YOU'RE A MIRACLE (AND A PAIN IN THE ASS)

Understanding the Hidden Forces That Make You You

MIKE MCHARGUE

March 2020

Convergent; Hardcover

Self-help/Motivational

Rights: World

In a world that promises 30-day miracle diets and "one secret trick" to fix your life, podcast host and author Mike McHargue unmask the hidden internal forces that make self-improvement so hard--showing how we can train our unconscious mind to create real, lasting personal change.

For thousands of years, scientists, philosophers, and self-help gurus have wrestled with one of the basic conundrums of human life: why we do the things we do. Or rather, why we so often don't do the things that we want to do. As host of the Liturgists podcast and Ask Science Mike (with over 4 million downloads per month), Mike McHargue gets thousands of emails each week from listeners seeking to understand their own misbehavior--why we binge Netflix when we know taking a walk outside would be better for us, or why we scroll Facebook when our real friends live just down the street.

In YOU'RE A MIRACLE (AND A PAIN IN THE ASS), McHargue addresses why. We like to think we're in control of our thoughts and decisions, he writes, but science has shown that a host of competing impulses, emotions, and environmental factors are at play in every action we undertake. Touching on his listeners' most pressing question topics, from sex and relationships to sleep habits, spirituality, finances, and health, McHargue shows readers how to train their unconscious brain toward change that lasts.

Drawing on science, personal revelation, and spiritual insight, YOU'RE A MIRACLE (AND A PAIN IN THE ASS) is a guided tour through the mystery of human consciousness, showing readers how to live more at peace with themselves and the world around them.

MIKE MCHARGUE, also known as "Science Mike," is the host and co-host of two podcasts--Ask Science Mike and The Liturgists Podcast--that have attracted a curious following among Christians, the spiritually interested, and the religiously unaffiliated. He is an in-demand speaker at conferences and churches around the country, and he writes for the Storyline Blog, Sojourners, and Relevant magazine.

MOSTLY TRUE, SO HELP ME GOD

My Journey Home

KREIS BEALL

April 2020

Convergent; Hardcover

Biography & Autobiography

Rights: World

Mostly True, So Help Me God: My Journey Home is the powerful, resilient memoir by the creative force behind legendary, award-winning farm-to-table resort, Blackberry Farm, in Tennessee.

Born with "the gift of hospitality," Kreis Beall helped create one of the South's most enchanting destinations, Blackberry Farm, in Tennessee's Smoky Mountain foothills. For decades, she was a fixture in the entertaining and design world and on the glossy pages of popular shelter magazines. But beautiful exteriors and glowing accolades papered-over deep inner pain. At the pinnacle of her success, a brain injury left her with devastating hearing loss; that was followed by the collapse of her 36 year marriage to her "best friend and business partner," Sandy Beall, and a few years later, the tragic death of her grown son and proprietor of Blackberry Farm, Sam, at age 39.

Alone and desolate as her marriage ends, Kreis begins a new journey, to find her faith and find God. After spending years on her exterior life and work, now she must begin the hardest undertaking of all: to reclaim her interior life and soul. Kreis retreats to Blackberry Farm, moving into a dimly lit 300 square foot shed with peeling paint walls, "where I met myself for the first time." Out of brokenness has come reflection, re-examination, and bit-by-bit, healing and meaning.

By turns fiercely honest, heartbreaking, warm, and funny, Kreis Beall's story will resonate with anyone who has ever searched to find genuine beauty among their own flaws and scars.

KREIS BEALL: Founder and Director of Design at Blackberry Farm -- an award-winning, 70 room Relais and Chateaux hotel and resort in the Smoky Mountains of east Tennessee and one of the country's premier destinations. As entrepreneurial as she is artistic, the Tennessee native's varied experiences --hotel proprietor, chef, photographer, interior designer, intrepid traveler -- all share a common thread: Beall's passion for the art of living, her love of beauty and her knack for transforming big dreams into real, uncontrived elegance.

