a Joanna Shupe Gilded Age romance, stir in a Simone St. James ghost story, add a pinch of Julia Quinn banter, and, voila! Sheer fun with a satisfying emotional conclusion.”—Lauren Willig, New York Times bestselling author of The English Wife

DAUGHTER OF MOLOKA'I by Alan Brennert (St. Martin's Press, February 2019)Comp: Before We Were Yours by Lisa Wingate

This is the highly anticipated sequel to Alan Brennert's acclaimed book club favorite and national bestseller, Moloka'i, which has sold over 550,000 copies. Daughter of Moloka'i tells the story of Ruth, the daughter that Rachel Kalama—quarantined for most of her life at the isolated leprosy settlement of Kalaupapa—was forced to give up at birth. It follows young Ruth from her arrival at the Kapi'olani Home for Girls in Honolulu, to her adoption by a Japanese couple who raise her on a farm in California, and her marriage and unjust internment at Manzanar Relocation Camp during World War II—and then, after the war, to the life-altering day when she receives a letter from a woman who says she is Ruth's birth mother, Rachel. Told in Brennert's vivid, evocative prose, conjuring up the beauty and history of both Hawaiian and Japanese cultures, this is the powerful and poignant tale of two women—different in some ways, similar in others—who never expected to meet, much less come to love one another.

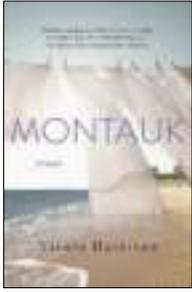

Praise: “Compellingly original...Brennert's compassion makes Rachel a memorable character, and his smooth storytelling vividly brings early twentieth-century Hawai'i to life.”—Publishers Weekly (starred review) on Moloka'i

MONTAUK by Nicola Harrison (St. Martin's Press, May 2019)

Comp: Beatriz Williams

Montauk opens in the summer of 1938 when all of high society is talking about a new summer vacation spot far out on the tip of Long Island. For three months, Montauk, a humble fishing village, will serve as the playground for New York City's wealthy elite. For Beatrice Bordeaux, a college-educated farm girl from rural Pennsylvania, her focus is reconnecting with her banker husband Harry. Instead, she'll be spending twelve weeks sequestered with other high society wives at The Montauk Manor—a two hundred room seaside hotel—while her husband dallies in his “extra-curricular activities.” As Bea drifts further from the Manhattanites and towards Montauk's natural beauty and community spirit, she finds herself drawn to a man nothing like her husband. Finally able to feel her original self emerging, Bea is alive once again. But those moments may be fleeting as fate conspires to tear her whole world apart.

Praise: “Nicola Harrison offers a rich and decadent peek into the glamorous—and not so glamorous—lives of pre-war Manhattan society. Beautifully written with an expert eye for historical detail, Montauk is both love story and social commentary, but at its heart it's the thought-provoking story of a woman with the courage to find her voice and inner strength. Heartbreaking and heartwarming, Montauk is a lovely book, meant to be savored.”—Karen White, New York Times bestselling author

KEEPING LUCY by T. Greenwood (St. Martin's Press, August 2019)

Comp: The Memory Keeper's Daughter by Kim Edwards

From the author of Rust & Stardust comes this heartbreaking story, inspired by true events, of how far one mother will go to protect her daughter. It is 1969, and when Ginny Richardson's daughter, Lucy, is born with Down Syndrome, she is sent away to Willowridge, a special school for the “feeble-minded.” Ginny's husband tries to convince her it is for the best and that they should try to move on. But two years later, when Ginny's best friend, Marsha, shows her a series of articles exposing Willowridge as a hell-on-earth—its squalid hallways filled with neglected children—Ginny knows she can't leave her daughter there. With Ginny's six-year-old son in tow, Ginny and Marsha drive to the school to see Lucy for themselves. What they find sets their course on a heart-racing journey across state lines as Ginny must test her own strength and fight for the right to keep her daughter.

THE WARTIME SISTERS by Lynda Cohen Loigman (St. Martin's Press, January 2019)

Comp: Lilac Girls by Martha Hall Kelly

Two estranged sisters, raised in Brooklyn and each burdened with her own shocking secret, are reunited at the Springfield, Massachusetts Armory in the early days of WWII. While one sister lives in relative ease on the bucolic armory campus as an officer's wife, the other arrives as a war widow and takes a position in the armory factories as a "soldier of production." Resentment festers between the two, and secrets are shattered when a mysterious figure from the past reemerges in their lives.

Praise: "Complex and intricately woven, The Wartime Sisters is truly everything I love in a novel. Beautifully written, rich in historical detail, and anchored by two strong women who must reconcile their past—and their secrets—in order to survive. BETHLEHEM by Karen Kelly (St. Martin's Press, July 2019)

Comp: Paula McLain

With the writing chops of Ian McEwan and the storytelling of Lisa Wingate, this "haunting debut" is about two intertwined families and the secrets they've kept buried during the steel boom in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. When a young woman arrives at her mother-in-law's intimidating but glorious gilded home, with her husband about to assume leadership of the family steel business, what greets her is not the happy household she expects. Instead, hallways hold whispered secrets, and allusions to tragedy haunt her and speak to a past she had no idea existed. Told in alternating time frames—1962 and the 1920s, when the true titans of Bethlehem Steel got their start—this is the story of what happens "when youthful joys fade and heartache takes hold...It is about how far mothers will go to protect their families, and how far wives can be pressed before they push back."

