ROAR

by CECELIA AHERN

“A Story for Every Woman.”

From the globally bestselling author of PS, I LOVE YOU comes an inspiring, fiercely original collection of stories that illuminate—sometimes in fantastical ways—how women of all kinds navigate the world today.

In this singular and imaginative story collection, Cecelia Ahern illuminates the myriad ways in which women overcome adversity with wit, resourcefulness and compassion. Exploring dilemmas and aspirations that women everywhere will relate to, these unforgettable tales blend magical realism and familiar scenarios with startling and often hilarious results. In matters ranging from marriage and childrearing to politics and careers, the heroines of these thought-provoking stories confront problems both mysterious and mundane: one woman is tortured by sinister bite marks that appear on her skin; another is swallowed up by the floor during a mortifying presentation; yet another resolves to return and exchange her boring husband at the store where she originally acquired him. As they wrestle with obstacles of all kinds, their reality is shaped by how others perceive them—and ultimately, how they perceive the power within themselves.

By turns sly, whimsical and affecting, these thirty short stories are an inspiring examination of what it means to be a woman today.

- Television adaption in development by Nicole Kidman and Per Saari's Blossom Films, Bruna Papandrea's Made Up Stories and Theresa Park's Per Capita Productions, along with Ahern's own Greenlight Go Productions label

HARRY'S TREES

by JON COHEN

The first thing you learn when you climb a tree is to hold on. Now it's time for Harry to learn to let go...

Thirty-four-year-old Harry Crane, lifelong lover of trees, works as an analyst in a treeless US Forest Service office. Devastated after losing his wife in a freak accident, he makes his way to the remote woods of northeastern Pennsylvania's Endless Mountains, intent on losing himself. But fate intervenes in the form of a fiercely determined young girl named Oriana. She, too, has lost someone—her father. And in the magical, willful world of her reckoning, Oriana believes that Harry is the key to finding her way back to him.

When Harry agrees to help the young girl, the unlikeliest of elements—a tree house, a Wolf, a small-town librarian and a book called The Grum's Ledger—come together to create the biggest sensation ever to descend upon the Endless Mountains; a golden adventure that will fulfill Oriana's wildest dreams and open the door to a new life for Harry.

I'LL NEVER TELL

by CATHERINE MCKENZIE

What happened to Amanda Holmes? Twenty years ago, she was found bludgeoned in a rowboat at the MacAllister family's Camp Macaw, but no one was ever charged with a crime.

Now, after their parents' sudden death, the MacAllister siblings return to camp to read the will and decide what to do with the prime real estate occupied by their family's camp. Ryan needs to sell the property; Mary wants to keep the camp alive; Kate and Liddie—the twins—have opposing views; and Margo hasn't made up her mind. And Sean Booth, the groundskeeper, just hopes he still has a home when all is said and done.

But it's more complicated than a simple vote. Until they unravel the mystery of what happened to Amanda, they can't settle the estate. Any one of them could have done it, and each one is holding a piece of the truth. Will they work together to finally discover what happened, or will their secrets finally tear the family apart?

Praise for I'LL NEVER TELL:

"I'LL NEVER TELL is an atmospheric thriller that takes the reader on a harrowing journey through one family's quest for the truth no matter the cost. DAISY JONES & THE SIX

by TAYLOR JENKINS REID

A gripping novel about the whirlwind rise of an iconic 1970s rock group and their beautiful lead singer, revealing the mystery behind their infamous breakup.

Everyone knows DAISY JONES & THE SIX, but nobody knows the reason behind their split at the absolute height of their popularity . . . until now.

Daisy came of age in LA in the late sixties, sneaking into clubs on the Sunset Strip, sleeping with rock stars, and dreaming of singing at the Whisky a Go Go. The sex and drugs were thrilling, but it was the rock'n'roll she loved the most. By the time she'd turned twenty, her voice was getting noticed, and she had the kind of heedless beauty that made people do crazy things. The Six, led by the brooding Billy Dunne, was also rising through the ranks of the LA music scene. On the eve of their first tour, Billy's girlfriend becomes pregnant, prompting him to go a little wild on the road under the pressure of impending fatherhood and fame. Daisy and Billy crossed paths when a producer realized the key to supercharged success was to put the two together. What happened next became the stuff of legend.