The Uncollected Letters of Flannery O'Connor and Friends

FLANNERY O'CONNOR edited by BEN ALEXANDER

Convergent; Hardcover

Religion/Literary Collections

Rights: World

A literary treasure from National Book Award winning author Flannery O'Connor (1925-1964) and her circle of extraordinary friends. This compilation of over 100 unpublished letters from the vault of the Flannery O'Connor estate offers insight into faith, religion, sex, culture, and the literary world of mid-20th century America. A story of friendship told in letters, this book features never before seen letters from such contemporaries as Walker Percy and Caroline Gordon.

Flannery O'Connor is a star of 20th century American literature. Those familiar with her writings know that her strong faith and struggle with Protestantism and Catholicism in the deep South informed all that she wrote and did. This book is a collection of many of her unpublished letters along with those of such literary stars as Walker Percy (author of The Moviegoer), Robert Giroux, Caroline Gordon, and movie critic Stanley Kauffmann. Themes of creativity, faith, work, and writing emerge, forming a riveting literary portrait of these friends, artists, and thinkers. Here we find their joys and loves as well as their trials and tribulations as they struggle with doubt and illness while championing their Christian beliefs and fighting racism in the world of Jim Crow.

FLANNERY O'CONNOR was born in Savannah, Georgia, in 1925. A devoted Catholic, she lived most of her life on a farm in Milledgeville, Georgia, where she raised peacocks and wrote. She was the author of two novels, Wise Blood and The Violent Bear It Away; thirty-one short stories; and numerous essays and reviews. She died at the age of thirty-nine. Her complete short stories, published posthumously in 1971, received the National Book Award for fiction.

How to Overcome Shame and Heal Our Souls

STAN MITCHELL

April 2020

Convergent; Hardcover

Religion/Sexuality & Gender

Rights: World

For fans of The Gifts of Imperfection by Brené Brown and Shameless by Nadia Bolz-Weber comes a call to action to find our purpose in life by embracing all the lights and shadows that make us who we are.

Stan Mitchell serves as the senior pastor emeritus of GracePointe Church in Franklin, Tennessee. This progressive, Evangelical, and interdenominational community has been and continues to be on the forefront of many modern day issues, including the fight for LGBTQ rights locally and around the world. In this book, Mitchell looks to address issues of shame, guilt, and authenticity in the church, society, and our personal lives, and explores what can be done to help those dealing with the abuse leveled on them by narrow-minded Christian thinking. Like Henri Nouwen and Brené Brown, Mitchell challenges the barrage of religious and media messages that say we are never enough. He also explores the byproduct of shame--estrangement--a psychological, 'felt' sense of separation from God, others and even from one's self. It is a sense that, Mitchell argues, is completely unfounded and is caused in part by numerous misinterpretations of the Bible. This thinking can be undone and Mitchell will guide readers with practical applications to a place of acceptance and spiritual empowerment.

STAN MITCHELL, an Arkansas native and fifth generation classical Pentecostal, has traveled extensively for over thirty years of preaching and teaching, including a lead position at the highly respected Christ Church in Nashville, Tennessee. Stan currently serves as senior pastor emeritus of GracePointe Church in Franklin, Tennessee. This progressive, evangelical, and interdenominational community has been on an expansive and deeply sacred journey in the last few years, bringing their initiatives to the forefront of many modern day issues surrounding the Christian church, namely their recent movement into full inclusion of the LGBTQ community.

BROKEN BREAD

A Table of Hope for a Troubled World

EMILY M. D. SCOTT

May 2020

Convergent; Hardcover

Biography & Autobiography

Rights: World

From a stunning new religious voice whose work has appeared in the New York Times and the Wall Street Journal, a book about the loneliness of modern life and the powerful thing church can become when it's about more than being cool.