Praise: "Bethlehem has stories to tell, and even those stories carefully hidden generations ago eventually resurface. Mystery, first love, and long-held secrets fold together in this atmospheric tale of a family coming to a long overdue reckoning...and finding a way to rise from the aftermath."—Lisa Wingate, New York Times bestselling author of Before We Were Yours

JACKSON by Emily March (St. Martin's Mass Market, July 2019)

From the New York Times bestselling author of the long-running Eternity Springs series, this is the first in a brand new arc in that world set in Texas. Country music songwriter Jackson McBride believes he's living one of his own sorrowful ballads after his ex-wife wins sole custody of their young daughter. The recent inheritance of canyon land deep in the Texas Hill Country provides a welcome retreat to nurse his broken heart. Caroline Carruthers is nursing wounds of her own. On weekends, she flees to beautiful Enchanted Canyon looking for peace after the death of her husband. When she meets the whiskey-voiced songwriter, she never guesses that their new friendship will one day offer them both a second chance at their most cherished dreams.

GETTING HOT WITH THE SCOT by Melonie Johnson (St. Martin's Mass Market, May 2019)

The first of three fun and flirty contemporary romances publishing back-to-back-to-back. Cassie Crow leaves for vacation determined to have fun instead of obsessively checking her work email. And kissing a man in a castle who's dressed as a Scottish Highlander is the perfect solution. Except when that man turns out to be Logan Reid, the host of a popular sketch show—and Cassie has just been roped into his latest prank. She wants nothing to do with his antics, but it was a really great kiss and one night together couldn't hurt, right? Can the woman who's focused solely on her career and the man who refuses to take life seriously make it work?

A HIGHLANDER WALKS INTO A BAR by Laura Trentham (St. Martin's Mass Market, August 2019)

In this first in a new contemporary series, Laura is taking her trademark small town sass and adding a dash of Scots, setting the books in fictional Highland, Georgia, known for its annual Highland festival complete with kilts, southern food, and of course sexy highlanders! Every year, Isabel Buchanan and her mother host the Highland Games festival on the family estate, Stonehaven. But this year, her mother keeps getting distracted—ever since she returned from a two-week trip to Scotland with a six-foot tall, very handsome souvenir. Alasdair Blackmoor has been tasked with rounding up his wayward uncle, Gareth, and returning him to his duties as ninth Earl of Cairndow. But in Georgia, Alasdair feels like he's stepped into another world, and the fiery, funny Isabel fascinates him. As the festival approaches, Alasdair carves himself a place in Highland, but it's the woman at the center of it that feels like home. But when the two Scots' lies about their true identities are revealed, they'll have to use all of their charm to win back the Southern women who have ensnared their hearts.

Praise: “Hot and sweet...Fans of Kristan Higgins and Susan Mallery will love the immersive world that Trentham has created.”—Booklist on When the Stars Come Out

HIGHLAND CROWN by May McGoldrick (St. Martin's Mass Market, April 2019)

Three-time RITA® finalists, writing duo Jim and Nikoo McGoldrick have won numerous awards for their historical romances under the name May McGoldrick. Now, St. Martin's Press is pleased to publish a new series from the pair filled with Scottish pride, persuasion, and passion—this is Highland romance at its breathtaking best. Inverness, 1820. Perched on the North Sea, this port town—by turns legendary and mythological—is a place where Highland rebels and English authorities clash in a mortal struggle for survival and dominance. Into this dynamic setting comes a woman from the shadows and a man who pursues her. Cast from his home as a child, Cinaed is a fierce soul whose allegiance is only to himself...until Isabella saved his life—and added more risk to her own. Now, the only way Cinaed can keep her safe to seek refuge at Dalmigavie Castle, the Mackintosh family seat. But when the scandalous truth of his past comes out, any chance of Cinaed having a bright future with Isabella is thrown into complete darkness.

THE EARL NEXT DOOR by Amelia Grey (St. Martin's Mass Market, June 2019)

This is the first in a new Regency series from bestseller Amelia Grey featuring three independent young widows refusing to settle down. After the death of her husband, Adeline, Dowager Countess of Wake, has no need or desire to marry again. With the help of two widowed friends, Adeline starts a school for disadvantaged girls and rebuilds her life. Until she meets the dashing future Earl of Marksworth. Lyon will one day be the Earl of Marksworth, but he will not be like his father. Lyon wants passion, enjoyment and fulfillment from a wife. When he meets Adeline, Lyon believes he has found his match. But Adeline is only willing to be his lover—exactly what he doesn't want.

HOW TO LOVE A DUKE IN TEN DAYS by Kerrigan Byrne (St. Martin’s Mass Market, September 2019)

Kerrigan Byrne’s debut historical romance series, the Victorian Rebels, garnered universal acclaim with every one of the six books receiving a starred Publishers Weekly review among other starred trade reviews and award recognitions; the last book The Duke with the Dragon Tattoo made Byrne a USA Today bestseller. Now, she returns with a new Victorian historical trilogy featuring three young women who meet at a boarding school for wealthy young heiresses and bond over their dreams of higher education and a shared physical trait: red hair. When one of the girls is attacked by a teacher at the school, the Red Rogues work together to dispatch him and take an oath to never become the property of any man. But their fervent promise to remain unmarried bluestockings is hopelessly doomed by three extraordinary men.