The making of that legend is chronicled in this riveting and unforgettable novel, written as an oral history of one of the biggest bands of the seventies. Brilliantly capturing a place and time in an utterly distinctive voice, Taylor Jenkins Reid takes her work to a new level with DAISY JONES AND THE SIX.

- Amazon Studios and Reese Witherspoon's Hello Sunshine will be producing a 13-episode limited TV series
- An Entertainment Weekly Most Anticipated Book of 2019
- A Cosmopolitan Most Anticipated Book of 2019
- An Elle One to Watch in 2019
- A PopSugar Must Read Book of 2019
- A Glamour Best Book of 2019

Advance praise for DAISY JONES AND THE SIX:

"Reid delivers a stunning story of sex, drugs, and rock 'n' roll in the 1960s and '70s in this expertly wrought novel. Mimicking the style and substance of a tell-all celebrity memoir . . . Reid creates both story line and character gold. The book's prose is propulsive, original, and often raw. . . . Reid's gift for creating imperfect characters and taut plots courses throughout this addictive novel.

—Publishers Weekly, starred review

"Reid's novel so resembles a memoir of a real band and conjures such true-to-life images of the seventies music scene that readers will think they're listening to Fleetwood Mac or Led Zeppelin. Reid is unsurpassed in her ability to create complex characters working through emotions that will make your toes curl."

—Booklist, starred review

"An insightful story that will appeal to readers nostalgic for the 1970s."

—Kirkus Reviews

"Filled with the glamour and excess of the late 70's US music scene, prepare to become obsessed."

—Stylist

"I devoured DAISY JONES AND THE SIX in a day, falling head over heels for it. Daisy and the band captured my heart, and they're sure to capture yours too."

IF I HAD YOUR FACE by FRANCES CHA

In the vein of OLIVE KITTERIDGE and A VISIT FROM THE GOON SQUAD, Frances Cha's utterly original debut novel, IF I HAD YOUR FACE, follows several characters in a series of closely connected stories that unfold in contemporary Seoul. Plunging us into a mesmerizing world of secret room salons where young women cater to professional men after hours, extreme plastic surgery designed to remake every aspect of the human body, K-pop celebrity, and ruthless social hierarchies, the author captures the aspirations and desperation of four unforgettable women:

KYURI: a heartbreakingly beautiful woman whose hard-won status at an exclusive "10%" room salon is threatened by an impulsive mistake with a client; MIHO: an artist plucked from a countryside orphanage to study art in New York, whose life becomes tragically enmeshed with the super-wealthy offspring of the Korean "chaebol" elite; WONNA: a recently married woman whose childhood in the care of an abusive grandmother complicates her ability to embrace motherhood; and ARA: a mute hair stylist whose extreme obsession with a K-pop star drives her to desperate extremes.

Balancing on the razor's edge of survival, these women draw us into the orbit of a place both foreign and familiar—where love, friendship and the dream of a better future fuel the strivings of an electric city.

- Jennifer Hershey pre-empted North American rights in a six-figure, two-book deal

THE FIRE IN HIS WAKE by SPENCER WOLFF

THE FIRE IN HIS WAKE tells the parallel stories of an African refugee and a hapless UN worker in Morocco, spinning a fine web of modern trauma and hope.

Arès is a Congolese refugee left for dead in the wake of ethnic violence. His fate, like the fate of millions, sends him on a kinetic flight across the badlands of northern Africa with Europe as his goal. On the way he encounters a boisterous cast, ranging from Rwandan rappers to metisse Berber Rastas and a fast-talking Cameroonian trader. Arès arrives in Rabat, Morocco. He is forced to register as a refugee, binding himself to a desperate community of exiles who will try anything to make it to the promised land of Europe.