Emily Scott creates churches for people on the margins. As founding pastor of St. Lydia's Brooklyn, where the service takes place at a dinner table instead of a sanctuary, she spent eight years ministering to a scrappy collective of people from different backgrounds, incomes, and political persuasions. Each week, they broke bread, sang old songs, did the dishes, and made awkward conversation with strangers. But in a city where everyone lives on top of each other, yet everyone is lonely as hell, these gatherings filled a longing that most people--even Emily--didn't realize they had.

In this book of stories from her unlikely congregation, Scott argues that these small acts of connection hold more power than we realize in a time when the world has become devastatingly fragmented and our differences are being weaponized. She recalls her journey as a single, female pastor working in a male-dominated profession; how founding a strange church in Brooklyn (with no funding or training) led her to a more engaged, awake, and activated life; and the value of church as a place where people--no matter who they are or what they've done--can hear not only that they are loved, but that they are good.

Beautifully written and full of unforgettable stories, Broken Bread is a thought-provoking, empowering read for anyone seeking hope in troubled times.

EMILY M. D. SCOTT was the Founding Pastor of St. Lydia's, a progressive congregation in the Gowanus neighborhood of Brooklyn, New York, where worship takes place around the dinner table. Scott trained as a liturgist and musician at Yale Divinity School and the Institute of Sacred Music, and was ordained in the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America. Previously, she served as the Director of Worship at the Riverside Church. St. Lydia's "Dinner Church" has been featured in The Atlantic, The Wall Street Journal, The Huffington Post and other media. After eight years at St Lydia's, Emily is now creating a new church community, Dreams and Visions, in Baltimore.

Finding Purpose and Direction in Uncertain Times

HENRI J.M. NOUWEN

Convergent; Hardcover

Religion/Christian Life

Rights: World

In this brand-new, never before seen narrative, the bestselling author of The Return of the Prodigal Son offers a compelling case for why Christianity is still relevant, beautiful, intelligent and necessary in the modern world.

The book is about Christian discipleship. In Henri Nouwen's words: "It aims to help people develop a greater love for Jesus and a greater desire to follow Jesus." It consists of two parts. Part I is about why we might choose to follow Jesus. With so many choices available to the 21st century person, especially the more popular path of secularism, Henri Nouwen lays out, in his characteristically 'stripped to the essential' manner, the challenge and reward of choosing the way of Jesus. Part II consists of Henri Nouwen's suggested spiritual practices to help keep us on the "narrow road."

THE BURNING OF ROME

The Fate of the Catholic Church in the 21st Century

JOHN ALLEN, JR

May 2020

Image; Hardcover

Religion/Christianity

Rights: World

One of the most respected journalists in the United States and the author of The Global War on Christians uses his unparalleled knowledge of world affairs and religious insight to explore the harsh challenges facing Catholics today and how the Church is trying to save itself from itself.

The Catholic Church is in turmoil. Rocked by scandal, weakened by infighting within its ranks, and losing members in record numbers, the Vatican finds itself in a precarious position in the first quarter of the 21st century. Can anything be done to stop the bleeding or are we witnessing the fall of the Catholic Church in the western world?

No other reporter knows the Vatican or the key players within the Church like John Allen. In this exploration of the harrowing challenges the Church is facing he separates truth from headlines, discerns facts from fiction, looks at changes that are being implemented within the rank and file, and shows how the laity is trying to take back its Church from those seemingly hell bent on destroying it.

JOHN L. ALLEN, JR. is the editor of Crux, specializing in coverage of the Vatican and the Catholic Church. He has written eleven books on the Vatican and Catholic affairs, and also is a popular speaker on Catholicism both in the United States and internationally. The London Tablet has called John "the most authoritative writer on Vatican affairs in the English language," and renowned papal biographer George Weigel has called him "the best Anglophone Vatican reporter ever." Veteran religion writer Kenneth Woodward of Newsweek described John as "the journalist other reporters - and not a few cardinals - look to for the inside story on how all the pope's men direct the world's largest church." John's articles have appeared in The Boston Globe, The New York Times, CNN, NPR, The Tablet, and the Miami Herald.