Praise: “From the novel’s incisively etched characters, including an über-alpha hero with secrets to spare, to the bone-melting sensuality that characterizes the hero and heroine’s romantic relationship, everything about this deliciously dark and dangerous historical romance is done to perfection.”—Booklist (starred review) on The Duke with the Dragon Tattoo

NO OTHER DUKE BUT YOU by Valerie Bowman (St. Martin’s Mass Market, May 2019)

In the next in the beloved Playful Brides series, Lady Delilah Montebank has her marital sights set on the Duke of Harlow and a plan to win him over with a love potion. Delilah can’t imagine there’s actual truth to the magic, but some liquid luck couldn’t hurt. Lord Thomas Hobbs, Duke of Huntley, thinks his best friend Delilah’s quest to become a Duchess is ridiculous. And now she’s got the notion that a love potion might help her. He knows the concoction can’t possibly win over the Duke of Harlow. Because she might have accidentally given it to him instead. Delilah can’t believe she gave the potion to the wrong duke—but perhaps the right Duke was in front of her all along.

Praise: “Readers are sure to be enthralled by the power of the chemistry between two strong-willed characters whose clash of wills explodes in heated love scenes. The novel is enhanced with intricate plotting of a murder mystery, intriguing flashbacks and witty dialogue that fuels the battle of wills.”—RT Book Reviews, Top Pick, on A Duke Like No Other

ROGUE MOST WANTED by Janna MacGregor (St. Martin's Mass Market, July 2019)

Janna MacGregor burst on the historical romance scene with The Bad Luck Bride, one of Booklist's Best Romance Debuts of 2017, and continues that momentum with this fifth Cavensham Heiresses novel! Miss Theodora Worth needs to marry fast in order to keep her family land. But as a woman raised in isolation, she's never tried to woo a man before. She'll need a little matchmaking help from her sprightly next-door neighbor. Lord William Cavensham vowed to never love again after his heart was broken. But his spirited Great Aunt Stella has demanded he marry, or he'll not inherit from her. And she's got just the woman in mind—her next-door neighbor, Thea. Thea and Will agree there's no sense in truly marrying each other. But they agree to fake an engagement as Will helps Thea find a husband. But soon Will believes Thea might be the one to mend his broken heart. And Will may be the rogue Thea wants the most after all.

THE DUKE IS BUT A DREAM by Anna Bennett (St. Martin's Mass Market, August 2019)

From the author of the Regency-set Wayward Wallflowers trilogy, this is the second in the sensational, historical Debutante Diaries series. Miss Lily Hartley is mastermind behind society's obsession: the Debutante's Revenge, an advice column to young ladies. She dresses as a boy to deliver her columns to the newspaper—until a near accident leaves her injured in the streets. Eric Knight, Duke of Ravenport, runs to save a lad from a street accident—only to realize the lad is a woman. A woman who, in the accident, has forgotten her name. He insists Lily stay at his estate until he finds her family—but he's quickly falling in love with her. Lily knows her name, but she can't tell the Duke she's the writer behind the column. So she'll fake her memory loss until she can figure out a plan. But love has other ideas.

MYSTERIES/THRILLERS/ADVENTURE/HORRORDARK SITE by Patrick Lee (Minotaur Books, May 2019)

Comp: Lee Child

On an otherwise normal morning, former Special Forces operative Sam Dryden is the target of an unsuccessful attempted abduction. Using his attacker's cellphone, he learns that a woman named Danica Ellis is also being targeted and is able to save her from the assault team sent after her. But neither of them know the other or have any idea why they are being targeted. The only clue is a heavily redacted, official-looking document given to Danica by her stepfather before he was killed. Dryden immediately recognizes it as a 'scrub file'—a record of what a subject knew before their memories were chemically destroyed. The redacted document refers to witnesses to a secret military site in Ashland, Nebraska in 1989. Both Dryden and Danica Ellis lived in Ashland in 1989, when they were both twelve years old, though neither of them has any memory of the other. Switching back and forth between the present day, when Dryden and Danica try to elude the forces that are after them, and the past in Ashland, Nebraska, when both make a discovery that forever changes their lives, this latest Sam Dryden thriller proves yet again that Patrick Lee is one of the most original, compelling thriller writers today.

RULES OF ENGAGEMENT by David Bruns and J. R. Olson (St. Martin's Press, June 2019)

Comp: Brad Taylor

Exiled terrorist Rafiq Roshed, currently in the service of North Korea, develops and unleashes a plan to exploit the tensions in the Pacific Rim between China, Japan, and the American Navy in order to start a shooting war. His weapon is a computer virus that takes over the military computers and "learns"—launching a series of attacks that forces the opposing force to respond and escalate. The virus first takes over the Chinese military computers, forcing the Chinese war machine to launch a series of attacks on the U.S. Pacific forces. Meanwhile, the CIA's cyber analysts learn that the same virus has infected the network of the Pacific Fleet. As the war turns hot and casualties mount, there's only one way to stop a rapid escalation into World War III—a trio of young but supremely gifted midshipmen from the U.S. Naval Academy who must track down the program at its source and guide a special operations team to the base of the terrorist controlling it all.