Simon is a UN worker stationed in Rabat. Insouciant and entitled, Simon is confronted with the realities on the ground during his time in Morocco. His destiny grazes that of Arès, without ever colliding, as if he is one of the many well-meaning spiders that helps weave a web in which Arès is trapped. Simon encounters a very different but equally colorful cast of characters: from the expat community of Rabat, to the employees at the UNHCR, and even the elite African students. When his French flatmates invite a Congolese friend to cohabitate their apartment, Simon's self-satisfied execution of his bureaucratic functions is challenged by his new roommate's political counter-narrative as to the causes of human displacement on the continent, as someone who grew up within it.

Spencer is a former UN worker in Rabat, Morocco, where he spent several months meeting with refugees, interviewing and evaluating their claims for asylum, and then recommending several for resettlement. A photographer and filmmaker, Spencer is the recipient of an Overseas Press Club Award for his work at The New York Times, and his feature-length documentary STOP premiered at DOC NYC and was awarded a Silver Gavel by the American Bar Association. He speaks French, Spanish, Italian, and German fluently, and is proficient in Portuguese. Spencer splits his time between New York and Paris.

FIRST COMES LOVE by EMILY GIFFIN

Growing up, sisters Josie and Meredith Garland shared a loving, if sometimes contentious relationship. Josie was impulsive, spirited, and outgoing; Meredith hardworking, thoughtful, and reserved. When tragedy strikes their family, their different responses to the event splinter their delicate bond.

Fifteen years later, Josie and Meredith are in their late thirties, following very different paths. Josie, a first grade teacher, is single—and this close to swearing off dating for good. What she wants more than the right guy, however, is to become a mother—a feeling that is heightened when her ex-boyfriend's daughter ends up in her class. Determined to have the future she's always wanted, Josie decides to take matters into her own hands.

On the outside, Meredith is the model daughter with the perfect life. A successful attorney, she's married to a wonderful man, and together they're raising a beautiful four-year-old daughter. Yet lately, Meredith feels dissatisfied and restless, secretly wondering if she chose the life that was expected of her rather than the one she truly desired.

As the anniversary of their brother's death looms and painful secrets from the past begin to surface, Josie and Meredith must not only confront the issues that divide them, but also come to terms with their own choices. In their journey toward understanding and forgiveness, both sisters discover they need each other more than they knew and that, in the recipe for true happiness, love always comes first.

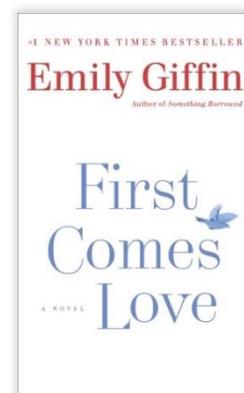

Emotionally honest and utterly enthralling, FIRST COMES LOVE is a story about family, friendship, and the courage to follow your own heart—wherever that may lead.

THE GOOD LIAR by CATHERINE MCKENZIE

Three women's lives are forever altered when a Chicago office building is destroyed by an explosion. Cecily narrowly avoided losing her life that day, but a photo snapped of her as she fled the destruction turns her into the poster child of the tragedy and thrusts her into the media spotlight. As she struggles to pick up the pieces of her life and come to terms with the loss of her husband, she spearheads a commission to help the families heal along with fellow survivor, Franny. Franny had only recently connected with her birth mother before losing her in the accident, and seems to envy Cecily's unwanted attention. But her budding friendship with Cecily is derailed as it becomes clear her story doesn't quite add up and the secrets they both are struggling to hide threaten to come to light.

A thousand miles away in Montreal, Kate tries to build a new life after fleeing Chicago, but what made her leave in the first place? Will she succeed in moving on from her mistakes or will her guilt keep her firmly rooted in the past?

With surprising twists and turns, THE GOOD LIAR is a riveting read that will make readers question how far they'd go to hide their own secrets.

- A Globe & Mail bestseller

Praise for THE GOOD LIAR:

"The revelations that emerge as these vivid and relatable characters come to terms with their guilt—and reflect on the cost of the lies they tell themselves and others—make for a constant realigning of allegiances for readers as well as for the characters themselves. WHAT THE HEALTH:

The Startling Truth Behind the Foods We Eat Plus 50 Plant-Rich Recipes to Get You Feeling Your Best

by KIP ANDERSON & KEEGAN KUHN
with EUNICE WONG

We know there's something terribly broken about our industrial food, medical, and pharmaceutical systems—even as medicine continues to advance, people in the Western world are getting sicker than ever. What's going wrong, and what do we need to know to stop it? Can we avoid the leading causes of death, just by changing our diet?