INTRODUCTION TO THE SPIRITUAL LIFE

Faith, Prayer, Devotion, and the Path to Transforming Your Soul

BRANT PITRE

March 2020

Image; Hardcover

Religion/Christian Theology

Rights: World

From the bestselling author of The Case for Jesus (over 220K copies sold), a revolutionary three-stage approach that unlocks the secrets of prayer and meditation for Christians and spiritual seekers from all walks of life.

Catholicism has a long and storied spiritual tradition. Still, many believers aren't aware of the wealth of practices and exercises that exist to bring the faithful closer to God. In these pages, Dr. Pitre draws on the riches of the Bible, the centuries-old writings of mystics, the diverse forms of prayer and meditation, and the insights of lively thinkers and accessible theologians both past and present to shed light on the mystery of the sacred art of devotion. Here he covers three kinds of prayer: vocal, meditative, and contemplative; examines how to pray when life becomes dry or too challenging; the secret power of the Rosary; how to pray with the Bible; and he also explores the two dark nights of the soul many of us experience and how to use those moments in our lives to move us toward sacred fulfillment. He also covers what he calls the three stages of the spiritual life: (1) the Purgative Way, (2) the Illuminative Way, and (3) the Unitive Way, helping to bring a fresh new understanding to living in relationship with God, which in turn will greatly affect all we live, feel, say, and do.

Like Dr. Pitre's previous books, Introduction to the Spiritual Life is a must-own for anyone interested in deepening their faith through the Bible and tradition while answering God's universal call to holiness.

BRANT PITRE is Distinguished Research Professor of Scripture at The Augustine Institute. He is the author of the bestselling books Jesus and the Jewish Roots of the Eucharist: Unlocking the Secrets of the Last Supper, Jesus the Bridegroom, The Case for Jesus, and Jesus and the Jewish Roots of Mary. JESUS AND THE DEAD SEA SCROLLS

Unlocking the Jewish Roots of Christianity

JOHN BERGSMA

September 2019

Image; Hardcover

Religion/Biblical Studies

Rights: World

Scholar John Bergsma presents the first major work on the Dead Sea Scrolls in two decades and shows how the mysterious and long-forgotten scrolls, discovered in an Egyptian cave in 1947, reveal more fully the Jewish roots of Christianity.

From Old Testament scholar John S. Bergsma comes an illuminating text that reveals a Jewish community predating Christianity whose existence, beliefs, and practices have long been ignored by scholars and the public for social and political reasons: the Essenes. Bergsma, one of only a handful of American scholars who has had access to the original Dead Sea manuscripts reveals how this radical, pre-Christian Jewish religious community directly influenced the beliefs and early practices of early Christianity. This connection offers new information on how early Christians lived their lives, worshiped, and eventually went on to influence the Roman Empire. Bergsma also looks to Hebrew Scriptures and Jewish tradition to frame a story of how a simple Jewish peasant could go on to found a religion and a philosophy that still resonates 2000 years later.

In this enlightening read, Dr. Bergsma demonstrates how the Dead Sea Scrolls--the world's greatest archaeological discovery--can deepen our appreciation of Scripture and strengthen our understanding of faith.

JOHN BERGSMA, Ph.D., is Professor of Theology at the Franciscan University of Steubenville (Ohio) since 2004. He holds a B.A. in Classical Languages from Calvin College (Grand Rapids, MI), the Master of Divinity (M.Div.) and Master of Theology (Th.M.) from Calvin Theological Seminary (Grand Rapids, MI), and a Ph.D. in Theology from the University of Notre Dame (South Bend, IN). He is the author of The Jubilee from Leviticus to Qumran (VTSup 115; Brill, 2007), and several articles in Biblica, Vetus Testamentum, The Journal of Biblical Literature, Markets & Morality, and other scholarly journals, festschriften, dictionaries, encyclopedias, and essay collections, published by Oxford, Brill, Eerdmans, Continuum, Kohlhammer, and other academic publishers. Bergsma is active in professional biblical scholarship, and has particular expertise in covenant scholarship, the Pentateuch (its dating and sources), the book of Ezekiel, and the Dead Sea Scrolls. A former Protestant pastor, Bergsma entered the Catholic Church in 2001.