Praise: "A captivating and utterly authentic portrayal of modern day combat that compares with the best of the timeless classics by Tom Clancy, Dale Brown, and Stephen Coonts. With Jasper Moore, the boy who attacked her when she was only sixteen, finally caught and in prison, Dr. Evelyn Talbot, founder and head psychiatrist at Hanover House in remote Alaska, believes she can finally stop looking over her shoulder. She's safe, happier than she's ever been and expecting her first child. She's also planning to marry Amarok, her Alaska State Trooper boyfriend and the town's only police presence. But before the wedding can take place, a psychopath from the much more recent past comes out of nowhere and kidnaps her in broad daylight. Instead of planning her wedding, Evelyn finds herself doing everything she can to survive, save her baby, and devise some way to escape—while Amarok races the clock to find her before it's too late.

Praise: “Three-dimensional characters, insightful psychological detail, and descriptions so vivid that the bleak cold of an Alaska winter practically seeps from the pages combine in a page-turner that is more suspense than romance but is sure to appeal across the board. THE STORIES YOU TELL by Kristen Lepionka (Minotaur Books, July 2019)Comp: Pretty Girls by Karin Slaughter

In this third installment in the Shamus Award winning and Anthony and Macavity Award-nominated Roxane Weary series, Roxane's case hits close to home when her brother is implicated in the disappearance of a young woman. A late-night phone call is never good news, especially when you're Roxane Weary. This one is from her brother Andrew whose evening was interrupted by a visit from Addison, a hip young DJ he knows from the hotel bar where he works. She was drunk, bloody, and hysterical, but she wouldn't say what was wrong. After using his phone, she left as quickly as she appeared, and Andrew is worried. But another late-night call occurs as well: Addison's father calls the police after getting a panicked voicemail from his daughter. The only thing he could understand is the address she gave in the message—Andrew's. Before long, the police are asking Andrew why there's blood in his apartment and what he did to Addison. Meanwhile, another cop is found dead on the opposite side of town, leading to a swirl of questions surrounding a dance club whose staff—which includes Addison—has suddenly gone AWOL.

Love This is the next enthralling, atmospheric novel in the Gemma Monroe mystery series. On a bright Saturday in early spring, Detective Gemma Monroe responds to a missing person call at Lost Lake near the small town of Cedar Valley, Colorado. With its sapphire waters and abundance of wildflowers, the lake is a popular camping destination in the summer. But for now, ice still grips the lake and snow buries the flowers. When Gemma arrives at the shore, she meets three friends who have been camping there: the fourth of their group, Sari Chesney, has disappeared during the night without a trace. Sari is an assistant curator at the local museum, which is set to host a gala that night—a project she's worked on for months and would never intentionally miss. As Gemma begins to understand the complex dynamics of the supposedly close-knit friendship group, she realizes that more than one person is lying to her—and that the beautiful, still waters of Lost Lake may hide more terrible secrets.

A QUIVER FULL OF BONES by Paula Munier (Minotaur Books, Fall 2019)

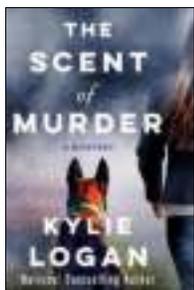

Comp: Alex Kava

Former Army MP Mercy Carr and retired bomb-sniffing dog Elvis are back in the page-turning sequel to the acclaimed A Borrowing of Bones. It's October—hunting season in the Green Mountains—and the Vermont wilderness has never been more beautiful or more dangerous. Especially for ten-year-old Henry, who's lost in the woods. Again. Only this time he sees something terrible. When a young woman is found shot through the heart with a fatal arrow, Mercy thinks what he has seen is murder. But Henry, a math genius whose autism often silences him when he should speak up most, is not talking. Now there's a murderer hiding among the hunters in the forest—and Mercy and Elvis must team up with their crime-solving pals, game warden Troy Warner and search-and-rescue dog Susie Bear, to find the killer—before the killer finds Henry. When an early season blizzard hits the mountains, cutting them off from the rest of the world, the race is on to solve the crime, apprehend the murderer, and keep the boy safe until the snow plows get through. Inspired by the true search-and-rescue case of an autistic boy who got lost in the Vermont wilderness, A Quiver Full of Bones is a compelling roller-coaster of a ride through the worst of winter—and human nature.

London, 1946. In a city still recovering from the recent world war, two very different women join forces to launch a business venture in the heart of Mayfair—The Right Sort Marriage Bureau. Miss Iris Sparks, avuncular and unmarried, and Mrs. Gwendolyn Bainbridge, practical and widowed with a young son, are determined to achieve some independence and do some good in a rapidly changing world. But the promising start to their marriage bureau is threatened when their newest client, Tillie La Salle, is found murdered, and the man arrested for the crime is one Dickie Trower, the prospective husband they matched her with. While the police are convinced they have their man, Miss Sparks and Mrs. Bainbridge are not. To clear Trower's name—and to rescue their fledgling operation's reputation—Sparks and Bainbridge decide to investigate on their own, using the skills and contacts they've each acquired through life and their individual adventures during the recent war. In this charming, compelling debut, Allison Montclair blends meticulous research with two brilliantly imagined main characters into the first in a wonderful new series.