Kip Andersen and Keegan Kuhn, creators of the revolutionary documentary What the Health and the award-winning documentary Cowspiracy, take readers on a science-based tour of the hazards of eating animal products—and what happens when we stop.

Journey with Andersen and Kuhn as they crisscross the country, talking to doctors, dietitians, public health advocates, whistle-blowers, and world class athletes, to uncover the truth behind the food we eat, and its stunning implications for our health. With the help of writer Eunice Wong, they empower eaters with knowledge: about the lethal entwining of the food, medical, and pharmaceutical industries, and about the corporate, legislative web that confuses the public and keep Americans chronically—and profitably—ill.

If the film was a peephole, then the book knocks down the door itself, with expanded interviews, extensive research, new personal narratives, and 50 plant-based recipes to help you reclaim your life and health!

Praise for WHAT THE HEALTH:

"Don't read What the Health unless you want to change the way you eat—but if you do, the book presents a compelling path to longevity."

THE GREAT INDOORS:

How Buildings Shape Our Health, Behavior, and Happiness by EMILY ANTHES

Emily Anthes' THE GREAT INDOORS provides a fresh look at the ecology of the indoor spaces in which we spend our days - including homes, offices, and schools - and how they shape our health, behavior, and wellbeing. Anthes begins by focusing on how our indoor environments affect us as individuals, and then telescopes out to study how these spaces influence groups, societies, and even humanity as a whole. Diving into the science of the indoors, Anthes explores how we are shaped by our surroundings every day.

HOW CHANGE HAPPENS:

The Surprising Ways New Behaviors, Beliefs, and Ideas Spread

by DAMON CENTOLA

A big think book that will delight fans of Malcolm Gladwell, Chip and Dan Heath, and Richard Thaler and Cass Sunstein's NUDGE.

Most of what we know about how ideas spread comes from bestselling authors who give us a compelling picture of a world, in which "influencers" are king, "sticky" ideas "go viral," and good behavior is "nudged" forward. The only problem is that the world they describe is a world where information spreads, but beliefs and behaviors stay the same. It is a world of simple contagions, which spread quickly to everyone, but do not have any lasting impact on what we think or how we live.

Since Damon first developed his theory of complex contagions in 2007, it has been applied to everything from the unexpected growth of Arab Spring, to changes in coaching strategy in the NFL, to the rapid rise of the #MeToo movement, to the worldwide spread of Skype and Facebook. This book is the crystallization of fifteen years of groundbreaking research on social networks and behavior change, published in the world's leading scientific journals, awarded top prizes for theoretical discovery and methodological innovation, and patented by Harvard University.

Damon's book will start by busting myths and common mistakes re: the ways new ideas spread, but it will focus on solutions. It is about the spread of innovations, the dispersion of ideas, the adoption of inventions, the growth of social movements, the success of political campaigns, and the uptake of new health behaviors. With clear language, using high-profile examples drawn from business, sports, health, lifestyle, and politics, Damon is excited to change how popular readers see how new behaviors, beliefs, and ideas spread in the world they live in.

- Sold in a seven-figure pre-empt to Tracy Behar

Praise for previous book, HOW BEHAVIOR SPREADS (Princeton University Press, 2018):

"[Centola's] ideas have exciting implications for social engineering, whether related to vaccination adoption in the developing world or a reduction of energy use in the West. . . . [They] present an appealing possibility to meet one of the challenges of democracy in the internet age."
-Nina Jankowicz, New Scientist

"Overall the book is well written and engaging, with plenty of discussion about the experiments that go into the conclusions, and on reading it, it is clear that there is a lot more to be done so that we can better implement lasting health strategies, and political engagement amongst many, many other complex behaviours."
-Jonathan Shock, Mathemafrika

"Clearly and elegantly written, brimming with fresh ideas, and based on cutting-edge experimental techniques, How Behavior Spreads is an essential addition to the core bookshelves of social scientists who care about networks and social change."
-Paul DiMaggio, Princeton University