For the first time in sixty years, a comprehensive and engaging history of all eight North American martyrs of the Catholic church.

The French Jesuit missionaries who worked among the Native tribes of what are now Canada and the United States are some of the lesser-known martyrs in Catholicism. These Jesuits were men of deep faith with a profound love for God and their neighbor, but they were also intellectuals--many of them had served on the faculty of Jesuit colleges in France. Yet they gave up all their comforts, all their privileges to serve as missionaries in an immense wilderness. In this compelling narrative, author Thomas J. Craughwell brings history alive and chronicles the adventures and ultimate demise of these men who journeyed to a foreign land and died in service to God.

THOMAS J. CRAUGHWELL is the author of Saints Behaving Badly, Urban Legends, Alligators in the Sewer and 222 Other Urban Legends, Saints for Every Occasion: 101 of Heaven's Most Powerful Patrons, and Do Blue Bedsheets Bring Babies? Every month he writes a column on patron saints for Catholic diocesan newspapers. In addition, he has written about saints for the Wall Street Journal, St. Anthony Messenger, and Catholic Digest and has discussed saints on CNN and EWTN. With riveting passion and surprising vulnerability, Platt dares readers to make a difference in a world of urgent need, starting right where they live.

While leading a team on a week-long trek of the Himalayas, bestselling author and pastor David Platt was stunned by the human needs he encountered, an experience so dramatic that it "changed the trajectory of my life." Meeting a man who'd lost his eye from a simple infection and seeing the faces of girls stolen from their families and trafficked in the cities, along with other unforgettable encounters, opened his eyes to the people behind the statistics and compelled him to wrestle with his assumptions about faith. In Something Needs to Change, Platt invites readers to come along on both the adventure of the trek, as well as the adventure of seeking answers to tough questions like, "Where is God in the middle of suffering?" "What makes my religion any better than someone else's religion?" and "What do I believe about eternal suffering?" Platt has crafted an irresistible message about what it means to give your life for the gospel--to finally stop talking about faith and truly start living it.

YOU ARE MADE FOR THIS

Own Your Voice, Rise into Your Influence, and Impact Your World

JO SAXTON

January 2020

WaterBrook; Trade Paperback

Religion/Christian Living

Rights: World

For readers of Brene Brown, Christine Caine, and Sheryl Sandberg, this practical and inspirational book calls women to step into the fullness of their potential.

Popular speaker and host of the LeadStories podcast, Jo Saxton believes that it is Biblical that every woman is designed for influence and impact. She sees Jesus, in Mark 5:41, inviting Jairus's daughter to "Rise Up" and go forward into a more meaningful journey of purpose. And in this particular cultural moment, Jo wants to draw together women, some pulled toward leadership, mentoring, and entrepreneurial activities, to move beyond disempowerment and loss of voice and rise in a way that has a powerful chain effect.

Throughout the book, five composite women, based from Jo's real-life mentoring groups, process the challenges they have faced as women called to achieve more - be it workplace harassment, sexism, low self-esteem, financial woes, power battles. Readers will see themselves in this group and take both the Biblical examples and the practical solutions provided, and find meaningful ways to apply this rich teaching to their own lives.

As Jen Hatmaker says, "Jo is one of my most trusted voices in Christian leadership... she leads auditoriums full of people, and she leads me one-on-one." Rise Up pulls together Jo's best practices in both hearing and motivating women, on their leadership journey.