LAST TANGO IN CYBERSPACE by Steven Kotler (St. Martin's Press, May 2019)

Hard to say when the human species fractured exactly. Harder to say when this new talent arrived. But Lion Zorn is the first of his kind—an empathy tracker, an emotional soothsayer, with a felt sense for the future of the we. In simpler terms, he can spot cultural shifts and trends before they happen. It's a useful skill for a certain kind of company. Arctic Pharmaceuticals is that kind of company. But when a routine em-tracking job leads to the discovery of a gruesome murder, Lion finds himself neck-deep in a world of eco-assassins, soul hackers and consciousness terrorists. But what the man really needs is a nap. A unique blend of cutting-edge technology and traditional cyberpunk, Last Tango in Cyberspace will appeal to readers of William Gibson and Neal Stephenson.

Praise: "A hardboiled tour-de-force, Kotler's Last Tango blends sparkling prose, compelling characters, and underline-able insights into a gritty sci-fi epic that balances at the precipice of light and dark."—Neil Strauss, nine-time New York Times bestselling author

YOUNG ADULT/TEEN

THE DYSASTERS by P.C. Cast and Kristin Cast (Wednesday Books, February 2019)

P.C. and Kristin Cast, the #1 New York Times bestselling authors of the House of Night phenomenon, introduce the first action-packed novel in a new paranormal fantasy series. Foster Stewart doesn't live a "normal" life; controlling cloud formations and seeing airwaves aren't things most eighteen-year-olds can do. Quintessential, dreamy boy-next-door, Tate "Nighthawk" Taylor has never thought much about his extra abilities. But from the moment Foster and Tate collide, their worlds spiral and a deadly tornado forces them to work together, fully awakening their not-so-natural ability—the power to control air. As they each deal with the tragic loss of loved ones, they're caught by another devastating blow—they are the first in a group of teens genetically manipulated before birth to bond with the elements, and worse...they're being hunted. In this new superhero multiverse, the Cast duo again combine real world teens and an adventure filled with danger, romance, and superpowers that will thrill teens looking for their next action-packed fix.

WHITE STAG by Kara Barbieri (Wednesday Books, January 2019)

On the day her village was burned to the ground, seventeen-year-old Janneke was taken captive and sent to work for the goblin Soren. Janneke's survival in the court of merciless monsters has come at the cost of her connection to the human world. And when the Goblin King's death ignites an ancient hunt for the next king, Soren senses an opportunity for her to finally fully accept the ways of the brutal Permafrost. But every action he takes to bring her deeper into his world only shows him that a little humanity isn't bad—especially when it comes to those you care about. Through every battle they survive, Janneke's loyalty to Soren deepens even as she tries to fight her growing attraction to him. After dangerous truths are revealed, Janneke must choose between holding on to or letting go of her last connections to a world she no longer belongs to. This is the first book in the brutally stunning Permafrost series, which started as a Wattpad sensation.

THE BONE CHARMER by Brianna Shields (Page Street Publishing, May 2019)

In Saskia's world, bones are the source of all power. They tell the future, reveal the past, and expose secrets in the present. On the day of her kenning—a special bone reading that determines apprenticeships—Saskia's worst fears come true. She receives an assignment to train as a Bone Charmer, like her mother, and even worse, a match-making reading that pairs her with Bram—a boy who has suspicious tattoos that hint of violence. Saskia knows her mother saw multiple paths for her, yet chose one she knew Saskia wouldn't want. Their argument leads to a fracture in one of the bones, and the break has devastating consequences—Saskia's future has split as well. Now she will live her two potential paths simultaneously. Only one future can survive. And Saskia's life is in danger in both.

AN AFFAIR OF POISONS by Addie Thorley (Page Street Publishing, February 2019)

This thrilling and romantic debut historical fantasy reimagines an infamous seventeenth-century murder scandal in France. After unwittingly helping her mother poison Louis XIV, seventeen-year-old alchemist Mirabelle Monvoisin is forced to see her mother, La Voisin, and her Shadow Society in a horrifying new light. Torn between loyalty and growing unease, Mirabelle seeks consolation in the forbidden art of antipoisons, dabbling in tinctures that could destroy the Shadow Society from within. Royal bastard Josse de Bourbon is more kitchen boy than fils de France. But when his father and half the royal court are murdered by La Voisin, Josse must become the prince he was never meant to be. Hunted like animals, his only objective is to keep the injured princesses and the petulant Dauphin alive—until his path collides with Mirabelle’s and he finds his greatest ally in his sworn enemy. She is a poisoner with the desire to heal instead of harm. He is a bastard with the audacity to play king. Together they might be able to take down the Shadow Society. If they can learn to trust each other. And if La Voisin doesn’t purge all of Paris first.

Praise: “An indulgent and exhilarating adventure, Thorley takes an extravagant historical setting and infuses it with a lusciously dark dose of magic and alchemy. An Affair of Poisons takes hold of the reader immediately and refuses to let go. STRONGER THAN A BRONZE DRAGON by Mary Fan (Page Street Publishing, June 2019)

When a powerful viceroy with a fleet of mechanical dragons stops an attack on Anlei’s village, the villagers agree to give him their sacred, enchanted River Pearl in exchange for permanent protection—if he’ll marry one of the village girls to solidify the alliance. Anlei is appalled when the viceroy selects her as the bride, but with the fate of her people at stake, she sees no choice but to consent. Anlei’s noble plans are sent into a tailspin, however, when a young thief steals the River Pearl for himself. Knowing the viceroy won’t protect her village without the jewel, she takes matters into her own hands. But once she catches the thief, she discovers he needs the pearl just as much as she does. The two embark on an epic quest across the land and into the Courts of Hell, taking Anlei on a journey that reveals more is at stake than she could have ever imagined. With incredibly vivid world building and fast-paced storytelling, Stronger Than a Bronze Dragon is great for readers who are looking for something fresh in epic fantasy.