Damon Centola is an acclaimed thought leader, who is credited with developing the theory of complex contagions that has forever altered our scientific understanding of how change happens. An Associate Professor in the Annenberg School for Communication and the School of Engineering and Applied Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania, he is Director of the Network Dynamics Group. His work has been published across disciplines in the world's leading journals and popular news outlets, like The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Wall Street Journal, and The Atlantic. His speaking and consulting clients include Amazon, Microsoft, Apple, Cigna, the U.S. Army and the NBA; his research has been funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation, the National Science Foundation, the National Institutes of Health, the James S. McDonnell Foundation, and the Hewlett Foundation; and he is a series editor for Princeton University Press.

THERE'S NO PLAN B FOR YOUR A GAME:

Be the Best in the World at What You Do

by BO EASON

Can you become the best in the world at what you do? This book shows you how with a dynamic four-step plan for ordinary people.

At nine years old, Bo Eason set a goal: to become the best free safety in the NFL. A scrawny kid, in a small town with no youth sports tradition, he was at first rejected by both his high school and college teams. But he went all in on his dream, was drafted by the Houston Oilers in 1984, and became an All-Pro.

When his football career ended, he set a new goal: to become a great stage actor. Again, with no background in theater, he faced enormous obstacles. But he rehearsed constantly, sought out Al Pacino for career guidance, and then wrote and acted in a one-man play that The New York Times called "one of the most powerful plays in the last decade," which ran off-Broadway and toured in 50 cities.

Then he set himself yet another goal: to use his experience to teach others how to achieve their dreams and transform their lives. Bo Eason is now one of the most in-demand motivational speakers in the world, with numerous Fortune 500 company clients, who inspires audiences in the tens of thousands each year.

Now, in his first book, Bo Eason shows anyone how to be the best in the world at what they do: the best leader, the best business owner, the best athlete, the best artist, the best partner, the best parent. THERE'S NO PLAN B FOR YOUR A-GAME focuses on a winning four-step process:

Declaration: What do you want to achieve?

Preparation: How can you make it happen?

Acceleration: How will you find the motivation to achieve your goal?

Domination: How will you take others with you?

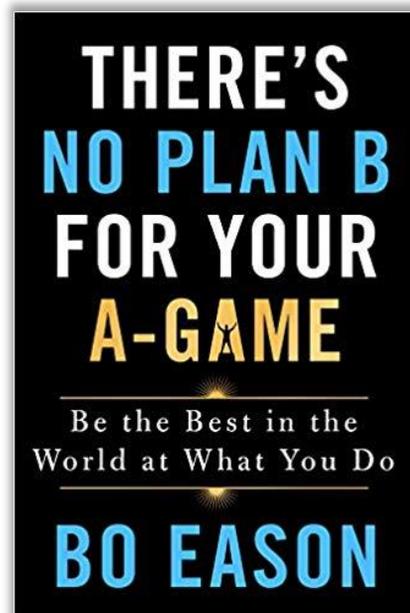

Anyone has the ability to be great; we're born with it. Using inspiring, practical, and real-world guidance coupled with absolute accountability, Bo Eason teaches how.

Praise for Bo Eason:

"I've shared the stage with Tony Robbins, Sir Richard Branson and the Dalai Lama. I am convinced that Bo Eason is the greatest speaker to grace the stage in decades." —Brendon Burchard, #1 New York Times bestselling author

FED UP:

Emotional Labor, Women, and the Way Forward

by GEMMA HARTLEY

A rousing call to arms that explores how carrying "the mental load" is adversely affecting women's lives and feeding gender inequality, and the way forward for better balancing our lives.

Launching a heated national conversation with her viral article "Women Aren't Nags; We're Just Fed Up"—viewed over two billion times—journalist Gemma Hartley gave voice to the frustration and anger of countless women putting in the hidden, underappreciated, and absolutely draining mental work that consists of keeping everyone in their lives comfortable and happy. Bringing long overdue awareness to the daunting reality of emotional labor in our lives, Hartley defines the largely invisible but demanding, time-consuming, and exhausting "worry work" that falls disproportionately and unfairly on all women—no matter their economic class or level of education.