JO SAXTON is an author, speaker, podcaster, and leadership coach who empowers women in leadership, challenges societal stereotypes and helps people discover who they truly are and live authentically. Born to Nigerian parents and raised in London, and having worked in both the UK and US, Jo brings a multi-cultural and international perspective to leadership. A sought-after speaker, Jo has spoken to colleges/universities, churches, national conferences and companies including: Q, Catalyst, Evereve, NoonDay Collection, LakeShore Media and numerous gatherings across the U.S., U.K. and Australia. She is co-host of the podcast, Lead Stories and the founder of the Ezer Collective, an initiative that equips women in leadership. Jo is the author of numerous articles and three books, including The Dream of You: Let Go of Broken Identities and Live the Life You were Made For.

RAISING KIDS TO DO HARD THINGS

Seven Biblical Principles to Encourage and Motivate Your Kids

GREGG HARRIS

April 2020

Multnomah; Trade Paperback Original

Religion/Christian Living

Rights: World

Don't settle for "good enough" kids. Christian home schooling pioneer Greg Harris, writing alongside his adult son, Brett, proposes this radical approach to parenting. Raising Kids to Do Hard Things is about raising self-motivated kids with the drive to succeed on their own initiative for God's glory.

It can be a huge challenge to motivate your kids from the outside, but when you raise your kids to be self-motivated (from the heart), your job as a parent gets way easier and their lives get way more exciting.

GREGG HARRIS was the founder of Household of Faith, a home-based experiment in church reform, and director of the Noble Institute for Leadership Development, a non-profit educational organization. He and his late wife, Sono, raised seven children and were pioneers in the Christian home-schooling movement around the world.

From the creator of the best-selling God Gave Us You comes a warm exploration of the ways parents show affection - and how it mirrors God's affection for his followers.

Parents are always looking out for the perfect bedtime book to create a sense of wellbeing before a night of rest, and Mama Kisses is the ideal book that explores a child's curiosity in how love is shown between parent and child, with the reassurance that Mama and Papa will always love their little one. Also, Lisa's young character asks his mother a question pressing on the minds of many children:

"Mama, how does God kiss us?"

Mama smiled. "He kisses us a hundred times a day; although if you don't pay attention, you might miss it."

"At night he kisses us with a shooting star. In the morning, he kisses us with sunlight, crawling across the fields and into our windows. On a hot summer afternoon, he kisses us with a gentle breeze. But most of all, he kisses us through our family. That's how God made us. That's why I give you Mama kisses."

ISAIAH'S LEGACY

MESU ANDREWS

February 2020

WaterBrook; Trade Paperback Original

Fiction/Historical

Rights: World

Legacy unpacks one of the most memorable reigns when Judah's worst king ascends in the shadow of his father Hezekiah's death.

Shulle knows only life with her father, a strict teacher of Yahweh's Law, until she turns five and he sells her to his brother. Uncle Shebna frees her of the religiosity that binds her and teaches Shulle of the starry hosts, while they together tutor Judah's brilliant co-regent. Manasseh's moods, need of routine, and singular focus remind Shulle of her father and make her a perfect match for the boy no one else understands. When King Hezekiah dies, twelve-year-old Manasseh is thrust onto Judah's throne, bitter at Yahweh and eager to marry the girl he adores. Assyria's crown prince favors Manasseh and twists his brilliant mind toward cruelty, beginning Shulle's long and harrowing journey to discover Yahweh, guided with loving wisdom by Manasseh's mother, the heartbroken Hepzibah. Dark times descend over Judah but a desperate remnant reminds Yahweh's followers: "We are helpless in this moment, but as long as we serve El Shaddai, we're never hopeless."

MESU ANDREWS is the award-winning author of Love Amid the Ashes and numerous other novels, including The Pharaoh's Daughter, Miriam, and Isaiah's Daughter. Her deep understanding of and love for God's Word brings the biblical world alive for readers.