THE GRACE YEAR by Kim Liggett (Wednesday Books, October 2019)

This riveting, speculative novel examines the complex and sometimes twisted relationships between girls, the women they eventually become, and the difficult decisions they make in between. Tierney James is a young woman from an isolated village where girls are married off at sixteen-years-old, in a time known as their “grace year”. Any woman who is barren, speaks against her husband, or has otherwise fulfilled her purpose is led to the gallows. Tierney and the other grace year girls are banished to the northern forest, where they must brave the wilderness—and each other—before being allowed to return to society as purified women. If they make it back at all. Tierney dreams of a better life—a society that doesn’t pit friend against friend and woman against woman. But in order to grab hold of her future, she must first survive her grace year.

SIX GOODBYES WE NEVER SAID by Candace Ganger (Wednesday Books, November 2019)

Naima Rodriguez doesn't want your patronizing sympathy as she grieves her father, her hero—a fallen Marine. She's got enough going on in order to manage her complex OCD and GAD. So, she'd rather everyone back the eff off while she separates her Lucky Charms marshmallows into six, always six, Ziploc bags. Andrew—Dew—respectfully requests a little more time to process the sudden loss of his parents. It's causing an avalanche of secret anxieties, so he counts on his trusty voice recorder to convey the things he can't otherwise say aloud. He could really use a friend to navigate a life swimming with pain and loss and all the lovely moments in between. And then Dew meets Naima and everything's changed—just not in the way he, or she, expects. Six Goodbyes We Never Said is no love story. If you ask Naima, it's not even a like story. But it is a story about love and fear and how sometimes you need a little help to be brave enough to say goodbye.

THIS IS NOT A LOVE SCENE by S. C. Megale (Wednesday Books, May 2019)

Lights, camera—all Maeve needs is action. But at eighteen, a rare form of muscular dystrophy usually stands in the way of romance. She’s got her friends, her humor, and a passion for filmmaking to keep her focus off consistent rejection...and the hot older guy starring in her senior film project. Tall, bearded, and always swaying, Cole Stone is everything Maeve can’t be. And she likes it. Between takes, their chemistry is shockingly electric. Suddenly Maeve gets a taste of typical teenage dating life, but girls in wheelchairs don’t get the hot guy—right? Cole’s attention challenges everything she once believed about her self-image and hopes for love. But figuring this out, both emotionally and physically, won’t be easy for either of them. Maeve must choose between what she needs and what she wants, while Cole has a tendency to avoid decisions altogether. And her failing lungs might not wait for either. Funny, emotional, and refreshingly honest, This Is Not a Love Scene is for anyone who can relate to feeling different while navigating the terrifying and thrilling waters of first love.

Praise: “This Is Not a Love Scene rings brilliantly true from the first page to the last. GENERAL NON-FICTION

FULL DISCLOSURE by Stormy Daniels (St. Martin's Press, October 2018)

She was already well-known in some circles before March 6, 2018, but that's probably the first time you heard the name Stormy Daniels. That's the day she filed a lawsuit against President Donald Trump over a nondisclosure agreement negotiated before the election but never signed. How did Stormy Daniels become the woman willing to take on a president? What is it like to be reviled by some, held up as a beacon of hope by others, and to be an object of fascination to all? In this book, Stormy Daniels tells her whole story for the first time: about how she came to be a leading actress and director in the adult film business, the full truth about her journey from a rough childhood in Louisiana onto the national stage, and everything about the events that led to the nondisclosure agreement and the behind-the-scenes attempts to intimidate her. Stormy is funny, sharp, warm, and impassioned by turns. Her story is a thoroughly American one, of a girl who loved reading and horses and who understood from a very young age what she wanted—and who also knew she'd have to get every step of the way there on her own. People can't stop talking about Stormy Daniels. And they won't be able to stop talking about her fresh, surprising, completely candid, nothing-held-back book.

TREASON: The Case Against Donald J. Trump by David Rothkopf (Thomas Dunne Books, May 2019)

We are under fire. The United States is weathering an ongoing cyber offensive on our electoral processes from a hostile foreign power. Twelve agents have been indicted for interference, and our intelligence officials agree that our digital infrastructure is under attack. Meanwhile, Trump and his administration are serving nothing but praise for Vladimir Putin, the man who oversaw and continues to oversee these attacks. While Trump scrambles to deny involvement with whatever excuse he can tweet or any insult he can hurl at someone else, the American people are growing surer that he is betraying the great nation of the United States—and they're wondering why no one is sounding the alarm. In Treason: The Case Against Donald J. Trump, David Rothkopf lays out the legal logic against Trump and a defense of our country and its citizens.