Synthesizing a wide variety of sources and including on-the-ground reporting, identifiable personal stories and interviews from around the world, this feminist manifesto will empower women to transform their inner dialogue and give all women the emotional fortitude and courage to ask for what we most want—without shame, without guilt, and without the emotional baggage.

Hartley also helps us to see emotional labor not as a problem to be overcome, but as a genderless virtue we can all learn to channel in our quest to make a better, more egalitarian world for ourselves and most importantly, our children. Insightful, surprising, deeply relatable, and filled with all too familiar moments, FED UP is essential reading for every woman who has had enough with feeling fed up.

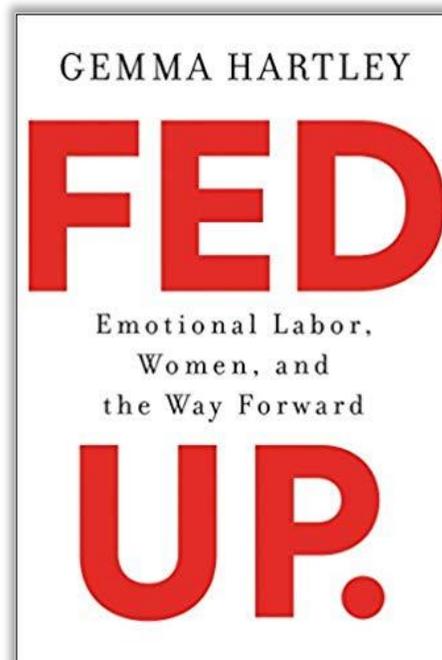

- The article that inspired this book has been read over two billion times

Praise for FED UP:

"Journalist Hartley serves up a passionate and personal assessment of the nature and costs to women of "emotion [labor]"...There is much here likely to engage, comfort, and possibly help women who share Hartley's fed-up feelings."

DISCONNECTED:

How To Reconnect Our Digitally Distracted Kids

by TOM KERSTING

We see it everywhere: at the park, in restaurants, and inside our homes and cars—kids connected to handheld devices and disconnected from the world around them. According to the latest research, the average thirteen-year-old spends eight hours per day, seven days a week, glued to a screen. Yes, this is problematic, but for every problem there is a solution.

In DISCONNECTED, renowned psychotherapist and longtime school counselor Tom Kersting explores the device-dependent world our children live in and how it is impacting their mental and emotional well-being. Research shows that too much time in the cyber world is re-wiring kids' brains, affecting their ability to flourish in the real world as anxiety, depression, and attention issues soar.

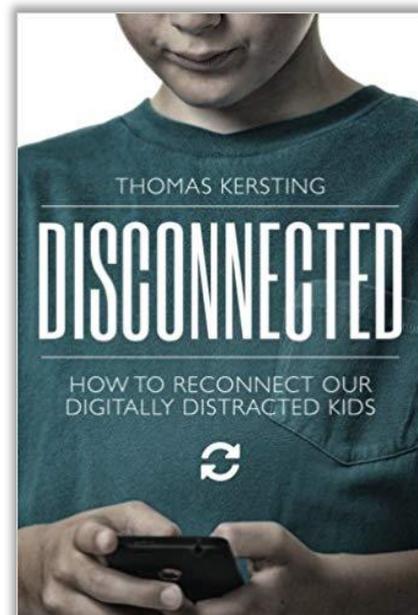

Thankfully, it is not too late to save our children. Kersting provides simple strategies to help reduce screen time as well as a host of meditative and mindfulness techniques to help our kids reclaim their brains and their lives.

DISCONNECTED draws on real life stories and the latest research to show how over-use of electronic devices and screens is damaging kids' brain development, emotional development, and relationships, and offers tips and tools for parents to take back control over devices and reconnect with their kids.

- Kersting appears frequently on shows like Today, Tucker Carlson, and Fox and Friends to discuss parenting and family in the digital age, and has hosted shows on A&E Network, National Geographic Channel, Food Network, and OWN
- Kersting is a psychotherapist and school counselor with 20+ years working with parents and families

Tom Kersting holds advanced degrees including a bachelor's degree in Psychology from St. Thomas Aquinas College, a Master's degree in Counseling & Human Development and a second Master's in Administration & Supervision, both from Montclair State University. Tom also holds a Ph.D. in Clinical Hypnotherapy (alternative/non-traditional) from Kona University. Tom is also a former semi-professional baseball player, avid golfer and dedicated to fitness.

THE IMPOSSIBLE FIRST

by COLIN O'BRADY

There are very few unconquered landscapes on this planet; there are even fewer challenges a man cannot rise to.

Ten years ago, Colin O'Brady suffered second and third degree burns over half his body and was told he could never walk again. On November 3rd, 2018, he took off on a solo, record-breaking race across Antarctica, the planet's last untamed frontier at the bottom of the world. The last man who attempted the trek two years earlier died trying to complete the same feat. 54 days later, Colin would break his fourth world record and surprise the world by achieving what many thought impossible.

According to famed polar explorer Eric Larsen, the conditions during Colin's 54-day, 932-mile trek were some of the worst he had ever seen in Antarctica. Colin began with a 375-pound sled and one tent: most days he was brought to tears carrying the weight for twelve to twenty hour over treacherous ice ridges. Halfway through the race, the 6'0, 165-pound athlete had to leave 3.5 days of food behind to lighten his load. With no human contact and limited visibility, Colin developed frostnip and was rapidly losing weight and running out of food. Knowing the clock was ticking down, Colin pushed through and completed the last 77 miles in a 32 hour burst of energy that no one expected, not even Colin himself.

This unprecedented journey is the basis of Colin's THE IMPOSSIBLE FIRST, the definitive and inspirational account of his historical race across Antarctica.

- Sold to Scribner at auction in a two-book, major deal

Colin Timothy O'Brady is an American professional endurance athlete, motivational speaker and adventurer. O'Brady is a four-time world record holder. In 2016, he set the Explorers Grand Slam and Seven Summits speed records. He most recently achieved what every man before him had failed to do and crossed Antarctica unsupported.

WHAT YOU PRACTICE GROWS STRONGER

The Power of Mindfulness and Compassion for Personal Growth and Transformation by Dr. Shauna Shapiro

A Big Idea book on self-compassion, WHAT YOU PRACTICE GROWS STRONGER will be the “anti-Grit” on using mindfulness for personal growth and performance.

In her first trade book, Dr. Shapiro will explore the connection between neuroplasticity and change, growth, and resilience. Our minds have 50-70,000 thoughts per day—many filled with self-judgment, criticism, and shame. Research shows that these thoughts affect our brain’s ability to change and prevent us from performing at our best. By contrast, a mindful practice of self-compassion bathes our system with dopamine, turns on the learning centers of our brain, and provides motivation to achieve true personal transformation.

In our culture of grit and Tiger Moms, so many people think that success goes to whomever pushes hardest. But research increasingly suggests that self-compassion can be a more powerful force than grit, willpower, or focus when it comes to excellence. We need self-compassion most during our darkest times: when we are grieving; when we are trying to forgive others or ourselves; when we are facing unimaginable challenges such as illness or divorce. Research shows that practicing self-compassion creates better relationships and leads to more empathetic, altruistic decisions, in ourselves and others.

Dr. Shapiro’s book will be a big idea book about performance, personal growth, and culture in the vein of New York Times bestsellers by Brene Brown, Susan Cain, and Angela Duckworth.

Praise for WHAT YOU PRACTICE GROWS STRONGER:

“Shauna Shapiro is known internationally for her outstanding contribution to research and clinical work on the very frontier of the mindfulness field. She is one of those rare scientist-practitioners who contribute not only new methods but new and deeper understandings of mind—its challenges and its potential.”

—Mark Williams, Emeritus Professor of Clinical Psychology, University of Oxford, author of Mindfulness

Dr. Shapiro is a professor at Santa Clara University and studies the intersection of neuroscience and mindfulness. She works with veterans suffering from PTSD, patients going through breast cancer treatment, and high-power executives obsessed with performance. She has published 100+ peer-reviewed papers and was the co-recipient of a $1.6 mil NIH grant in 2016. Besides having been published widely and featured in popular press, she has personal connections to Deepak Chopra, Eckhart Tolle, Ariana Huffington, Dr. Tara Brach, and many other luminaries. Her 2017 Tedx Talk, “What You Practice Grows Stronger,” received over 700,000 views in the first year.