DON'T LABEL ME: An Unusual Conversation for Divided Times by Irshad Manji (St. Martin's Press, February 2019)

From the founder of the award-winning Moral Courage Project and the bestselling author of The Trouble with Islam Today, which was translated in thirty languages, and made into an Emmy-nominated PBS film, comes a new book that looks at the tribalism and walled-off mentality that has been running rampant in recent years. America and the world have never been more fractured. But how do we move forward? In Don't Label Me, Irshad Manji holds a scrappy yet tender conversation with her Other: a senior dog named Lily. Raised in a culture that deemed dogs evil, Manji learns from her fur elder the transformative power of moving beyond labels, be they racial, sexual, religious, partisan, or species-supremacist. Together, she and Lily show that diversity, when practiced honestly, encourages conflicting points of view while revealing that we're all so much more than the assumptions we make about each other. Infused with scholarly insights and punctuated with stories about Manji's experiences as a refugee from Africa, a Muslim immigrant to the U.S., and a professor of moral courage, Don't Label Me offers a gift to every global citizen: concrete tips on how to start and sustain the toughest, most taboo conversations.

THE IDENTITY MAN by McKenzie Funk (St. Martin's Press, Future)

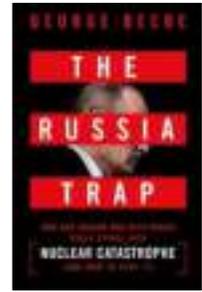

Data fusion: the detailed digital dossiers built on us by private companies, sold for profit and used for an increasingly disturbing array of purposes by healthcare, insurance, and mortgage industries to name a few, as well as by the ICE to track down illegal immigrants, and the criminal justice system to decide who will become a criminal in the future. The first data fusion system was created by man named Hank Asher, a former drug dealer whose life was as interesting and chaotic as the business he created. In this book, which will appeal to fans of Michael Lewis and Doug Stanton, journalist McKenzie Funk looks both at the subject of data fusion and the life of Hank Asher and forces us to examine our uneasy and unwitting relationship with both the convenience and intrusions this technology has wrought. Asher's story leaves us with the essential question: If your past no longer belongs to you, what about your future?

THE RUSSIA TRAP: How Our Shadow War with Russia Could Spiral into Nuclear Catastrophe by George Beebe (Thomas Dunne Books, August 2019)

After years of unsuccessful post-Cold War efforts to forge a cooperative relationship, it has become clear that the U.S. and Russia will be competitors, not partners—no matter what some politicians would have the American public believe. Yet as the two nations target each other through cyber warfare and other nontraditional forms of aggression, competition is tipping into enmity. But without escalating physical combat to clue us into danger, the public and our elected officials cannot fathom that we're on the brink of calamity, and as long as nuclear weapons exist, nuclear annihilation is always on the table. In this terrifying, but essential new work, former CIA director George Beebe allows us to face this reality—and, in doing so, to take steps to divert the world from this path.

THE SPY IN MOSCOW STATION: A Counterspy's Hunt for a Deadly Cold War Threat by Eric Haseltine (Thomas Dunne Books, March 2019)

This is the thrilling true story of unorthodox, underdog intelligence officers at the National Security Agency who, in the late 1970s, fought an uphill battle against their own government to prove that the KGB had pulled off the most devastating penetration of U.S. national security in history. Much like today—Russian spycraft had proven itself far beyond the best technology the U.S. had to offer. The perils of American arrogance mixed with bureaucratic infighting left the country unspeakably vulnerable to Russian electronic surveillance and espionage. Now American spies in Russia were being outed, and the CIA was helpless to stop the purge. Outsmarting honey traps and encroaching deep enough into enemy territory to perform complicated technical investigations, NSA engineer Charles Gandy accomplished the mission in Russia, but discovered more than State and the CIA wanted him to know.

THE LAST VOYAGE: Andrea Doria and the Passing of an Era by Greg King and Penny Wilson (St. Martin's Press, Winter 2020)

The Andrea Doria was not merely a legendary liner. In her heyday she represented the romance of travel and the modernity of 1950s Italian art, culture, and life. She also bridged the gap between previous generations of liners and the coming era of cruise ships, a time when airplanes were slowly but surely edging out ocean travel. Her sinking foreshadowed the end of a glamorous era. In The Last Voyage Greg King and Penny Wilson look at the last golden years of ocean liner travel as well as the Doria's final voyage, following a handful of passengers—from Hollywood stars to immigrants—during the collision, rescue and sinking. With access to new, never before seen images of the wreck from the 2016 scientific exploration of the ship, as well as interviews with survivors, this book offers a sweeping new look of the Andrea Doria disaster.

KENNEDY HEIRS: John, Caroline, and the New Generation—A Legacy of Triumph and Tragedy by J. Randy Taraborrelli (St. Martin’s Press, June 2019)

From New York Times bestselling Kennedy historian J. Randy Taraborrelli comes his most astonishing Kennedy book yet. A unique burden was inherited by the children born to the original Kennedy icons: JFK and Jackie; Bobby and Ethel; Ted and Joan; and the rest. Raised against a backdrop of American history, their mandate was to be of service, just like their ancestors. Based on exclusive first-hand interviews, as well as oral histories from the JFK Presidential Library and the Ted Kennedy Institute, Taraborrelli takes his readers behind the scenes of a sweeping and epic family drama as these Kennedy heirs succeed and fail in ways both triumphant and heartbreaking. These are the Kennedy stories you’ve never heard before.