LIFESPAN:

The Revolutionary Science of Why We Age— and Why We Don't Have To by DAVID SINCLAIR

Dr. David Sinclair, founder of the Sinclair Lab at Harvard Medical School, and his top-notch team of researchers are achieving some of the biggest breakthroughs in biology of the past twenty years. They have managed, not just to slow aging in laboratory animals, but to reverse it. If the human trials underway succeed, this research could lead to an anti-aging pill as early as 2020. As this science advances and makes its way into industry, we will witness a new age of human life in which we can burst past historic limitations in health, performance, and even life expectancy.

LIFESPAN will turn our traditional notions about genetics on their head. For decades, we've been told that our fate was encoded in our genes, and that it was damage to our genes that aged us, opened doors to dreaded diseases, and sent us to our graves. Sinclair demonstrates, however, that our genes, far from rigid, provide us with nearly endless possibilities, as they respond to chemical signals (epigenome) that control performance, fertility, memory, weight, disease, and death. What we know now is the secret to overcoming our limitations is being unlocked not by changing our genes through adaptation, mutation, or engineering, but by harnessing the power of these chemical signals to tap into the full potential of the genes we already have.

One of the biggest books on genes, biology, human performance, health, and longevity in the last decade, this is a groundbreaking science book that will literally change your life.

- Dr. Sinclair was named by Time as one of the 100 most influential people on Earth

Dr. David Sinclair is professor of genetics at Harvard Medical School and Founding Director of the Paul F. Glenn Center for the Biological Mechanisms of Aging at Harvard. Named by Time as one of the 100 most influential people on earth, Dr. Sinclair obtained his Ph.D. in Molecular Genetics at the University of New South Wales and worked as a postdoctoral researcher at MIT with Dr. Leonard Guarente, where he co-discovered a cause of aging for yeast and rose to prominence for his pioneering work on resveratrol and sirtuins, genes that enhance performance and health. Dr. Sinclair has published 153 papers in journals including Science, Cell, and many others; his work has been featured widely in the popular media, including 60 Minutes, NBC, NOVA, The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, Newsweek, and Fortune; and he has founded and co-directed nine biotechnology companies since 2005, which have attracted more than $2 billion in investment.

DANGEROUS KIDS

Aggressive Children and How to Help Them by HANS STEINER

DANGEROUS KIDS offers a new way to think about the potential for aggressive behavior in children and teens and how they can be helped, from a leading Stanford psychologist

For over 40 years, Dr. Steiner has been the California court system's go-to psychiatric expert in cases where juveniles commit murder and other violent crimes: school shootings, gang violence, patricide. After a crime has been committed and a young person is about to be sentenced, the courts look to Dr. Steiner to figure out the string of events, motives, and causes that explain why the offenders did what they did—and ultimately prescribe the interventions, if any, that will help restore them to mental health and a place in society. In DANGEROUS KIDS, Dr. Steiner draws on his unique expertise to offer a new way of thinking about these kids—before they commit a crime that lands them in the courtroom.

An exploration of aggressive and violent behavior in children and teens, this book is for anyone who wonders: what does it mean when children commit acts of aggression? How can we identify kids who might become violent, and how can we stop them before it's too late? And what does this mean for parents, educators, and society at large? Dangerous Kids will draw on Dr. Steiner's research to explain the warning signs we might see in young children and how we may intervene along the way, how to understand if a child is in danger, and what to do about older children and teenagers who have committed violence. The book will also include stories drawn from Dr. Steiner's career, illustrating kids at every stage of this progression.

Dr. Hans Steiner is professor emeritus of child, adolescent, and adult psychiatry at the Stanford University Medical Center. He is director of Stanford's Program in Psychiatry and the Law. He is also director of Stanford's Pegasus Physician Writers group. He is the author of 500+ peer-reviewed papers and a leading expert in two fields: psychopathologies associated with trauma and victimization; and the relationship of aggression to psychopathology.