A TIME FOR US by Edie Windsor (St. Martin’s Press, Fall 2019)

This is the lively, intimate, and inspiring posthumous memoir from one of the icons of the gay rights movement who was instrumental in the legalization of gay marriage in the United States. Edie Windsor became internationally famous when the Supreme Court ruled in her favor in her case seeking recognition from the US government for her marriage to her partner of forty-six years, Thea Spyer. The ruling set the stage for the legalization of gay marriage in the US and vaulted Edie into the spotlight, but she had been living a groundbreaking life for decades. In this memoir, which she began before her death in 2017, and which was completed by her co-writer, Edie recounts her childhood in working class Philadelphia, her realization that she was a lesbian, and her active social life in the Greenwich Village underground gay scene in the 1950s and 60s. In the midst of wild parties and breaking hearts, Edie held a job as one of the first female programmers for IBM’s early version of the computer. Her romance with Thea Spyer was the subject of a documentary film and their marriage changed the course of US history. This memoir is a remarkable portrait of an amazing woman, gay life in New York in the second half of the twentieth century, and the rise of LGBT activism.

UNTITLED ON THE HISTORY OF ADDRESSES by Deirdre Mask (St. Martin’s Press, Winter 2020)

An expansive, globe-trotting work of sociology and history, Deirdre Mask covers the history and significance of naming streets and numbering houses and how this practice allowed governments to control their citizens while also giving citizens rights they didn’t have previously. From Ancient Rome to India and Haiti, to London, Japan, and Korea, the book will stretch across history and geography to show how having an address changed people’s lives. Why do black South Africans find street names “glamorous?” Can a street name dictate the value of your home? Can you change a neighborhood by changing its street names? Why doesn’t Tokyo have street names at all? How can having a street address save a life? A work of narrative nonfiction, this book answers these questions and many more through in-depth reporting and the very human stories behind the secret history of our addresses.

BIG BUSINESS: A Love Letter to an American Anti-Hero by Tyler Cowen (St. Martin's Press, April 2019)

From the New York Times bestselling author of The Great Stagnation comes an against-the-grain polemic on American capitalism. Belief in big business is at an all-time low. Walmart and Amazon destroy communities and small businesses. Facebook turns us into addicts while putting our personal data at risk. But are big companies inherently evil? If business is so bad, why does it remain so integral to the basic functioning of America? Economist and bestselling author Tyler Cowen says our biggest problem is that we don't love business enough. In Big Business, Cowen puts forth an impassioned defense of corporations and their essential role in a balanced, productive, and progressive society. He dismantles common misconceptions and untangles conflicting intuitions. According to a 2016 Gallup survey, only twelve percent of Americans trust big business "quite a lot," and only six percent trust it "a great deal." Yet Americans as a group are remarkably willing to trust businesses, whether in the form of buying a new phone on the day of its release or simply showing up to work in the expectation they will be paid. Cowen illuminates the crucial role businesses play in spurring innovation, rewarding talent and hard work, and creating the bounty on which we've all come to depend.

THE PURPOSE PATH: A Guide to Pursuing Your Authentic Life's Work by Nicholas Pearce (St. Martin's Essentials, April 2019)

The most successful companies—Google, Disney, Apple—identify the purpose behind why they do what they do and abide by their “why.” Nicholas Pearce argues that humans should do the same—identify their “why,” the purpose or belief that drives them, and create a life of significance around it. The Purpose Path is for employees in any field who no longer just want a job, but who want a meaningful career with a moral center and purpose in the world—a true vocation that answers and fulfills a calling. The Purpose Path is organized around five key questions: What is success? Who am I? Why am I here? Am I running the right race? Am I running the race well? Nicholas Pearce sits at the unconventional intersection of business and faith. He shows how people in a variety of fields have asked and answered these five questions in order to start, shape, or change their careers. Inspiring, thought-provoking, and practical, The Purpose Path is an essential book for anyone who seeks a calling at work and in life.

WIN OR DIE: Leadership Secrets from Game of Thrones by Bruce Craven (Thomas Dunne Books, March 2019)

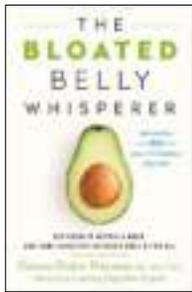

"When you play the game of thrones, you win or you die. There is no middle ground."—Cersei Lannister. One of the great joys of watching Game of Thrones is strategizing what bold moves you'd make in this bloody, volatile world. One of the great terrors of being a leader is knowing that the real world can be just as brutal. Every day leaders are presented with opportunities and challenges, and they must decide which roads to follow never knowing whether they will profit or fail until they're in the thick of it. In Win or Die, Bruce Craven, the Director of Columbia University's Advanced Management Program, brilliantly charts the journeys of the best and worst leaders in Westeros so that leaders can create their own narratives of success. Craven tracks beloved characters such as Ned Stark, Jon Snow, Daenerys Targaryen, and Cersei Lannister as they make terrible decisions and fatal mistakes but also achieve incredible victories and surprising successes. All the while, Craven shows readers how to recognize opportunities, work with mentors, identify their purpose, apply strategic learning, become a fully engaged leader and much, much more.
